

2007 Award

Rookie of the Year:

Officer Bobby Sellers received this award to recognize his constant demonstration of exceptional competency and job performance ability within his first two years of employment.

Officer of the Year:

Officer David White received this award for his significant, consistent and/or lasting contribution(s) to the department or its public safety mission to protect and serve the community.

Supervisor of the Year:

Sergeant Jeff Williams received this award for demonstrating exceptional professional competency and a dedicated commitment to both the department and to subordinates under his or her supervision.

Wayne Stovall Police Service Award:

Sergeant Rebecca Carlisle received this award for unselfishly placing service above herself in his work activities that support the community and/or better the quality of life for our citizens.

George Olin Police Leadership Award:

Officer Bryan Hill received this award for his ability to demonstrate leadership attributes of loyalty, honesty, integrity, professionalism and/or ethical conduct.

Civilian of the Year:

Records Specialist Janet Barcelona received this award for significant, consistent and/or lasting contribution to the department and to the department's mission to protect and serve the community.

Police Volunteer of the Year:

The Police Volunteer of the Year Award was granted to Mary Lu Wiley for unselfishly demonstrating a significant volunteer commitment to the department through their time, their talent, their presence or their service.

Chief's Unit Citation of Merit:

The Tomball Police Department Investigations Division was presented the Chief's Unit Citation of Merit for consistent outstanding Service to the Citizens of Tomball, as well as the members of the Tomball Police Department.