Enchanted Rock

STATE NATURAL AREA

Breath-taking, awesome, intriguing and beautiful — words alone cannot adequately describe Enchanted Rock State Natural Area with its massive dome of pink granite. Native American lore swirls around Enchanted Rock, which led to its name in the 1800s. Today, visitors come to make the short but fascinating trek to the rock's summit, where they are treated to panoramic views of the Texas Hill Country. Scenic trails along the rock's base are especially pretty in the spring, and high cliffs on the northwest side of the main dome attract rock climbers.

Camping: Walk-in campsites (no RVs) with water only; also primitive sites reached by backpacking.

Group Facilities: Group picnic pavilion (capacity 200).

Picnicking: Picnic sites with tables and grills.

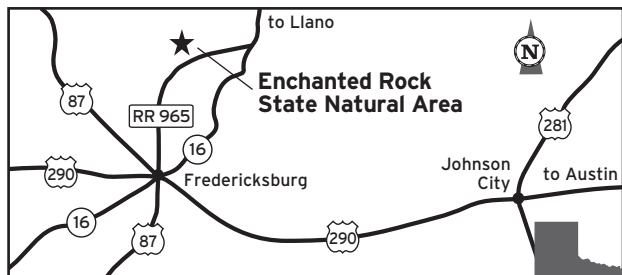

Trails: 8.4 miles of hiking trails.

Rock Climbing: No bolts, pitons or other rock-damaging equipment allowed. Climbers must register at park headquarters.
