Assessment:                      The 79th Legislature enacted two laws amending Government Code, § 552.274(b). The amendment that was passed first (Session Laws, Chapter 329) set the due date at before the 30th day after the date on which a regular session of the legislature convened and provided that the reporting requirement could be satisfied by posting the report on an agency's open records page or another easily accessible page on the agency's website. Under this amendment the office of the attorney general would have to troll agency websites to gather information for that office's biennial report on the cost of copies for public information. The second amendment (Session Laws, Chapter 716) made the original requirement applicable to all state agencies and institutions of higher education. While there is a clear conflict here, and in such instances the last-enacted amendment prevails, the first amendment should be repealed and Government Code, § 552.274, amended to provide that the attorney general should continue to issue a biennial report by posting it to that agency's website by March 1 of each even-numbered year, that each agency report as required in subsection (b) not later than December 1 of each even-numbered year, and that each agency publish its report on its website by March 1 of each odd-numbered year.
