

Become a Youth Stewardship Volunteer at Hanauma Bay!

Do you love the marine environment?

Do you care about the health of Hawaii's coastlines and reef ecosystems?

If so, you can help by volunteering with the UH Sea Grant Hanauma Bay Education Program's E Mālama Hanauma Youth Stewardship Volunteer Program.

Youth Stewardship Volunteers are needed at Hanauma Bay to educate park users about proper reef etiquette, to minimize human impact at the bay and to promote stewardship for Hawaii's coastal resources.

We ask our youth stewardship volunteers to be:

- At least 16-21 years old
- Have their own transportation to and from the Bay
- Commit to one four-hour shift per week for a minimum of two months. Shifts run every day from 9 a.m. – 1 p.m. (except on Tuesdays when the park is closed for maintenance)
- Shift rotations cover 2 volunteer stations:
The Entranceway and the Education Center Lookout
- No experience is necessary!

2011 Youth Stewardship Volunteer Training will be held mid-June on Wednesday mornings from 9 a.m.-12 p.m. The sessions will cover an introduction to park history and interpretation, proper reef etiquette practices, frequently asked questions, Hawaiian fish and invertebrate identification, Hawaiian culture, and coastal plant identification.

To register for Youth Volunteer Stewardship Training, please contact:

Gavin Iwai, Hanauma Bay Education Program Stewardship Coordinator

Phone: (808) 397-5840

Email: hbvp@hawaii.edu or visit www.HanaumaBayEducation.org

The Hanauma Bay Education Program is administered by the University of Hawaii Sea Grant College Program with support from the City & County of Honolulu Department of Parks and Recreation. The University of Hawaii Sea Grant College Program supports an innovative program of research, education and extension services directed to the improved understanding and stewardship of coastal and marine resources of the state, region and nation. Science serving Hawaii and the Pacific for over 40 years.