BACKGROUND

PURPOSE OF THE BILL

This bill makes appropriations for the military functions of the Department of Defense for the period October 1, 2011, through September 30, 2012. Functional areas include the pay, allowances, and support of military personnel, operation and maintenance of the forces, procurement of equipment and systems, and research, development, test and evaluation. Appropriations for foreign military assistance, military construction, family housing, nuclear weapons programs, and civil defense are provided in other bills.

HEARINGS

The Appropriations Subcommittee on Defense began hearings on March 1, 2011, and concluded them on June 28, 2011, after 10 separate sessions. The subcommittee heard testimony from representatives of the Department of Defense, other Federal agencies, representatives of organizations, and the public.

SUMMARY OF THE BILL

The Committee recommendation of $620,240,531,000 includes funding to develop, maintain, and equip the military forces of the United States in nonemergency appropriations.

The fiscal year 2012 budget request for activities funded in the Department of Defense Appropriations bill totals $646,415,743,000 in new budget authority including $117,725,751,000 in contingency funding and $513,700,000 in mandatory spending.

In fiscal year 2011, the Congress appropriated $660,105,830,000 for activities funded in this bill. This amount includes $513,024,981,000 in nonemergency appropriations and $157,680,120,000 in emergency supplemental appropriations.

The Committee recommendation in this bill is $39,865,299,000 below the amount provided in fiscal year 2011 and $26,175,212,000 below the amount requested for fiscal year 2012. The Committee recommends a transfer of $258,278,000 to the Department of Homeland Security [DHS] for requested Coast Guard activities more appropriately funded by DHS.

CLASSIFIED PROGRAM ADJUSTMENTS

The Committee recommends adjustments to certain classified programs, as explained in the classified annex to the Committee's report.

DEFINITION OF PROGRAM, PROJECT AND ACTIVITY

In fiscal year 2012, for purposes of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985 (Public Law 99–177), as amended, the term “program, project and activity” for appropriations contained in this act shall be defined as the most specific level of budget items identified in the Department of Defense Appropriations Act, 2012 and the P–1 and R–1 budget justification documents as subsequently modified by congressional action. The following exceptions to the above definition shall apply: for the military personnel and operation and maintenance accounts the term “program, project and activity” is defined as the appropriations accounts contained in the Department of Defense Appropriations Act; and, for the National Intelligence Program, the term “program, project and activity” is defined in the classified annex that accompanies this report.

In carrying out any Presidential sequestration, the Department of Defense and agencies shall conform to the definition for “program, project and activity” set forth above except that Military Personnel accounts will be exempt from sequestration per the notification made by the Director of the Office of Management and Budget on August 10, 2011.

COMMITTEE INITIATIVES

The Committee has included funding above the President's budget request for several programmatic initiatives which the Committee believes are of inherent value for national defense. In several cases funds are restored for programs which were included in previous Department of Defense budget requests, others are for programs and initiatives that were authorized by S. 1253, the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2012, as reported, and several are for programs that the Committee believes are necessary to improve defense even though they have not been included under the request formulated by the Department of Defense. For instance, the Committee provides additional research funding in the following areas: cybersecurity, alternative energy, space situational awareness, unexploded ordnance and landmine detection, nanotechnology, advanced metals, military burn, and traumatic brain injury and psychological health. The Committee believes additional research funding is warranted in these and other areas to ensure that the Department of Defense continues to pursue technological advances that are critical to our national defense. The Committee has also provided funding for programs that are chronically underfunded, such as test and training range upgrades and range conservation. The Committee directs that funding for these initiatives are to be competitively awarded.

Compact of Free Association Agreements.—The Department of Defense is directed to follow the guidance detailed in Senate Report 112–74 related to the Compact of Free Association agreements with the governments of the Federated States of Micronesia [FSM], the Republic of the Marshall Islands [RMI], and the Republic of Palau. The Department of Defense has acknowledged that these agreements are vital to U.S. security interests in the region, allowing the United States to maintain critical access, influence, and strategic position in the Western Pacific region. The Committee directs the Secretary of Defense to work within the U.S. Government inter-agency process to help reduce the financial burden placed on affected jurisdictions while ensuring that the important national security benefits of these agreements are preserved. The Secretary of Defense is directed to report to the Senate Appropriations Committee, Subcommittee on Defense 90 days after enactment of this act on the progress made in resolving this issue.

Presidential Helicopters.—The budget request includes $180,070,000 in research and development for the V–XX presidential helicopter, and $58,011,000 in procurement for sustainment of the current VH–3 and VH–60 fleet. The Committee was informed by the Navy of changes within the presidential helicopter portfolio that necessitate additional sustainment activities for the legacy fleet, and that developmental activities for the V–XX program will not proceed at the rate originally anticipated by the fiscal year 2012 budget request.

Therefore, the Committee directs the transfer of $35,000,000 from V–XX development to research on legacy fleet upgrades, and the transfer of an additional $35,000,000 from V–XX development to procurement of upgrades for the VH–3 and VH–60 fleet. The Committee also recommends a reduction of $49,300,000 from the V–XX program due to being early to need.

TITLE I
MILITARY PERSONNEL

Funds appropriated under this title provide the resources required for basic pay, retired pay accrual, employers' contribution for Social Security taxes, basic allowance for subsistence, basic allowance for housing, special and incentive pays, permanent change of station travel, and other personnel costs for uniformed members of the Armed Forces.

The President's fiscal year 2012 budget requests a total of $132,096,541,000 for military personnel appropriations. This request funds an Active component end strength of 1,422,600 and a Reserve component end strength of 847,100.

SUMMARY OF COMMITTEE ACTION

The Committee recommends military personnel appropriations totaling $131,000,559,000 for fiscal year 2012. This is $1,095,982,000 below the budget estimate.

Committee recommended military personnel appropriations for fiscal year 2012 are summarized below:

MILITARY PERSONNEL OVERVIEW

The Department of Defense budget requests $132,096,541,000 for the military personnel pay accounts for fiscal year 2012; an increase of $5,356,785,000 or 4 percent over the current enacted amount of $126,739,756,000 excluding supplemental appropriations.

Bonuses.—The Committee believes the request for bonuses for the Army, Air Force, Army Reserve, Navy Reserve, Marine Corps Reserve, and Army National Guard is overstated. Given these components have achieved their overall recruiting and retention goals and are above budgeted end strength levels for fiscal year 2011, the Committee reduces funding for bonuses to keep the services at fiscal year 2011 levels.

Improved Budget Processes for Reserve Components.—The Committee is concerned that the Reserve components continually realign significant amounts of funding between program lines during the year of execution since the account was consolidated into one budget authority in fiscal year 2006. Several of the Reserve components, most notably the Army Reserve and Air National Guard, consistently do not request funds in the budget lines where they plan to spend it. For this reason, they are unable to justify the budget request as submitted to Congress. The Committee urges the Reserve components to submit future year budgets that are more closely aligned with recent spending patterns.

Additionally, the Committee reinstates its requirement for the Department to submit a semi-annual detailed report of internal re-programming actions within the Reserve components' budget authorities, similar to the reports provided in fiscal years 2006 through 2008. Reports shall be submitted 30 days following the end of the second quarter and 30 days following the end of the fiscal year.

Funding for Identified Shortfalls.—The Committee recommends providing an additional $164,000,000 for the Marine Corps to address funding shortfalls identified after the budget submission due to an increase in the number of marines receiving basic allowance for housing and unemployment compensation. In addition, the Committee recommends $65,000,000 above the budget request for the Army National Guard due to lower than budgeted mobilization rates and more guardsmen being available to participate in training.

Unobligated Balances.—A Government Accountability Office analysis of past year obligation rates shows that the services continue to underexecute their military personnel accounts, maintaining significant unobligated balances each year. For this reason, the Committee has determined that all active duty and Reserve components' fiscal year 2012 military personnel budget requests are overstated and can be reduced by a total of $368,200,000.

Naval Shipyard Apprentice Program.—The Committee directs that during fiscal year 2012 the Navy shall induct classes of no fewer than 100 apprentices, respectively, at each of the naval shipyards. The Committee further directs the Navy to include the costs of the fiscal year 2013 class of apprentices in its budget request.

U.S. Coast Guard.—The Committee is aware that Department of Defense [DOD] regulations currently restrict DOD mission appropriated funded activities from offering reimbursable rates to non-DOD agencies. This restriction forces the Navy to charge the U.S. Coast Guard fully burdened rates for drydocking services at Navy shipyards rather than reimbursable rates. Therefore, the Committee directs that funds appropriated under Operation and Maintenance, Navy may be used to pay overhead costs incurred by a Naval Shipyard when drydocking U.S. Coast Guard ships.

Personal Protective Eyewear.—The Committee is concerned about the Marine Corps' plan to procure personal protective eyewear. In order to track the success of the Marine Corps' acquisition strategy for this program, the Committee directs the Marine Corps to report on its field usage rate and performance of the current eyewear system, called ESS-ICE, not later than 60 days of the enactment of this act. The Committee further directs the Marine Corps to produce a report not later than 180 days after the adoption of the new eyewear system, called the ESS-Crossbow, that reflects the field usage rate and performance data for that eyewear system. Both reports must detail the scientific process for data collection.

Furthermore, the Committee notes that the overall validity of the test design that led to the selection of the Marine Corps' new personal protective eyewear system has been questioned. Therefore, the Committee directs the Government Accountability Office to provide a report not later than 180 days after the enactment of this act on the test and evaluation design and statistical analysis performed by the Marine Corps leading to its selection of the new eyewear vendor.

Combat Air Force Restructuring.—The Committee recognizes the complexity of the U.S. Air Force’s Combat Air Forces [CAF] Restructuring Plan and encourages the Department to diligently review the timetable for implementation in order to ensure its provisions are met in a timely manner and to guarantee that our Nation’s Air Sovereignty Alert missions are not negatively impacted by the premature movement of aircraft. Further, the Committee is concerned that the Air Force may waive necessary Environmental Impact Statements in order to relocate aircraft in accordance with the CAF Restructuring Plan. Therefore, the Committee directs the Air Force and Air National Guard to complete all required environmental reviews prior to the movement of any aircraft in accordance with the CAF Restructuring Plan.

Military Dependent Student Online Assistance.—The Committee understands children of active duty military families are faced with unique educational challenges in part because of frequent changes of station over the course of childhood. In order to meet these challenges, military parents can substantially benefit from access to Internet-based educational resources that can be brought to bear on the individualized needs of their children. The Department is encouraged to provide an assessment tool with accompanying resource material that helps parents to engage with children to develop conceptual understandings and to improve learning and skills.

Global Security Contingency Fund.—The fiscal year 2012 President's budget request includes new authorities to establish an account for the Department of State and the Department of Defense to work in concert in responding to emergent crises around the globe that require military and other security assistance. The Committee notes that this new account was requested under the Department of State, including the ability to transfer Department of Defense funds into the account. In addition, the Department of Defense submitted a legislative proposal to be considered in the Fiscal Year 2012 National Defense Authorization Act. The Committee notes that no request was made to the Subcommittees on Defense of the Committees on Appropriations of the House and Senate even though this proposal would permit the Department of Defense to transfer up to $400,000,000 of Department of Defense funds to the Global Security Contingency Fund. The Committee was notified that the Department of Defense would take corrective actions and formally request the Committee's consideration for granting this authority to the Department. To date, no formal request has been received. Therefore, the Committee has included a general provision on the Global Security Contingency Fund which restricts the Department of Defense from obligating any funds under section 1206 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2006 (Public Law 109–163; 119 Stat. 3456; relating to program to build the capacity of foreign military forces) until the Department of Defense formally submits a request, with accompanying detailed justification, for authority to transfer funds to the Global Security Contingency Fund to the Subcommittees on Defense of the Committees on Appropriations of the House and Senate.

Department of Defense Siting Clearinghouse [DoDSC].—The expansion of alternative energy projects has created an increased demand on the Department for the review of projects' compatibility with military activities. The Committee understands that the Department has established a Department of Defense Siting Clearinghouse [DoDSC] within the Office of the Under Secretary of Defense for Acquisition, Technology and Logistics to oversee the review of proposed energy projects, and to serve as the single point of contact within the Department on energy compatibility issues. The Committee further understands that the DoDSC was created by realigning resources from lower priority efforts in fiscal year 2010, but that there are no budgeted resources in fiscal year 2011. The Committee notes that the Fiscal Year 2011 National Defense Authorization Act directed the Department to clear the backlog of projects that are awaiting review by the Department, establish procedures for the review of alternative energy projects, and to develop an inter-Agency review process for projects. As a result of the DoDSC's mission growth, the Committee understands that the office is under-resourced and believes that the Department of Defense should fully fund the DoDSC to execute its mandated mission in support of Government energy initiatives.

Missile and Space Intelligence Center.—The Committee is concerned about reductions in funding for short- and medium-range missile intelligence capabilities located at the Missile and Space Intelligence Center [MSIC]. The intelligence community has repeatedly expressed concern about the growing threat from this class of missiles, and the Defense Department even cited the threat as an important justification for adopting the European Phased Adaptive Approach to missile defense. The Committee notes that in testimony the Director of the Missile Defense Agency [MDA] described his relationship with MSIC as a “dependency”. The Committee directs the Defense Intelligence Agency, in cooperation with the Office of the Secretary of Defense and the Missile Defense Agency, to provide the Committee with an unclassified 5-year plan for MSIC, with a classified annex if necessary, that identifies the human, financial, and physical resources necessary to provide adequate short- and medium-range missile intelligence support to both policymaking and missile defense development efforts.

Middle East Regional Security Studies Programs.—The Committee encourages the Department of Defense to continue to support established university programs that promote region-wide informal conferences and task forces on arms control, regional security, and related topics to the Middle East for Arab, Israeli and other officials and experts engaged in these issues.

Yellow Ribbon Reintegration Suicide Hotline Program.—The Committee recognizes the importance and success of existing peer-to-peer hotline services in improving mental health and suicide prevention and strongly encourages the National Guard Bureau to expand the peer-to-peer mental health and suicide prevention hotline network nationwide.

Pacific Regional Biocontainment Lab.—The Committee is aware of the importance of a Pacific Regional Biocontainment Lab to support the bio-containment requirements and diagnosis of infectious diseases for Defense, Federal and State agencies. The Committee understands that there are significant opportunities for inter-agency use of this Lab and expects the National Guard to move forward with this important project.

Advance Trauma Training Program for National Guard Homeland Response Forces [HRFs].—The Committee recognizes the valuable support universities, hospitals and other military partners provide in implementing the emergency response trauma training requirements to start up Homeland Response Forces [HRFs] initiated in the 2010 Quadrennial Defense Review [QDR]. The Committee encourages the National Guard to continue working with these partners as the Guard converts Chemical, Biological, Radiological and Nuclear [CBRNE] Enhanced Response Force Packages to HRFs and to ensure our National Guard medical professionals have the best training possible so they are prepared to respond to emergency situations here and abroad.

The Committee recommends an appropriation of $175,501,000. This is $130,000,000 below the budget estimate.

The Defense Acquisition Workforce Development Fund [DAWDF] supports efforts to significantly improve the quality and readiness of the Defense Acquisition Workforce. Funds available to the DAWDF include appropriated funds and funds sourced from other appropriations based on a percent of expenditures for contract services. Funding is allowed to be carried forward from year to year and the DAWDF has carried forward large unobligated balances for the past several years. Due to funding made available from carry-over, the Committee recommends a decrease of $130,000,000 from the request for appropriated funding.

The Committee understands the complexity of the Defense Acquisition Workforce Development Fund [DAWDF] funding mechanisms and the statutory required amounts to be made available by fiscal year. However, the Committee is concerned that since the DAWDF's creation, the fiscal environment and budgetary outlook for the Department of Defense has gone through significant change. Therefore, the Committee directs the Government Accountability Office [GAO] to report to the congressional defense committees not later than April 1, 2012, on the funding mechanisms and statutory limits established for the DAWDF and to make recommendations to improve the funding process.

TITLE III
PROCUREMENT

Funds appropriated under this title provide the resources required to purchase military equipment and hardware, including aircraft, ships, missiles, combat vehicles, ammunition, weapons, electronic sensors and communications equipment, and other procurement items.

The President's fiscal year 2012 budget requests a total of $111,153,122,000 for procurement appropriations.

SUMMARY OF COMMITTEE ACTION

The Committee recommends procurement appropriations totaling $102,118,282,000 for fiscal year 2012. This is $9,034,840,000 below the budget estimate.

Committee recommended procurement appropriations for fiscal year 2012 are summarized below:

Support Cost Increases.—Program support covers the cost of support contractors, supplies, travel, and other miscellaneous costs of program acquisition. These are consistent costs needed through the procurement life-cycle and should not reflect significant spikes in a given fiscal year. However, in fiscal year 2012, a number of procurement programs requested unexplained increases in program or other support costs. In many instances, these increases supported mature programs, sometimes with decreasing quantities. Additional costs associated with weapon system procurement that would cause an abnormal spike to a sub-line item should be broken out as a new sub-line item with specific justification in future requests.

Milestone C.—In the acquisition cycle of weapon system procurement, Milestone C represents a significant step in the program. It acknowledges the program's success in developmental testing and readiness for production. When granted, a program moves from research, development, test and evaluation funding to procurement funding. The Department has a number of weapon systems that were originally scheduled for Milestone C approval in fiscal year 2012 when the President's budget was submitted. Over the past few months, many programs have subsequently delayed Milestone C to late in the fiscal year or even into fiscal year 2013. Since procurement funding should only be used after Milestone C is granted, the funding recommendation for these programs is either adjusted downward to decrease quantities or the funding is deferred because the program cannot spend fiscal year 2012 procurement funding. In both cases the reduction in funding does not impede the revised delivery of the weapon system.

Large Unobligated Balances.—Unobligated balances for fiscal year 2010 funds at the end of the first year of availability were notably large. In particular, the Other Procurement, Army and Procurement of Weapons and Tracked Combat Vehicles, Army accounts were nearly 50 percent unobligated. These two appropriations fund a large amount of weapon systems and equipment needed by troops currently fighting in Afghanistan and Iraq as well as troops training for deployment. The Committee remains a steadfast supporter of providing the troops the equipment they need. However, when the Government acquisition process and contractor capacity are running at maximum levels, adding more funding only increases the backlog. In the fiscal year 2012 budget request, the Department requested additional funds for programs with significant unobligated balances. For many of these programs the Committee recommends reductions in funding knowing that the production backlog and forward financing is adequate to maintain production levels until fiscal year 2013. The Committee recommended reductions for unobligated balances will not affect equipment delivery to the troops.

Organic Industrial Base of the United States Military.—The Committee notes that the organic industrial base of the United States military advances a vital national security interest. This organic industrial base produces necessary materials, munitions, and hardware oftentimes when commercial sources are unable to meet urgent needs. The capacity of the organic industrial base of the United States military is a key asset to the Department of Defense and the Department should carefully review programmatic actions that would deteriorate this capability.

Joint Strike Fighter.—The Committee fully supports the Joint Strike Fighter program and is encouraged by progress made in the testing program and improved delivery rates of aircraft. However, the Committee notes this recent progress occurred only after implementation of stern programmatic and contractual adjustments directed by the Secretary of Defense. The Committee remains concerned with the severe concurrency of development testing and production, noting that as production rates are increasing, the program has only completed 10 percent of its development testing.

The F-22 aircraft experienced similar concurrency. The configuration of the first few lots of production aircraft differed from later aircraft. To ensure affordability of future modification, sustainment, and operations of the F-22 fleet, the Air Force upgraded the configuration of 81 F-22 aircraft at a total cost of $700,000,000. In addition to this cost, the Air Force has spent or plans to spend an additional $9,400,000,000 on continued F-22 modernization. Given current production projections of the Joint Strike Fighter, the Department will have contracted for 167 aircraft prior to full qualification of the aircraft hardware. Moreover, this quantity could increase to 229 aircraft if the full qualification efforts continue at the current pace. Based on F-22 experience, a common configuration modification for the Joint Strike Fighter program would cost approximately $10,000,000 per aircraft resulting in a $1,670,000,000 to $2,290,000,000 modification program. This cost is in addition to concurrency and performance cost growth of which the program is already projecting $771,200,000 for the first three lots of aircraft.

The Department and the Joint Strike Fighter prime contractor have argued that increased production rates are necessary to reduce per unit cost due to the large amount of fixed costs on the program. However, the advertised per unit cost does not include additional costs to the program associated with performance, concurrency, and common configuration modifications. Similar performance, concurrency, and common configuration issues cost an additional $56,000,000 per aircraft on the F-22 program, none of which were ever accounted for in the per unit cost. If the Joint Strike Fighter continues on the same path and its costs are not brought under control, the Committee believes that the program's future could be in jeopardy.

Therefore, in order to begin reigning in future costs and to help keep the Joint Strike Fighter program affordable, the Committee recommends holding the total near-term production quantities at fiscal year 2011 levels to allow time to complete full hardware qualification of the Joint Strike Fighter aircraft. As such, the Committee recommends a reduction of Conventional Take-off and Landing aircraft procurement by two aircraft and advance procurement by seven aircraft, and the Carrier Variant procurement by one aircraft and advance procurement by six aircraft.

Gray Eagle.—The budget request includes $658,798,000 for the procurement of 36 additional MQ-1 aircraft. The Initial Operational Test and Evaluation [IOT&E] schedule for the Gray Eagle unmanned aerial vehicle has slipped by 1 year and the Army will no longer be able to move to full rate production in time to procure the fiscal year 2012 units as part of that effort. Instead, the fiscal year 2012 units will be procured under a third low rate initial production decision. Under this revised acquisition strategy, the program will have procured over 70 percent of the total acquisition objective before completing developmental testing and validating the full operational effectiveness of the platform. For this reason, the Committee recommendation reduces the Army request for Gray Eagle unmanned aerial vehicles by seven aircraft. This reduction will maintain production at current levels and limit the number of aircraft procured prior to the completion of IOT&E.

Warfighter Information Network-Tactical [WIN-T].—Due to a slip in Initial Operational Test and Evaluation, the WIN-T increment 2 Full-Rate Production contract award was delayed to September 2012. This slip in contract award will not impact the ongoing procurement and fielding schedule due to forward financing in prior fiscal years. The fiscal year 2012 WIN-T increment 2 budget request funds production for equipment that will not be fielded until fiscal years 2014 and 2015. With production to fielding acceptance requiring only 17 months, this budget request contains substantial forward financing. Therefore, the recommendation reduces funding by $109,000,000.

Joint Tactical Radio System [JTRS].—The Committee is encouraged by the recent progress of the JTRS program and the program’s performance at the Network Integration Evaluation. The Committee supports the JTRS program use of open architecture design and nonproprietary waveforms, which enables future vendor competition and cost control. However, the Committee recommends reductions to the JTRS procurement program due to several program changes and delays since the budget submission. The Ground Mobile Radio [GMR] is currently undergoing recertification under a Nunn-McCurdy review. If GMR is recertified it will require additional testing to inform a much later Milestone C decision. While a portion of the requested funds are transferred from Other Procurement, Army to Research, Development, Test and Evaluation, Navy to cover additional testing, the remaining procurement funds have been deferred because they will not be used in fiscal year 2012. Milestone C for the Airborne Maritime Fixed [AMF] slipped to September 2012 making fiscal year 2012 funds early to need. Within Handheld, Manpack, and Small Form Fit [HMS], the manpack radio received approval in June 2011 to procure 100 units. The manpack radio request is decreased to the originally planned fiscal year 2011 Low Rate Initial Production level to allow reasonable time for vendors to ramp up production.

Full Funding.—The Committee notes a handful of programs funded in Other Procurement, Army requested incremental funding for procurement programs that fall under full funding rules. Any costs associated with weapon system procurement such as Engineering Change Proposals, other weapon system costs, and initial spares should be funded in the year of the weapon system procurement to ensure a complete useable end-item.

V-22 Osprey.—The Committee understands the Department of Defense is considering a fiscal year 2012 follow-on multi-year procurement contract for the V-22 program. The multi-year procurement contract covering fiscal years 2008 through 2012 provided stability to the program and savings to the taxpayer of over $420,000,000 compared to single-year contracts. Given the continuing need for additional V-22 platforms, the Committee urges the Department of Defense to consider requesting authority to award a new multi-year procurement contract in the fiscal year 2013 President's budget.

Engineering Change Orders [ECO] Growth.—The Committee notes a number of Navy aircraft programs requested substantial amounts of Engineering Change Order funding. These aircraft programs enjoy either stable production or are maturing to stable production levels. In most cases, these programs have excess unexecuted prior year funds and have been used as sources for higher priority Navy requirements. The Committee recommendation reduces Engineering Change Order funding to reflect actual prior year levels.

Ordnance Plant Recapitalization.—The Committee notes that the Department of Defense [DOD] does not have a long-term strategic capital improvement plan in place to support its aging ordnance plants. These facilities are supporting a multitude of DOD requirements, yet these activities could be disrupted if basic infrastructure needs, such as heating and cooling, safety, and environmental hazards, are not addressed in the near future. Therefore, the Committee directs the Secretary of Defense to submit a multi-year recapitalization plan for the ordnance plants, including the industrial reserve, to the congressional defense committees not later than 90 days after enactment of this act. The Committee encourages the Department to include the required funds in future budget requests based on the most urgent needs identified.

Ballistic Missile Defense [BMD] Capable Ships.—The Committee notes that the Navy has established a requirement for fiscal year 2024 of having a force of 94 multi-mission large surface combatants (including ballistic missile defense [BMD] capability), but the Navy’s fiscal year 2012 30-year shipbuilding plan projects that the Navy will achieve the 94-ship goal for BMD-capable ships in 2020 and 2021, with force levels declining thereafter. Specifically, the Navy projects that it will have, at most, 92 BMD-capable ships in 2024 before declining to 65 in 2034. The Committee is concerned about this projected shortfall and believes that the Navy should begin to review and consider options to close this gap. The Navy has indicated that it intends to pursue a multiyear procurement contract for DDG–51 vessels in fiscal year 2013 that could result in significant cost savings. Historic production rates of three DDG–51s per fiscal year reflected substantial unit cost savings in the past and would likely be realized by procuring DDG–51 ships at a more economical procurement rate than currently planned. The Committee directs the Secretary of the Navy to provide a report, at the same time as the President submits the budget request for fiscal year 2013, which provides options for closing this gap.

C-130J Advance Procurement [AP].—The fiscal year 2012 budget request did not include any advance procurement funding for the C-130J program. The Committee is concerned that the lack of advance procurement funding will cause a negative production impact that will result in delays in future aircraft deliveries. Therefore, the Committee recommends an additional $120,000,000 in advance procurement funding for the 12 C-130J aircraft planned for procurement in fiscal year 2013.

A-10 Squadrons.—The fiscal year 2012 budget request included $145,800,000 for the A-10 Wing Replacement Program. The Wing Replacement Program has experienced significant delays and has not delivered a new wing since the program began procurement in fiscal year 2010. The Committee notes the delay in first article delivery from September 2010 to March 2011 and that the first article actually delivered included deficiencies that have further delayed the program. The Committee is also concerned with the poor obligation and expenditure performance of the program that is significantly below established standards.

Therefore, the Committee recommends a reduction of $145,800,000 for the A-10 Wing Replacement Program and directs the Air Force to provide the Committee with a report on or before February 6, 2012, on the way ahead for the program, including the specific corrective actions taken by the Air Force to return the program to a realistic schedule based on acceptable cost and performance.

C-17A.—The fiscal year 2012 budget request included $108,581,000 for C-17 transition to post production. Recent worldwide orders for additional C-17 aircraft have increased the order backlog for the contractor and extended the production line into mid-2014. The Committee finds that the continued production for C-17 aircraft makes the fiscal year 2012 request for transition to post production funding premature. Therefore, the Committee recommends a reduction of $108,581,000, for C-17 transition to post production.

Operational Support Aircraft.—The Committee is aware that the Air Force 2010 Air Mobility Master Plan called for replacement of the Operational Support Aircraft fleet of C-20Bs with C-37B aircraft. The Committee is supportive of this fleet modernization goal and encourages its implementation since the C-37B provides advanced technological and increased performance capabilities, significant noise reduction progress and reliability improvements as well as reduced operational costs.

C-27J.—The Committee acknowledges that the current C-27J basing plan calls for just four aircraft at each of the selected Air National Guard bases. The current plan provides a wide geographical dispersion; but four aircraft per base is highly uneconomical and inefficient, providing too few aircraft to adequately support crew proficiency, operational readiness, and infrastructure investment. Planned contingency deployments will further exacerbate these shortfalls and diminish the National Guard's capability to respond to domestic emergencies. The Committee recommends full funding for nine aircraft in fiscal year 2012 and encourages the Department of Defense to continue procuring these aircraft in fiscal year 2013 and beyond. The Committee further supports keeping the C-27J fleet under the purview of the Air National Guard.

Retirement of B-1 Aircraft.—The fiscal year 2012 budget request proposes a plan to retire six B-1 bomber aircraft. The Committee understands that the B-1 has and continues to operate almost constantly over Afghanistan in support of troops on the ground, and that the B-1 aircraft is a critical component of the Nation's long-range strike capabilities. As a result, the Committee is concerned that the early retirement of six B-1 aircraft has the potential to negatively impact long range strike capabilities. In addition, the Committee is concerned with Air Force plans to reinvest less than 40 percent of the retirement savings gained across the Future Years Defense Program into modernization efforts for the fleet. Consistent with S. 1253, the National Defense Authorization Act for fiscal year 2012, the Committee encourages the Air Force to re-invest a larger portion of savings realized from B-1 aircraft retirements into the sustainment and modernization of the B-1 fleet.

Space Launch.—The Committee remains concerned about the escalating costs of space launch. After a thorough review of the launch industrial base, the Department of the Air Force has endorsed an acquisition policy to procure eight cores per year for the Evolved Expendable Launch Vehicle [EELV] to stabilize production capacity and control costs. While the Committee’s recommendation supports the eight core procurement, the Committee believes the Department’s goal should be to go beyond minimizing cost increases and seek substantial reductions to the cost of launch.

The Committee believes that competition is necessary to achieve the necessary cost reductions and that the Department should support innovative strategies, such as funding the launch of the Deep Space Climate Observatory satellite, to assist new entrants in meeting the requirements for mission assurance. The Committee intends to examine future budget requests to balance the need to stabilize the EELV industrial base with the need to promote competition. Therefore, the Department is urged to retain flexibility with its block-buy acquisition strategy as opportunities for competition by new launch entrants become available.

Assured SATCOM Services in Single Theater [ASSIST].—The budget request includes $416,000,000 for the capital lease of a high-capacity commercial communications satellite and associated ground equipment. The fielding of a single commercial satellite with Ka- and Ku-band capabilities is intended to address the high cost of short-term leases of commercial satellite communications to support military operations in Iraq, Afghanistan, and other areas under the responsibility of Central Command.

Under the Department of Defense's plan, the production of the ASSIST satellite would begin in fiscal year 2012, be launched within 30 months, and have a life of approximately 15 years. According to the Department's estimates, the up-front investment for the ASSIST satellite would be paid back after 2½ years of operation if satellite communications were to continue to be purchased in the same method and volume as they are today.

The Committee believes that the assumptions that satellite communications in support of military operations in Iraq, Afghanistan, and elsewhere will be bought in the same volume, and using the same short-term lease acquisition strategy which carries a cost premium, may not be justified. Neither the draw-down of troops from Iraq and Afghanistan nor the possibility of more efficient, multi-year leases of satellite communications from existing constellations are reflected on the break-even analysis presented to the Committee.

The Committee supports the effort of the Department to address the high cost of commercial SATCOM in support of military operations in Central Command's area of responsibility. Since the presentation of the ASSIST proposal in the President's budget, the Committee has learned of a number of innovative proposals from commercial providers, each with unique potential benefits and tradeoffs. It does not appear that these proposals have been fully evaluated by the Department.

The Committee recommends that the Department conduct an analysis of alternatives to fully explore the costs, benefits, and risks of different approaches to meet satellite communications needs, to include the capital lease or purchase of a single satellite, the procurement of additional military satellites, the adjustment of the acquisition strategy for current services provided to Central Command, longer-term contracts for services on existing constellations, and other innovative proposals from industry.

Non-Standard Aviation and Aviation Foreign Internal Defense.—The budget request contains $242,872,000 for the procurement of fixed wing aircraft to expand Special Operations Command missions to train foreign militaries in advanced aviation tactics and techniques, as well as to increase the unique airlift needs for Special Operations Forces. The Committee recognizes that foreign internal defense is a core mission and competency of Special Operations Command, while at the same time it helps meet the increasing need for airlift in support of operations in austere locations. The Senate-reported National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2012 recommended reductions of $105,100,000 to these programs due to concerns about the justification for the expansion of these aircraft fleets as well as the pace of growth for these capabilities. The Committee recommendation reflects these proposed adjustments.

MISSILE DEFENSE AGENCY

Theater High Altitude Area Defense [THAAD].—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $833,150,000 for the procurement of THAAD launchers, interceptors and associated equipment. The Committee notes that this includes funds to procure 68 THAAD interceptors, a more than three-fold increase over the 22 interceptors procured in fiscal year 2011. The Committee further notes that the fiscal year 2012 budget request exceeds the contractor's and subcontractors' production capability. Therefore, the Committee recommends full funding of the currently planned production rate of four interceptors per month for a total of 48 interceptors, and notes that this is more than twice the amount of interceptors funded in fiscal year 2011. In addition, the Committee recommends additional funding for THAAD in Research, Development, Test and Evaluation, Defense-Wide to support production improvements, as authorized in S. 1253, National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2012, as reported.

Standard Missile-3 [SM-3] Block IB.—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $565,393,000 for the procurement of 46 SM-3 Block IB missiles. Following developmental challenges and schedule delays, MDA revised its acquisition strategy for the SM-3 Block IB missile in February 2011 and initiated a series of flight tests that are intended to culminate in a production decision in the fourth quarter of fiscal year 2012. The Committee notes that the SM-3 Block IB recently failed the first flight test of this series that is specifically intended to verify a modified design of the missile's critical components. This test failure will likely delay the acquisition schedule for SM-3 Block IB missiles. The Committee notes that SM-3 missiles are in high demand by Combatant Commanders around the world, and is concerned that a delay to the SM-3 Block IB's test and acquisition schedule will negatively impact mission capability, shut down the vendor base, and drive up costs of the SM-3 production line. Noting the relative success of the SM-3 Block IB's predecessor, the SM-3 Block IA missile, and its high commonality with the SM-3 Block IB, the Committee directs MDA to apply the $565,393,000 in the fiscal year 2012 budget requested for the procurement of 46 SM-3 Block IB interceptors to SM-3 Block IA missiles should the test and acquisition schedule for Block IB missiles require any adjustments during fiscal year 2012. The Committee expects to be fully informed about progress of the SM-3 Block IB missile's test and development schedule and of any changes to its acquisition strategy.

Additional Funding.—The 2010 Quadrennial Defense Review highlighted the pressing need to maintain a robust domestic defense industrial base. Historically, the Department has not adequately budgeted for the Defense Production Act [DPA] title III program. The Committee recognizes the critical role that the DPA title III program serves in strengthening the U.S. defense industrial base and believes that this work is in the national interest. Furthermore, the DPA title III program can enter into purchasing agreements with private industry that spur job creation and economic activity in the manufacturing sector. Therefore, the Committee increases funding for DPA title III by $150,000,000 over the budget request. The Committee directs that the additional funding be competitively awarded. Furthermore, the Committee directs the Under Secretary for Acquisition, Technology and Logistics to inform the congressional defense committees 30 days prior to any obligation or expenditure of these funds. The Committee encourages the Department to submit future budget requests that adequately fund this important program.

Long-term Contracts.—The Committee is encouraged by the Department’s biofuels initiatives such as the Green Fleet program; however, the Committee is concerned that the Department lacks the long-term contracting ability to ensure that adequate biofuels are produced. To address this issue, the Department may fund multi-year contracts with purchase periods up to 15 years for biofuels products in order to maximize efficiencies of scale for the best purchase price.

TITLE IV

RESEARCH, DEVELOPMENT, TEST AND EVALUATION

Funds appropriated under this title provide the resources required to conduct a program of research, development, test and evaluation, including research in basic science, applied research, advanced technology development, demonstration and validation, engineering and manufacturing development, and operational systems development.

The President's fiscal year 2012 budget requests a total of $75,325,082,000 for research, development, test and evaluation appropriations.

SUMMARY OF COMMITTEE ACTION

The Committee recommends research, development, test and evaluation appropriations totaling $71,033,956,000 for fiscal year 2012. This is $4,291,126,000 below the budget estimate.

Committee recommended research, development, test and evaluation appropriations for fiscal year 2012 are summarized below:

COMMITTEE RECOMMENDATIONS

The Committee has displayed recommended adjustments in tables presented under each appropriation account.

These adjustments reflect the following Committee actions: elimination of funds requested for programs which are lower priority, duplicative, or not supported by firm requirements in out-year development or procurement appropriations; deletion of excess funds based on program delays or slow execution; addition of funds to reflect congressional priorities and to rectify shortfalls in the budget estimate; and implementation of recommendations in S. 1253, the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2012, as reported.

The Committee directs that the funding increases outlined in these tables shall be provided only for the specific purposes indicated in the table.

RESEARCH, DEVELOPMENT, TEST AND EVALUATION OVERVIEW

Joint Light Tactical Vehicle [JLTV].—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $172,093,000 in Research, Development, Test and Evaluation, Army and $71,847,000,000 in Research, Development, Test and Evaluation, Navy to continue the Joint Light Tactical Vehicle's Engineering and Manufacturing Development Phase [EMD]. The Committee notes that as a result of increasing requirements, the scheduled EMD phase has doubled from 24 months to 48 months, and projected EMD costs have more than doubled to $669,600,000, which are not currently fully budgeted. The Committee further notes the Services' limited acquisition objectives for JLTV: the Army intends to procure 50,000 vehicles to replace only one-third of its High Mobility Multipurpose Wheeled Vehicle [HMMWV] fleet, and the Marine Corps intends to procure 5,000 JLTVs, roughly one-quarter of its future tactical vehicle fleet.

Furthermore, the JLTV program, which was initially launched as a model for a revised acquisition approach, has already had significant changes in requirements and cost growth. The JLTV was originally intended to replace the Services' entire HMMWV fleet, yet the Services have decided to retain significant portions of their respective HMMWV fleets and have launched comprehensive HMMWV reset and competitive recapitalization programs. Consequently, the JLTV would now replace only a fraction of HMMWVs, thus adding instead of reducing the Services' logistics burden. Moreover, the inability to keep program requirements stable has resulted in significant cost growth early in the program's development phase, and projected acquisition costs will make the program unaffordable in this challenging economic environment.

In addition, the Committee understands that the first vehicles would not be produced until 2017 at the earliest, while it appears that several industrial solutions that address most of the JLTV requirements currently exist. As such, the Committee sees no role for the JLTV in the Services' future programs and budgets and recommends its termination. The Committee recommends transferring $20,000,000 from the JLTV program to the competitive Modernized Expanded Capability Vehicle [MECV] program to fully fund its requirements and allow the Services to rapidly field light tactical vehicles with greater capabilities sooner and at a lower cost.

Joint Cooperative Target Identification [JCTI].—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $41,700,000 in Research, Development, Test and Evaluation, Army and $21,247,000 in Research, Development, Test and Evaluation, Navy to pursue development of devices that address dismount and air-to-ground fratricide. The Committee understands that following completion of the Analysis of Alternatives in June 2011, the Army and Marine Corps' acquisition strategy has changed. The Committee recommends full funding of this revised acquisition strategy. Further, the Committee directs the Army and Marine Corps to establish with the fiscal year 2013 budget submission separate Program Elements within their respective Research, Development, Test and Evaluation accounts for the JCTI program.

Army Missile Defense Programs.—The Missile Defense Agency [MDA] and the Army recently signed a preliminary Memorandum of Agreement [MOA] that would transfer some elements of the Army’s air and missile defense portfolio to MDA. The Committee notes that no Business Case Analysis has been completed, nor have details been defined about which programs or program components would be transferred. The Committee further notes that no funds have been appropriated in this or previous Department of Defense Appropriations Acts to fund a transfer of Army missile defense program responsibilities to MDA, or to fund the implementation of the Army’s Program Executive Officer [PEO] for Missiles and Space serving as the Program Executive for Army missile defense systems within MDA. Therefore, the Committee does not support any such transfer at this time.

Ground Radar Technologies.—The Committee understands that the Air Force and Army are considering the procurement of new ground radar solutions. The Committee believes that the Department should consider minimizing program redundancy and maximizing platform commonality. Therefore, the Committee encourages the Under Secretary of Defense for Acquisition, Technology and Logistics to examine the services’ ground-based radar procurement strategies to achieve commonality wherever possible in order to lower life-cycle costs and achieve better deployment schedules through common requirements.

Research, Development, Test and Evaluation, Army [RDTE&A] Budget Justification Materials.—The Committee notes the much improved quality of the RDTE&A budget justification materials compared to previous years. However, critical information remains lacking from the R-forms, such as contract award information on the R-3, and specific event details on the R-4. The Committee encourages the Army to continue improving the quality and detail of its budget justification materials.

Army Acquisition Failures and the Decker-Wagner Army Acquisition Review.—In May 2010, the Army commissioned an unprecedented review of its acquisition processes, commonly referred to as the “Decker-Wagner” study. It identified more than 20 Army Major Defense Acquisition Programs [MDAPs] that were terminated in the last 20 years and notes that in the last 7 years, the Army has spent roughly $3,500,000,000 in research and development per year on programs that were ultimately cancelled. The Committee finds this unacceptable at any time, but even more so in times of fiscal austerity. The Army has provided an implementation plan regarding the 76 recommendations made in the “Decker-Wagner” study. The Committee expects the Army to continue to provide regular updates on the status of actions taken regarding recommendations made by the “Decker-Wagner” study.

Research and Development Command Enterprise Management.—The “Decker-Wagner” Army Acquisition Review made 76 recommendations to address shortfalls in the Army’s acquisition process. This includes a recommendation to disestablish the Research, Development and Engineering Command [RDECOM]. The Committee understands that the Army will not implement this recommendation and is studying RDECOM’s role in an ongoing Material Development and Sustainment study. The Committee continues to view the level of oversight and discipline that RDECOM brings to the Army acquisition enterprise as a necessary component of reform. Therefore, the Committee strongly urges the Army to refrain from any effort to disestablish, relocate or devolve any RDECOM functions. The Committee notes that no funds have been appropriated in this or previous Department of Defense Appropriations Acts that would support any such effort.

Combat Feeding Technology.—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $52,979,000 for Warfighter Advanced Technology research, to include $2,413,000 for improved combat feeding systems and combat rations. The Committee commends the Department’s Combat Feeding Directorate on its continued improvements of the Meals-Ready-to-Eat [MRE] ration and understands that new processing and packaging technologies are being developed to further enhance the variety and nutritional value of this combat ration staple. To ensure that our Warfighters continue to receive nutritionally superior combat rations, the Committee recommends the Department continue its investment for continued, state-of-the-art processing and packaging research.

Silicon Carbide Research and Development.—The Committee understands that increasing electric power loads for military systems requires high-temperature and high-efficiency power electronics to reduce weight, increase energy efficiency and to improve system performance. The Committee further understands that Silicon Carbide-based power semiconductors have been identified as an enabling technology that meets Army requirements for power distribution and management. The Committee notes that Manufacturing Readiness Levels lag behind Technology Readiness Levels for this critical area and that the successful development and deployment of silicon carbide power electronics requires maturation of a domestic supply chain. Therefore, the Committee recommends an additional $15,000,000, to be fully competed for Silicon Carbide research and development.

Health and Usage Monitoring System.—The Committee notes with concern the absence of a validated Army requirement and associated budget request for the development and integration of a health and usage monitoring system for the Light Utility Helicopter [LUH]. The Committee understands that this is based on a desire to achieve near-term savings based on an existing service contract for the Army's fleet of LUH; however, the Committee believes a near-term investment in this area could drive long-term sizeable savings in the area of LUH maintenance. For example, the Committee understands that investment in a health and usage monitoring system for the Army's Blackhawk helicopters has yielded maintenance savings that have offset the initial investment. The Committee encourages the Army to consider the long-term costs and benefits of integrating a health and usage monitoring system on the LUH and to consider that new analysis as the basis for its fiscal year 2013 budget request.

Indirect Fire Protection Capability [IFPC].—The Army is transitioning the Counter Rocket Artillery Mortar [C-RAM] program, which was rapidly fielded to meet an urgent need in theater, to the Indirect Fire Protection Capability [IFPC] Program of Record. The IFPC Program of Record consists of three distinct increments: Increment 0, Increment I and Increment II. The Committee notes that the schedule for Increment II is delayed by no less than 9 months and that the Army did not adjust its fiscal year 2012 budget request accordingly. Therefore, the Committee recommends a reduction of those fiscal year 2012 funds that are ahead of need due to the schedule delay. Further, the Committee directs the Army to establish with the fiscal year 2013 budget submission a separate Program Element for IFPC Increment II. The Committee notes that requirements for Increments 0 and I are fully funded.

Warfighter Information Network—Tactical [WIN-T] Increment III.—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $287,808,000 for further development of WIN-T Increment III, an increase of $115,000,000 over the prior year's budget, to accelerate fielding by 1 year from fiscal year 2016 to fiscal year 2015. The Committee notes that WIN-T recently emerged from a comprehensive Nunn-McCurdy restructure and subsequent Acquisition Program Baseline [APB] revision following significant cost growth and that the previous budget funded the program to that APB. Further, the Committee notes that the proposed accelerated schedule significantly compresses the design and development timeline for a key component of Increment III and allows little time for the manufacturing, integration and testing of prototypes in support of an accelerated fielding decision. Finally, the Committee understands that the Army has identified a $23,000,000 fiscal year 2012 shortfall to its proposed 1-year acceleration that the Army would address via an Above Threshold Reprogramming during fiscal year 2012. The Committee notes that the proposed acceleration is high-risk with respect to technical effort and schedule, and is not rooted in a firm requirement. Therefore, the Committee recommendation denies funds added in support of the proposed acceleration, and recommends retaining the current program schedule.

Aircraft Avionics.—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $144,700,000 in Program Element 0604201A for no less than seven aircraft avionics programs. This program element is programmed to increase to over $200,000,000 in fiscal year 2014. Yet the programs funded within this program element are not identified or funded as distinct and separate projects, hampering programmatic oversight and making tracking of financial execution difficult. The Committee directs the Army to establish with the fiscal year 2013 budget submission separate project codes for each project in this program element.

Armed Scout Helicopter [ASH] and OH-58 Kiowa Warrior Upgrades.—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $78,690,000 for the Armed Scout Helicopter, of which $73,929,000 is for a Technology Development contract award. The Committee notes that despite completing the Analysis of Alternatives in early fiscal year 2011, the Army does not intend to award the Technology Development contract until fiscal year 2013. Therefore, the Committee recommends denying the funds requested for the Technology Development contract as early to need. The fiscal year 2012 budget request also includes $70,400,000 in Research, Development, Test and Evaluation, Army to continue upgrading the OH-58 Kiowa Warrior, an increase of $17,000,000 over amounts appropriated for that purpose in fiscal year 2011. The Committee recognizes that as a result of the termination of the Comanche in 2004 and the subsequent termination of its successor program in 2008, the Armed Reconnaissance Helicopter, the Kiowa will remain in the fleet longer than previously planned. As such, the Committee has supported Kiowa modernization initiatives in recent years. However, the Committee understands that the cumulative costs of various OH-58 Kiowa Warrior upgrade initiatives such as the Cockpit and Sensor Upgrade Program [CASUP] and multiple Engineering Change Proposals are close to or exceed the costs of buying new aircraft. The Committee questions whether this is a prudent investment in 40-year-old airframes. Therefore, the Committee recommends funding Kiowa Warrior upgrades at a steady state until the Army defines the way ahead for its Armed Scout requirement.

Integrated Electronic Warfare Systems [IEWS].—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $7,393,000 to initiate the Integrated Electronic Warfare Systems program. The Committee notes that the Army has programmed more than $516,000,000 for this program in the next 5 years. The Committee also notes that the Navy is the Department's Executive Agent and single manager for Counter Radio-Controlled Improvised Explosive Device Electronic Warfare [JCREW] and that a recent Department of Defense Inspector General report documented a significant disconnect between the Army's and the Department's JCREW programs. The Committee does not believe it is prudent to initiate a new program of this magnitude that has such significant overlap with the Department's program of record and recommends denying the requested funds.

Common Infrared Countermeasures [CIRCM].—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $67,200,000 for CIRCM. The Committee notes that the program is delayed by 1 year and that the Army intends to carry over $73,000,000 of fiscal year 2011 CIRCM funding into fiscal year 2012. Therefore, the Committee recommends denying the fiscal year 2012 request.

Competitive High Mobility Multipurpose Wheeled Vehicle [HMMWV] Recapitalization [RECAP].—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes no funds in Research, Development, Test and Evaluation, Army for the Competitive HMMWV recap program, formally known as the Modernized Expanded Capability Vehicle [MECV], despite the fact that this requirement was identified and validated as early as February 2010, well in time before the fiscal year 2012 budget submission. The purpose of the MECV program is to provide the Army with production-ready options to modernize and sustain the Up-armored HMMWV fleet beyond current capabilities. The congressional defense committees have approved multiple Above Threshold Reprogrammings in support of this program, which will take a non-developmental approach and enter production in fiscal year 2013. The Committee understands that the Army's current unfunded requirement is $20,000,000 and recommends redirecting funds from other, longer-term programs to this immediate, near-term need. The Committee notes that the MECV is a joint Army-Marine Corps program with synchronized schedules. The Marine Corps requirement of the program, the HMMWV Survivability Initiative, is fully funded elsewhere in this act.

Medium Extended Air Defense System [MEADS].—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $406,605,000 for MEADS, a tri-national cooperative air defense development program originally intended to replace the Army's Patriot System. With the submission of the fiscal year 2012 budget request, the Department of Defense announced that contrary to initial intent, the United States would not procure and field MEADS due to budget constraints. Instead, the Department is proposing to conduct a 2-year "Proof of Concept" of MEADS at a cost of $406,605,000 in fiscal year 2012 and $397,053,000 in fiscal year 2013. This "Proof of Concept" would culminate in two flight tests of the system. The Committee has been informed by the Department and the Army that conducting this "Proof of Concept" provides opportunities for the Army to harvest technologies for a competition of the much-needed modernization of its Patriot system. It would also allow our Allies to subsequently procure this system to address their capability gaps, thus reducing the burden on U.S. Forces.

In addition, the Committee has been informed by both the Department of Defense and the Army that unilaterally withdrawing from the MEADS Program would require the United States to pay a termination liability that is roughly equal to or greater than the cost of the proposed "Proof of Concept". According to the Department, the requirement for any one partner to pay the entire termination liability upon unilateral withdrawal was included in the 2004 Memorandum of Understanding [MOU] among the United States, Germany, and Italy that was submitted to Congress for approval in accordance with the Arms Export Control Act, and is habitually included in major international development programs, such as the F-16 Fighter or the Army's Excalibur programs, to protect U.S. interests in case our partners decide to unilaterally withdraw from joint programs. The Committee has further been informed that both Germany and Italy have officially stated that they will not negotiate a multi-lateral termination of MEADS.

The Committee is concerned with the historical management of the MEADS program and that it has taken the Department 3 years, following the 2008 program Preliminary Design Review, to conclude that with a production delay of at least 4 years and a U.S. investment of $1,160,000,000 required in addition to the $804,000,000 budgeted in fiscal years 2012 and 2013, the program was simply unaffordable. As such, the Committee echoes the concerns voiced in section 807 of S. 1253, the National Defense Authorization Act of Fiscal Year 2012, as reported. Nevertheless, the Committee understands that despite the U.S. decision to not procure the MEADS system, the United States must fulfill its contractual obligations, and notes further that completing the "Proof of Concept" is the only way that the United States, and the Army in particular, can harvest any technologies for future U.S. requirements. Therefore, the Committee recommends full funding for the MEADS "Proof of Concept", as requested.

Ground Combat Vehicle [GCV].—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $884,400,000 to continue Technology Development [TD] of the Ground Combat Vehicle. The Committee notes that following an Army review of the program's requirements, the GCV program was restructured in August 2010, and up to three TD contracts were scheduled for award in March 2011. Fully supporting the Army's revised acquisition strategy, Congress provided $461,100,000 for the restructured program in fiscal year 2011, as requested by the Army. Of those funds, $200,000,000 was awarded for two TD contracts in August 2011, 5 months behind schedule. The Committee notes that this schedule delay is further exacerbated by a protest of the TD contract awards, which will result in the fiscal year 2011 funds being carried over to fiscal year 2012. The Committee further notes that following a program review by the Office of Secretary of Defense in August 2011, the Army was directed to assess numerous existing alternative vehicles and to redo its Analysis of Alternatives. These two efforts would occur simultaneously with the TD phase of the program. According to the Department's acquisition regulations, an Analysis of Alternatives should be completed prior to a program achieving milestone A and entering TD to ensure that the TD phase incorporates the findings and outcomes of the Analysis of Alternatives. Initiating and significantly ramping up the TD phase, as the Army proposes, while conducting another Analysis of Alternatives creates significant risk to requirements and costs by failing to ensure that the Analysis of Alternatives informs TD.

In addition, the Committee remains concerned with the program's current overall cost estimates relative to its small impact on the Army's combat vehicle fleet. The Army plans to procure only 1,874 GCVs to replace half of its Bradley fleet at a cost of nearly $13,000,000 per vehicle, with some estimates showing projected costs of $16,000,000–$17,000,000 per vehicle; however, the Army's combat vehicle fleet exceeds 25,000 vehicles, and the Army's combat vehicle modernization program has now been delayed for nearly 5 years, despite Congress providing full funding each year since its inception. Given the limited niche the GCV will fill within the Army's overall combat vehicle portfolio, the Committee is concerned over the affordability of the GCV program in this challenging fiscal environment. However, the Committee understands that this is an important program to the Army's modernization efforts, and therefore recommends a fiscal year 2012 appropriation that is consistent with prior year execution.

Army Test Ranges and Facilities.—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $262,456,000 for Army Test Ranges and Facilities in Program Element 0605601A, a decrease of $150,000,000 from amounts appropriated in fiscal year 2011. The Committee notes that the fiscal year 2012 budget request was not certified adequate as required by the fiscal year 2003 National Defense Authorization Act, and that the Army's fiscal year 2012 shortfall is $100,000,000. The Committee is greatly concerned by attempts to balance budgets through reductions to test assets. Therefore, the Committee recommends an additional $50,000,000, as authorized in S. 1253, National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2012, as reported. Further, the Committee has included a General Provision directing the Army to transfer an additional $50,000,000 from within available funding to Army Test Ranges and Facilities. The Committee notes that this is not the first time that Army Test Ranges and Facilities have been underfunded and re-emphasizes the importance of fully funding test activities.

Weapons Capability Modifications Unmanned Aerial Vehicle [UAV].—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $24,142,000 to initiate a new start program in support of an emerging Army requirement for intelligence, surveillance and reconnaissance [ISR] platforms operating in and near unfriendly territories. The Committee notes that the justification materials are incomplete and are inconsistent with subsequently provided briefing materials. Further, the Committee notes that a joint Analysis of Alternatives being conducted with the Navy has been delayed. Therefore, the Committee recommends denying funds requested beyond those required to complete the Analysis of Alternatives.

Armored Multi Purpose Vehicle [AMPV].—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $31,400,000 to initiate the Armored Multi Purpose Vehicle, which is intended to replace the M 113 Family of Vehicles. The Army intends to spend close to $300,000,000 in research, development, test and evaluation over the next 5 years and to procure the first AMPV in fiscal year 2016. The Committee notes that numerous studies have shown that material solutions currently exist to replace the aging M-113 and therefore questions the rationale for initiating another new development program at this time. Therefore, the Committee recommends denying the budget request for the AMPV.

Prototype Integration Facility.—The Army Prototype Integration Facility [PIF] is a key enterprise asset in supporting Overseas Contingency Operations. The Committee notes that since 2002, the PIF has executed in excess of $1,800,000,000 in rapid response, quick reaction and high priority weapons system hardware and services support to the warfighter. PIF operations have become more extensive, more sophisticated and are carried out at more locations since its inception. The Committee believes that this requires a better system of managing PIF operations and production. The PIF does not receive mission or program budget funds and relies on customer funding to execute specific weapon system program requirements. The Committee encourages the Army to support upgrades to the PIF, including an enterprise resource planning system that will increase productivity, reduce overall costs, improve schedules and tracking, enhance cost accountability and support multiple warfighter rapid response tasks.

Standardized, Light-Weight Power Sources.—The Committee notes that increasingly sophisticated weapon systems require troops to carry a heavy load of various types of batteries to power a multitude of electronic devices. The Committee further notes that the lack of uniform standards and the inability to switch out power supplies among devices necessitates additional batteries be carried during missions, which may ultimately limit the warfighter's effectiveness and survivability. The Committee believes that troops would benefit from a standardized, lightweight power source that can be used interchangeably among various commonly used devices. The Committee directs the Secretary of the Army to submit a report to the congressional defense committees no later than 180 days after enactment of this act on the batteries used in portable military electronic devices in the current and future Department of Defense inventory, with an emphasis on the AA and AAA form factor, and their potential configuration into multi-cell battery packs. Performance metrics and testing should include safety, specific energy and weight, operational capability in high and low temperature extremes, resistance to leakage in extreme operating conditions involving shocks, drops and vibration, battery shelf life, their life cycle cost, maintenance, disposal, and U.S. production availability.

Alternative Fuels and Service Craft.—The Committee commends the Department of the Navy for its commitment to deploy a carrier strike group by 2016 which would be powered entirely by alternative fuels. The Committee directs the Secretary of the Navy to submit a report to the congressional defense committees within 180 days of enactment of this act on plans to include the service craft fleet as part of this initiative, including a description of plans to test and certify alternative fuels on the service craft fleet.

Assessment of Data Archives.—The digitization, storage, security, and access to data archives is an important aspect of improving the efficiency of the Department of the Navy. The Committee urges the Secretary of the Navy to assess the state of data archives of such naval commands as he may direct, in order to establish an inventory of digitization, encryption, and retrieval services to guide future investment decisions.

Advanced Radar Innovation Fund.—The proliferation of advanced threats across all domains, including sub-surface, surface, air, and space, poses unique challenges for the future of the Navy. As one of the pillars of the Nation's expeditionary capabilities, our naval forces must be able to detect, track, classify, and counter a wide range of potential threats that challenge current sensors. The ability to detect threats as diverse as an adversary's periscope in the open ocean, small and slow-moving unmanned aerial vehicles, stealthy aircraft, and advanced missile threats are essential to the Navy's combat capabilities.

The Committee is aware of significant advances in radar capabilities in each of these areas but remains concerned about the need to enhance current sensor platforms and prepare for future technological advances in a manner that is affordable and flexible. Therefore, the Committee recommends an increase of $60,000,000 for an Advanced Radar Innovation Fund to advance naval radar capabilities.

The fund includes $20,000,000 for the Office of Naval Research to accelerate future capabilities; $20,000,000 for surface ship radar improvements; and $20,000,000 for enhancements to airborne early warning capabilities. The Department of the Navy is directed to apply these funds to innovative technologies that show promise for capability enhancements and affordability through the use of open architectures and competition.

Directed Energy.—The Committee notes the proliferation of small boat, unmanned aerial vehicle, and missile threats to the fleet. Recent demonstrations have shown the promise of directed energy weapons to counter these threats. The Committee directs the Secretary of the Navy to report to the congressional defense committees within 180 days of enactment of this act on the possibility of near-term operational use of directed energy systems to counter these threats, a description of the various directed energy capabilities, and a roadmap for integrating such weapons on DDG-51 Flight III ships.

Joint Tactical Radio Systems.—The budget request includes $688,146,000 for the development of Joint Tactical Radio Systems, including $179,117,000 for development of Handheld, Manpack, and Small Form Fit Radio [HMS] programs. These funds are primarily to address deficiencies in the Manpack system as well as to integrate new capabilities on the radios. The Committee understands that the new capabilities were added to the fiscal year 2012 budget request, and the requirements documents were subsequently changed to adopt the new capabilities as part of the program baseline.

Virtually every recent review and study on how to improve the efficiency of acquisition programs has concluded that stability of requirements is a necessary component to mitigating risk, reducing concurrency, managing cost, and delivering success. The spiral of additional capabilities into the HMS program is not advisable until the baseline capabilities of each HMS system have been tested and validated.

The Committee attempted to ascertain how much of the fiscal year 2012 request is required to support the HMS program without the new requirements; however, the Army and the Joint Program Office were unable to provide an estimate of those costs. The recommendation therefore includes a reduction of $120,000,000 due to unjustified program growth. The remaining funds provide an increase of approximately 50 percent to the program in fiscal year 2012, as compared to the $40,689,000 appropriated in the Department of Defense Appropriations Act, 2011.

LHA 8 Amphibious Assault Ship.—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $26,702,000 for LHA 8 amphibious assault ship preliminary design efforts. The Committee is aware that the Department of the Navy plans to reintroduce a well deck and optimize the aviation capability of LHA 8, which is planned for procurement in fiscal year 2016. Considering growing fiscal pressure on the national defense budget and increasing amphibious assault ship demands from combatant commanders for contingency operations, theater security cooperation, humanitarian assistance, and conventional deterrence missions, the Committee believes it is essential that LHA 8 be introduced in the most cost effective manner. Therefore, the Committee directs the Department of the Navy to fully fund advance planning and design of LHA 8 and work with industry to identify affordability and producibility strategies that will lead to more efficient construction of a large deck amphibious assault ship to best meet combatant commander needs.

Family of Advanced Beyond-Line-of-Sight Terminals.—The budget request includes $238,729,000 for the development of the Family of Advanced Beyond-Line-of-Sight Terminals [FAB-T]. Due to various technology challenges, the FAB-T program continues to have serious cost and schedule growth. The Committee understands that the Department of Defense is currently examining options to pursue an alternative program to manage the risks still associated with FAB-T. Accordingly, the Committee recommendation includes sufficient funding to continue FAB-T development, and transfers $35,000,000 to Research, Development, Test and Evaluation, Navy, for the development of an alternative program. Furthermore, because neither FAB-T nor an alternative terminal will be ready for procurement in fiscal year 2012, the Committee recommends reductions of $47,100,000 from Aircraft Procurement, Air Force, and $68,150,000 from Other Procurement, Air Force.

Military GPS User Equipment.—The budget request includes $133,601,000 for the development of Military Global Positioning System [GPS] User Equipment. This family of products is intended to deliver advanced capabilities to aircraft, ships, vehicles, and hand-held equipment, including the ability to counter GPS jamming threats. The Air Force intends to award three competitive contracts to begin the technology demonstration phase in the fourth quarter of fiscal year 2012. The Committee supports the program and recognizes the need for these improvements to GPS user systems; however, due to the contract awards being scheduled late in the fiscal year, contracts are more appropriately funded in the fiscal year 2013 request. Therefore, the Committee recommends a reduction of $91,000,000, which will allow sufficient funds to proceed with Air Force source selection activities in fiscal year 2012.

On-orbit Servicing.—The Committee is aware of several proposals by commercial providers to augment on-orbit satellites with additional fuel or propulsion to increase their on-orbit life. While this capability has yet to be demonstrated, on-orbit servicing could hold significant promise for both Government and commercial satellites. The Committee urges the Secretary of the Air Force to examine the feasibility of on-orbit servicing, including the potential for life extension and satellite augmentation in future architecture and trade studies.

HH-60 Recapitalization.—The Committee is recommending $8,000,000 for the HH-60 Recapitalization program to allow the Air Force to begin development of an HH-60 replacement aircraft. As planned, this effort will require minimum development, moving into limited production within 2 years. The Committee supports this approach but is concerned that the scope of the development efforts will be expanded after the program is initiated. Given the significant cost of the other modernization and recapitalization efforts the Air Force is currently undertaking, the Air Force must ensure that the HH-60 recapitalization effort is completed at the lowest possible cost. The Committee expects the Air Force to establish a recapitalization program that fulfills the requirements of the combat search and rescue mission at the best value to the taxpayer.

Airborne Senior Leader C3 [SLC3S].—The Air Force has requested $12,535,000 to continue development of a standardized communications suite for the use of senior military and civilian leaders when airborne. The Committee questions the wisdom of the acquisition strategy. Currently, aircraft are provided with the most up-to-date communications gear as it becomes available. The requested program will develop a common communications suite which will have the practical effect of providing standardized, but out-of-date equipment soon after completion of the effort. In addition, the program has recently encountered technical problems involving the weight of the communications suite which will significantly increase the cost to complete development. Given these concerns and the rising cost to complete the program, the Committee recommends that the program be terminated.

Broad Area Surveillance Sensors.—The Department has requested $18,200,000 to continue development of various wide area surveillance technologies for platforms such as Blue Devil and Gorgon Stare under the Broad Area Surveillance Sensors program. At the same time, $16,047,000 has been requested for follow-on wide area surveillance technology development efforts as part of the Gorgon Stare program. The Committee believes these efforts are duplicative and recommends eliminating funding for the Broad Area Surveillance Sensor program.

Turbine Engine Sensors.—The Committee is aware that innovative research is underway on dynamic sensors for turbine engines of military jets and helicopters that have the potential to increase safety and decrease costs. The Committee encourages the Department to continue to support innovative research on engine sensor technology with the goal of improving performance, safety, and fuel efficiency.

Air Force Minority Leaders Program.—The Air Force Minority Leaders program develops research capabilities at Historically Black Colleges and Universities and Minority Institutions [HBCU/MIs) by pairing them with mentor universities with strong research programs in nano-scale materials. The Committee believes this is a valuable program, funding research of interest to the United States Air Force, while providing educational opportunities to minority students in science and engineering. The Committee encourages the Air Force to continue supporting efforts of this kind.

Common Data Link.—The Common Data Link [CDL] serves as the multi-service standard for all Department of Defense line-of-sight wideband data links. These data links are essential to the operation of intelligence, surveillance, and reconnaissance platforms, allowing the dissemination of critical intelligence data. However, the Committee is concerned that proprietary interfaces are inhibiting competition in the CDL program, which could limit potential cost savings and capability improvements. The Committee urges the Department to utilize all available means of preserving options for competitive sourcing of CDL systems and to communicate the need for such competition to the system program offices responsible for CDL procurement.

Air Force Test Ranges and Facilities.—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $654,475,000 for Air Force Test Ranges and Facilities, a decrease of $105,393,000 from amounts appropriated in fiscal year 2011. The Committee notes that the fiscal year 2012 budget request was not certified adequate as required by the fiscal year 2003 National Defense Authorization Act, and that the Air Force's fiscal year 2012 shortfall is $84,000,000. The Committee is greatly concerned by attempts to balance budgets through reductions to test assets. Therefore, the Committee recommends an additional $50,000,000, as authorized in S. 1253, the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2012, as reported. Further, the Committee has included a General Provision directing the Air Force to transfer an additional $34,000,000 from within available funding to Air Force Test and Evaluation Support.

KC-46A.—The budget request includes $877,084,000 for the development of a next generation aerial refueling tanker. Replacing the aging tanker fleet is essential to the Air Force's modernization efforts, and the Committee remains very supportive of this program. However, after the budget was submitted, the Air Force conducted an Integrated Baseline Review [IBR] of the program, which changed the annual spending plan to complete the development effort of the program. As a result, the Air Force identified $135,000,000 that will not be required in fiscal year 2012. Therefore, the Committee recommends reducing the request by this amount to align the budget with the new IBR.

Defense Weather Satellite System.—The budget request includes $444,900,000 for development of the Defense Weather Satellite System [DWSS], the follow-on to the National Polar-Orbiting Operational Environmental Satellite System [NPOESS]. In 2010, the Executive Office of the President restructured NPOESS from a tri-agency program to two programs, one administered by the Air Force, and another administered by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. The decision to restructure the program was due to the serious growth in cost and schedule, as well as multi-agency management problems.

The current program remains challenged by a difficult and confusing set of management issues. Rights over intellectual property from the NPOESS program have been subject to protracted and contentious negotiations. For DWSS, redesign efforts are being conducted simultaneously with efforts to examine capability trades. Options for capability trades result in billions of dollars of uncertainty in cost estimates, and may lead to significant redesigns. Each of these areas of risk indicate that DWSS is not on a sound acquisition footing, despite the restructure of the program more than a year and a half ago.

The Committee does not want to repeat the costly mistakes of the NPOESS program with DWSS. Therefore, the Committee recommends the termination of the DWSS program, and provides $250,000,000 for continued common sensor development, as well as requirements definition and source selection activities for a full and open competition for a follow-on program.

The Committee also provides $150,000,000 for the cost of termination of the current contract, and directs the Secretary of Defense to provide the congressional defense committees with a report within 30 days of enactment of this act to describe the Government's estimated liabilities under the current contract, the ability of the Government to leverage prior work within a new program, and a schedule for requirements reviews, competition, and award of a new development contract.

Minerva.—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $24,700,000 to continue the Minerva program, an increase of $6,700,000 over amounts appropriated in fiscal year 2011. The Committee recommends fully funding the proposed expansion of Minerva Chairs at Defense education institutions, as well as the continuation of ongoing studies; however, the Committee notes the limited value of long-term studies for the warfighter and recommends no funding to initiate new studies.

Joint Capability Technology Demonstrations [JCTDs].—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $187,707,000 for JCTDs, of which $33,690,000 is identified in the budget justification materials as being for “Additional fiscal year 2011 JCTD New Starts”. The Committee notes that funding for fiscal year 2011 New Starts was previously appropriated in fiscal year 2011 and that New Starts funded with fiscal year 2012 funds are considered fiscal year 2012 New Starts, subject to appropriate notification procedures.

90nm Next Generation Foundry.—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $30,000,000 to initiate the establishment of a 90nm Next Generation Foundry at the Defense Microelectronics Agency. While the total costs to stand up this new Foundry are not yet known, the Committee understands that commercial equivalents have cost in excess of $1,000,000,000. The Committee notes that to date, the requirement for assured chips has been met by commercial industry under a joint Trusted Foundry program managed by the Department of Defense and the National Security Agency. The Committee is not aware of any quality issues affecting that program. Accordingly, the Committee recommends no funding that allows the Department to establish its own Foundry. Further, the Committee recommends full funding to continue the Trusted Foundry program.

Department of Defense Corrosion Program.—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $3,221,000 for the Department of Defense Corrosion Program, a decrease of $36,200,000 from the amount appropriated in fiscal year 2011. The Committee remains concerned that the Department continues to underfund its corrosion program despite its well-known impact on mission readiness and safety. The Department of Defense estimates that corrosion costs the Department over $22,900,000,000 annually. The Committee notes that in its annual report to Congress on Department of Defense Corrosion programs, submitted on March 29, 2011, the Department has identified a fiscal year 2012 requirement of $43,000,000. According to the Government Accountability Office, failure to fund this budget shortfall could result in passing up additional cost avoidance of up to $721,400,000. Therefore, the Committee recommends additional funding of $32,100,000 for the Department of Defense Corrosion Program, as authorized, to mitigate this shortfall and urges the Department to fully fund the identified requirement.

Business Transformation Agency Program Transfers.—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $134,285,000 to continue several programs that were previously managed by the Business Transformation Agency [BTA], which was disestablished effective September 30, 2011. Beginning in fiscal year 2012, these programs are scheduled to transfer to the Defense Logistics Agency. Despite the disestablishment of the BTA, these programs grow by almost $95,000,000 over previously programmed amounts, although less than 50 percent of program personnel will be retained to conduct oversight over these programs. Therefore, the Committee recommends a corresponding reduction to the budget request.

Development Test and Evaluation [DT&E] Shortfall.—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $20,805,000 for Developmental Testing oversight. The Committee understands that this falls short of the requirement to fully execute responsibilities under the Weapons System Acquisition Reform Act of 2009. Therefore, the Committee recommends additional funding, as authorized in S. 1253, the National Defense Authorization Act of Fiscal Year 2012, as reported, to fully fund the Department's DT&E requirement. The Committee remains concerned with the Department's heavy reliance on contractors to exercise its oversight responsibilities and directs that none of the additional funds recommended be applied towards quasi government organizations.

Special Operations Command [SOCOM] Undersea Mobility Concepts.—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $92,242,000 for several programs that are designed to collectively fill the capability gap that remains following termination of the Advanced Seal Delivery System [ASDS] and its successor, the Joint Multi-Mission Submersible [JMMS]. Combined with previously appropriated, but still unobligated funding of over $30,000,000, the funds provided in this act would allow SOCOM to award several commercial contracts to develop a Family of Systems to meet its requirement. The Committee notes that full cost estimates for these efforts were not available with the fiscal year 2012 budget submission. The Committee directs SOCOM to provide with the fiscal year 2013 budget submission separate cost estimates for the Technology Development and Engineering and Manufacturing Development phases for each of the projects in support of Undersea Mobility, as well as estimated procurement costs.

Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency [DARPA].—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes approximately $3,000,000,000 for DARPA. The Committee notes that roughly 50 percent of the budget request is contained in only five Program Elements, of which one is greater than $400,000,000. The Committee is concerned by the level of resources requested in single Program Elements, particularly in light of DARPA's considerable financial flexibility. The Committee believes that transparency would be better served by reducing the size of DARPA's individual Program Elements.

Energy Security and Renewable Fuels.—The Committee notes that today's national security challenges are increasingly complex and require a wide range of military capabilities and a large and reliable supply of energy. According to the Department's Operational Energy Strategy, issued in May 2011, the Department of Defense consumed nearly 5 billion gallons of petroleum in military operations at a cost of $13,200,000,000 in 2010. The Committee supports the Department's efforts to develop and implement an energy security strategy that includes reducing energy consumption, transitioning to alternative energy sources, and building more fuel-efficient vehicles and weapons. The Committee is aware that promising research is underway on renewable energy technologies that do not displace food production, including deepwater offshore wind energy, and wood-to-jet fuel and waste-to-energy conversion, and encourages the Department to continue to support research on these innovative technologies.

Joint Department of Defense and Interagency Interoperable Network-Centric Enterprise.—The Committee recognizes the importance of interoperability among military and other government communications networks. In the Department's recently announced cybersecurity strategy, the Committee understands that the Department plans to work closely with the Department of Homeland Security, other interagency partners, and the private sector to develop new capabilities and improve interoperability between Federal agencies and public-private corporations to build a more robust cyber defense. The Committee encourages the Department of Defense to include input and expertise from academic institutions to address challenges that persist when incompatible tactical communications devices prevent communications among Government partners. This collaboration should enhance the creation of common test, evaluation, and/or certification capability for homeland defense, homeland security, and defense support of civil authorities accepted by Department of Defense and Department of Homeland Security support systems.

Rapid Innovation Program.—The Committee recommends $200,000,000 for the Rapid Innovation Program as authorized by S. 1253, the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2012, as reported. These funds shall be competitively awarded to merit-based projects and directed toward the science and technology thrust areas described in S. 1253. The Committee directs the Under Secretary of Defense for Acquisition, Technology and Logistics to provide the congressional defense committees with a description of the projects that will be funded through the Rapid Innovation Program 30 days prior to obligation of these funds.

MISSILE DEFENSE AGENCY [MDA]

Budget Justification Materials.—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $8,558,556,000 for the Missile Defense Agency's programs under the jurisdiction of the Defense Appropriations Subcommittee. The Committee has stated in the past its concerns with the poor quality and lack of detail of the corresponding budget justification materials and is pleased to note a signification improvement in the budget justification materials compared to prior years. However, the Committee believes that further improvement is warranted and looks forward to working with the Missile Defense Agency to continue improving its budget justification materials. In particular, the Committee is disturbed by the lack of programmatic detail contained in the budget justification materials, particularly as it relates to prior year accomplishments and scheduled events in the budget year. In addition, the Committee has noticed discrepancies between the budget request as detailed in the budget justification materials and funding requests identified in the corresponding Ballistic Missile Defense System Accountability Report [BAR]; as well as a lack of coordination between budget assembly and the Integrated Master Test Plan [IMTP]. While the Committee understands that evolving requirements can affect a budget request, the Committee believes that MDA and its suppliers would benefit from more coordinated strategic planning. For instance, updating the IMTP out of cycle from the budget submission creates a disconnect between resources requested and those required to conduct scheduled test events. Therefore, the Committee directs the MDA to synchronize its budget submission, BAR and IMTP beginning with the fiscal year 2013 budget submission.

Standard Missile-3 [SM-3] Block IB, Block IIA and Block IIB.—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $109,800,000 for SM-3 Block IB, $424,454,000 for SM-3 Block IIA, and $123,456,000 for SM-3 Block IIB in Research, Development, Test and Evaluation, Defense-Wide. Each of these missiles is successively more capable and technologically complex. The Committee is concerned about the high concurrency of these developmental efforts, particularly in light of the development issues that have plagued the SM-3 Block IB missile. In particular, the Committee notes that MDA has programmed in excess of $1,700,000,000 for the SM-3 Block IIB missile over the next 5 years, while at the same time, the SM-3 Block IB is scheduled to enter production in fiscal year 2013, and the SM-3 Block IIA is in early development, with fielding expected in 2018. The Committee is concerned that near-term requirements are underappreciated in order to fund uncertain long-term efforts. In addition, the Committee notes that the requirements for the SM-3 Block IIB remain in flux, as does its acquisition strategy and the associated costs for integration into the Fleet. Finally, the Committee understands that in its current form, the SM-3 Block IIB missile is of limited mission value due to technical constraints. Therefore, the Committee recommends no funding for the SM-3 Block IIB missile and instead recommends transferring those funds to the SM-3 Block IB and IIA missiles for additional risk reduction activities in order to ensure timely fielding of these capabilities to the warfighter.

Targets.—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $1,071,039,000 in a single Program Element for both tests and targets. As previously stated in Senate Report 111-295, the Committee believes that funding should be aligned in accordance with program oversight. Therefore, the Committee recommends several transfers to ensure that funds are executed by the appropriate program offices and expects MDA to follow this guidance in preparation of its fiscal year 2013 budget submission. In addition, the Committee notes that subsequent to the fiscal year 2012 budget submission, MDA changed its acquisition strategy for Medium-Range Ballistic Missiles [MRBM] and now plans to modify an existing contract instead of conducting a full and open competition. While specific details have not been provided, the Committee believes that additional oversight for these test assets that are required for Phased Adaptive Approach [PAA] Phase III efforts is warranted, and therefore recommends transferring the funds for the MRBM target class to the Aegis Program Office. The Committee understands that MDA prefers to pool its targets assets in order to achieve efficiencies. However, few efficiencies have been achieved to date and in many instances costs have grown and targets have failed in flight tests, which calls into question whether combining targets into one program has been successful. The Committee is prepared to appropriate future funding for test assets to the corresponding program office if oversight procedures are not improved.

Israeli Cooperative Programs.—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $106,100,000 to continue Israeli Cooperative Programs, a decrease of over $100,000,000 from amounts appropriated in fiscal year 2011. The Committee finds this insufficient and recommends additional funds to address Israel's security requirements, as detailed elsewhere in this act, to include an additional $15,000,000 which shall be used only for the Low Rate Initial Production [LRIP] activities as included in the David Sling Weapon System Project Agreement between the two governments.

Airborne Infrared [ABIR].—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $46,877,000 to continue development of an airborne infrared sensor that would be integrated onto a Reaper unmanned aerial vehicle. The Committee notes the redundancy with other sensors, as well as the challenges associated with the proposed concept of operations which minimize the operational utility of this asset. Therefore, the Committee recommends no funding for this lower-priority project.

Airborne Weapon Layer [AWL].—The Committee understands that the Air Force and MDA are collaborating on an AWL cost benefit analysis to evaluate the suitability of AWL as an element of the Ballistic Missile Defense System. The Committee directs the Air Force and MDA to provide the congressional defense committees the results of the cost benefit analysis with the fiscal year 2013 budget submission.

Mobile Landing Platform [MLP].—The fiscal year 2012 budget request includes $425,865,000 to procure one Mobile Landing Platform [MLP]. The Navy has a requirement for three MLPs, and the Committee notes that in its previous budget submission, the Navy proposed procuring the three MLPs over the course of 5 years, beginning in fiscal year 2011. The fiscal year 2012 budget submission proposes to condense this acquisition to 3 years, concluding in fiscal year 2013. However, the Committee notes that the fiscal year 2012 budget submission does not take into account that Congress adjusted the MLP acquisition profile in the Fiscal Year 2011 Department of Defense Appropriations Act by accelerating the planned schedule by 2 years and procuring two MLPs in fiscal year 2011 instead of one. The Committee notes that this acceleration, coupled with procuring an additional MLP in fiscal year 2013, as the Navy has planned for the last two budget cycles, concludes the program's acquisition in 3 years, as the Navy proposes in its fiscal year 2012 budget submission. The Committee believes that a further acceleration of the MLP acquisition schedule is unwarranted and high-risk and does not allow for sufficient learning to occur, nor cost efficiencies to be absorbed prior to initiating construction of the third and final ship of the class. The Committee notes that Navy has already procured long lead materials for the third ship to avoid shipyard production breaks prior to award of the fiscal year 2013 MLP. Therefore, the Committee recommends denying the proposed additional acceleration of the program and recommends that the Navy retain its original plan of procuring a MLP in fiscal year 2013.

Defense Health Program Reprogramming Procedures.—The Committee remains concerned regarding the transfer of funds from Direct (or In-house) Care to pay for contractor-provided medical care. To limit such transfers and continue oversight within the Defense Health Program operation and maintenance account, the Committee includes bill language which caps the funds available for Private Sector Care under the TRICARE program subject to prior approval reprogramming procedures. The bill language and accompanying report language included by the Committee should not be interpreted by the Department as limiting the amount of funds that may be transferred to the Direct Care System from other budget activities within the Defense Health Program. In addition, the Committee continues to designate the funding for the Direct Care System as a special interest item. Any transfer of funds from the Direct (or In-house) Care budget activity into the Private Sector Care budget activity or any other budget activity will require the Department of Defense to follow prior approval reprogramming procedures.

The Department shall also provide written notification to the Committees on Appropriations of the House and the Senate of cumulative transfers in excess of $15,000,000 out of the Private Sector Care budget subactivity. The Committee further directs the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Health Affairs) to provide quarterly reports to the Committees on Appropriations of the House and the Senate on budget execution data for all of the Defense Health Program accounts and to adequately reflect changes to the budget activities requested by the Services in future budget submissions.

Carryover.—For fiscal year 2012, the Committee is recommending 1 percent carryover authority for the Defense Health Program. The Committee directs the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Health Affairs) to submit a detailed spending plan for any fiscal year 2011 designated carryover funds to the congressional defense committees not fewer than 15 days prior to executing the carryover funds.

Sources of Help for Servicemembers and Their Families.—The Committee is concerned over the excessive number of Web sites that have been created by the Department of Defense intended to inform servicemembers and their families on access to care. For example, the Navy published one pamphlet explaining how to combat operational stress, and there were 16 different Web sites and phone numbers listed as viable sources for outreach. A second Navy pamphlet listed eight other Web sites. An Air Force pamphlet has 13 listed Web sites and points of contact, and an Army information sheet on addressing combat stress and seeking mental assistance listed 19 different Web sites. Each Web site description in the respective pamphlet carries very little information as to what services the Web site will provide, thus requiring the servicemember and/or his or her beneficiaries to sit and read through many of the proposed Web sites to find which one will meet his or her needs.

Rather than consolidating these efforts and streamlining this information for servicemembers, the Department continues to approve new and ongoing programs that have resulted in a maze of information that proves to be a significant challenge to navigate. The Committee believes that the Army, Navy, and Air Force, as well as the Office of the Under Secretary for Personnel and Readiness, the Office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Health Affairs, and the Department of Veterans Affairs need to work together with the private sector to consolidate these efforts and develop a single portal to access the wealth of information and care available to servicemembers, veterans, and families. The Committee has raised this with numerous entities within the Department of Defense but has failed to see any action transpire. Therefore, the Committee directs the Deputy Secretary of Defense to convene a working group based from those listed above with other relevant offices to develop a plan to consolidate as many Web sites as possible, creating one Web portal to provide the pertinent information to servicemembers and their beneficiaries. This working group should identify the following: requirements for developing one central site; challenges associated with establishing a central portal; required features and design of central portal (including the utilization of a virtual agent); stewardship of the central site within the Department of Defense; and evaluation and identification of potential partnerships with the private sector. The Committee restricts the Department from approving or extending any contracts for these types of Web sites until the Deputy Secretary of Defense submits a report to the congressional defense committees that addresses the concerns of the Committee and provides a timeline for initiating this project.

Peer Reviewed Medical Research Program.—The Committee recommends $50,000,000 for a Peer Reviewed Medical Research Program. The Committee directs the Secretary of Defense, in conjunction with the Service Surgeons General, to select medical research projects of clear scientific merit and direct relevance to military health. Research areas considered under this funding are restricted to: amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, Alzheimer's, arthritis, autism, composite tissue transplantation, drug abuse, epilepsy, food allergies, Fragile X syndrome, gulf war illness, hemorrhage and hemostasis research, hereditary angioedema, inflammatory bowel disease, interstitial cystitis, kidney cancer, lupus, melanoma, mesothelioma, multiple sclerosis, nanomedicine for drug delivery science, neuroblastoma, neurofibromatosis, orthopedic extremity trauma research, osteoporosis and related bone disease, Paget's disease, Parkinson's, polycystic kidney disease, post-traumatic osteoarthritis, scleroderma, tinnitus, tuberculosis, tuberous sclerosis complex, and vision research. The Committee emphasizes that the additional funding provided under the Peer Reviewed Medical Research Program shall be devoted only to the purposes listed above.

Joint Warfighter Medical Research Program.—The Committee recommends $50,000,000 for the Joint Warfighter Medical Research Program. Funds shall be used to augment and accelerate high priority Department of Defense and service medical requirements and to continue prior year initiatives that are close to achieving their objectives and yielding a benefit to military medicine. These funds shall not be used for new starts or basic research. The Committee directs the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Health Affairs) to provide a report not later than 120 days after enactment of this act to the congressional defense committees listing the projects that receive funding. The report should include the amount of funding provided to each project and a thorough description of each project's research.

Musculoskeletal Spinal Injuries to Soldiers.—The Committee is aware that musculoskeletal spinal injuries are double those of combat injuries and have increased tenfold in the last 4 years. The Committee understands that the Department has searched for ways to improve the treatment of musculoskeletal injuries, by creating teams of specialists to serve with infantry brigades in combat areas, and also increasing the use of chiropractic care and other alternative treatment regimens. The Committee encourages the Department to expand the utilization of alternative medical treatment options such as chiropractic healthcare services at military treatment facilities to help mitigate these injuries.

Hemostatic Agents.—The Committee is aware that recent Department of Defense efforts to develop flexible battlefield, field hospital, and military hospital hemostatic agents have shown significant progress in helping address combat injuries. Such agents are particularly important when targeting soft tissue wounds given they are easy to apply, allow for precise and targeted application, achieve hemostasis quickly, and do not have to be immediately removed once applied. The Committee encourages the Department to continue the development of such life-saving technologies and to accelerate the fielding of these efforts for deployment, if possible.

Hearing Conservation.—The Committee is encouraged by the successes that the Army Hearing Program [AHP] has had in protecting the hearing of our men and women in uniform. The Committee recognizes that the AHP shifts from traditional hearing conservation programs and puts readiness at the forefront. The AHP includes clinical hearing services, hearing readiness services, operational hearing services, hearing conservation, and developing materiel solutions. As a result, the Army is on a path to eradicate noise-induced hearing loss. The Committee encourages the Department of Defense to implement the core fundamentals of the AHP across each of the services. In addition, the services are encouraged to procure only that hearing protection equipment which has been qualified by service laboratories and does not impact a servicemember's combat effectiveness or readiness.

Integrated Electronic Health Record.—The Committee is encouraged by the agreement between the Department of Defense and the Department of Veterans Affairs to implement a joint electronic health record. The level of communication and integration envisioned by the two Departments has the potential to revolutionize the way healthcare is delivered to servicemembers and veterans and dramatically improve the seamless transition process. The Committee has directed the Departments to work together on this effort for several years and urges the Departments to work as expeditiously as possible to execute the joint electronic health record as detailed in the May 2, 2011 Memorandum signed by Secretary Gates and Secretary Shinseki.

Integrated Electronic Health Record Budget.—The Committee has provided $444,800,000 for the Integrated Health Record [iEHR], which is equal to the budget request. The $444,800,000 consists of $124,900,000 in operation and maintenance, $86,700,000 in research, development, test and evaluation, and $233,200,000 in procurement. The Committee has repeatedly asked for the details and justification behind this request, and to date has received very little information from the Department, limiting our ability to properly validate the budget request. The Committee notes that this budget request was developed prior to an agreement with the Department of Veterans Affairs on developing a joint iEHR and that the details behind initial estimates have now changed. Therefore, the Department shall provide written notification to the Committees on Appropriations of the House and the Senate prior to obligating any contract or combination of contracts in excess of $5,000,000 as part of this $444,800,000.

Health Information Technologies.—The Committee believes that clinical decision support technologies that leverage and engage the patient or service member have significant potential to increase the quality of medical care and decrease medical costs. The Committee directs the Department of Defense and Department of Veterans Affairs Integrated Program Office [IPO] to examine the possibility of utilizing Web-based health information technologies designed to engage the patient and the service provider to assure that evidence-based decision support can help predict resources and prospectively prepare investigations of syndromic problems and epidemiologic needs. The Committee directs the IPO to report to the Committees on Appropriations of the House and the Senate by January 20, 2012 on the results of this review and the possibility of integrating it into the Integrated Electronic Health Record.

Uniformed Services Family Health Plan.—The Committee understands that the Uniformed Services Family Health Plan [USFHP] providers are working with the TRICARE Management Activity [TMA] to explore changes to the current business model to ensure the future viability of the USFHP. The Committee supports these efforts and encourages the USFHP providers and TMA to continue to explore options that will allow for continuing the provision of care through this successful program to military beneficiaries after consultation with the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services.

OVERVIEW

COMMITTEE RECOMMENDATION

The Committee recommends $117,466,000,000 of additional appropriations for Overseas Contingency Operations in fiscal year 2012. This funding will ensure that resources, equipment, and supplies are available for our servicemembers without interruption, and will enable the Department to avoid absorbing operational costs from within baseline programs that are critical to future readiness and home-station activities.

REPORTING REQUIREMENTS

The Committee directs that the Department continue to report incremental contingency operations costs for Operation New Dawn and Operation Enduring Freedom on a monthly basis in the Cost of War Execution report as required by Department of Defense Financial Management Regulation, chapter 23, volume 12. The Committee further directs the Department to continue providing the Cost of War reports to the congressional defense committees that include the following information by appropriation: funding appropriated, funding allocated, monthly obligations, monthly disbursements, cumulative fiscal year obligations, and cumulative fiscal year disbursements.

The Committee expects that in order to meet unanticipated requirements, the Department of Defense may need to transfer funds within these appropriations accounts for purposes other than those specified in this report. The Committee directs the Department of Defense to follow normal prior approval reprogramming procedures should it be necessary to transfer funding between different appropriations accounts in this title.

MILITARY PERSONNEL

The Committee recommends a total of $11,657,252,000 for pay, allowances, and other personnel costs for Active, Reserve, and Guard troops activated for duty in Iraq, Afghanistan, and other contingency operations. This recommendation includes funding for subsistence, permanent change of station travel, and special pays including imminent danger pay, family separation allowance, and hardship duty pay.

OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE

The Committee recommends $90,546,851,000 for the operation and maintenance accounts. These funds are available to fund overseas deployments and other activities by the services and Special Operations Forces to include financing flying hours, ship steaming days, ground operations, special airlift missions, increased ship and aircraft maintenance, logistics support, fuel purchases, base support, civilian personnel, personnel support costs, overseas transportation, communications support, facility management, and other operation and maintenance requirements.

Wireless Internet Usage for Deployed Troops.—The Committee notes that troops deployed to combat zones at remote locations may not have adequate Internet connectivity to their families without incurring additional expense. The Committee has been informed that at most locations, the service member must pay for Internet service if they use it within their billeting facility. The Services are to be commended for providing Internet capabilities at common usage locations at most camps, but the ability of deployed service members to connect to their families via the Internet in the privacy of their billeting facility is limited and may impact morale. Therefore, the Committee directs the Department of Defense to report to the congressional defense committees on the ability and appropriateness of providing wireless Internet service at no charge to service members in private billeting facilities, and providing wireless Internet at all remote combat locations greater than 300 personnel. In addition, the report should detail any security concerns associated with providing additional wireless Internet connectivity to these additional locations. The Committee directs that this report be delivered not later than 120 days after enactment of this act.

PROCUREMENT

The Committee recommends $15,518,701,000 for the procurement accounts. The Overseas Contingency Operations funding supports our forces engaged in Operation Enduring Freedom and Operation New Dawn. The Committee has provided funding to replace combat losses and equipment left behind in theater, augment and upgrade equipment for deploying units, sustain munitions and other war consumables, and reset the units returning home to an equipment-ready status. Funding adjustments have been made in instances where the requirement was poorly defined, funding was requested ahead of need or program execution has been delayed.

Kiowa Warrior.—The budget request includes $145,500,000 to replace 13 OH-58D aircraft. In order to address battle losses on an airframe that is no longer in production, the Army has initiated an effort to rehabilitate OH-58A airframes and upgrade them into the modernized OH-58D configuration. These upgrades will cost over $10,000,000 per aircraft. As discussed in the Research, Development, Test & Evaluation, Army section of this report, the cost of constructing wartime replacement aircraft and upgrading existing airframes is close to or exceeds the cost of buying new aircraft. The Committee questions whether this is a wise acquisition strategy and remains concerned about the Army's long term strategy to replace the Kiowa Warrior. For this reason, the Committee recommends a reduction of four aircraft which will maintain production at fiscal year 2011 levels and urges the Army to define the way ahead for the Armed Scout requirement.

Unobligated Balances.—Since 1981, the Committee has recommended support to the Reserve components by addressing equipment shortfalls through the National Guard and Reserve Equipment Account [NGREA]. The Committee understands how vital NGREA funding has been for filling the substantial backlog of equipment needs. Last year, the Committee expressed concern that several of the Reserve components had a sizable amount of unobligated funds from past fiscal years. The Committee notes that the Army Reserve, Army National Guard, and Air National Guard have all improved their NGREA obligation rates and brought them in line with Department-wide procurement standards. The Committee remains concerned about the obligation rates for the Navy Reserve, Marine Corps Reserve, and Air Force Reserve and encourages these components to continue working to improve management of this account.

High-Priority Items.—The Committee directs that the National Guard and Reserve Equipment Account shall be executed by the heads of the Guard and Reserve components with priority consideration given to the following items: AB-FIST Gunnery Trainer Upgrades; Active Noise Cancellation Systems for ANG C-130; ANG Block 42 F-16 Engine Upgrades; ARC 210 Radios for ANG F-16s; Batteries and Battery Support Equipment; Bradley Modifications; C-130 Loadmaster Lookout Windows and Crashworthy Loadmaster Seats; C-130 Secure Line of Sight and Beyond Line of Sight Capability; CH-47 Door Gun Mounts; Chemical/Biological Protective Shelter; Combined Arms Virtual Trainers; Command Posts—Tactical Operations Center and Standardized Integrated Command Post System; Communications Aerial Platforms; External Fuel Tanks; F-15 Active Electronically Scanned Array Radar; General Engineering Equipment; HC-130 Integrated EW Suite (ALQ-213) with VECTS; Helicopter Firefighting Equipment; Helmet Mounted Cueing Systems; HMMWV Ambulance; Homeland Defense Communications Equipment; Integrated Vehicle Health Management Systems; Joint Threat Emitters; Large Aircraft Infrared Countermeasures; Light Utility Helicopters; LITENING Upgrades; MRAP Vehicle Virtual Trainers; Personal Protective Equipment and Weapons; SATCOM Ground Stations; Security Force Mobility Bag Upgrades; Self-Contained Live Fire Shooting Ranges; Shadow Tactical Unmanned Aircraft System; Tactical Communications Equipment; Thermal Imaging Systems; Unit Maintenance Aerial Recovery Kits; Virtual Convoy Operations Trainers; Virtual Door Gunner Trainers; and Wideband Imagery Dissemination.

Joint Improvised Explosive Device Defeat Organization.—The Joint Improvised Explosive Device Defeat Organization [JIEDDO] continues to play a critically vital mission in protecting our troops from improvised explosive devices. The Committee recommends funding JIEDDO in title IX. The Committee continues to believe that these requirements are war-related and should be funded through Overseas Contingency Operations funding.

The Committee directs JIEDDO to submit to the congressional defense committees monthly commitment, obligation, and expenditure data by line of operation and by year of appropriation. Further, the Committee directs JIEDDO to submit to the congressional defense committees monthly reports of obligation data on a project by project basis by line of operation. The Committee also continues to direct JIEDDO to follow standard reprogramming procedures when transferring a cumulative amount of $20,000,000 or more between lines of operation.

Workforce Requirements.—The Committee remains concerned over the heavy reliance on contractors for workforce requirements at the Joint Improvised Explosive Device Defeat Organization [JIEDDO] and believes cost saving are achievable if JIEDDO expedites the conversion of certain contractor positions to Government civilians. The Department of Defense has directed similar initiatives throughout the Department as part of its efficiency review. Therefore, the Committee directs JIEDDO to take such action. The Committee notes that the accurate funding level for staff and infrastructure at JIEDDO for fiscal year 2012 is $652,834,000 as opposed to the $220,634,000 requested for the Staff and Infrastructure Line of Operation [LOO]. JIEDDO has been accounting for staff and infrastructure requirements in all four LOOs rather than properly accounting for it under the Staff and Infrastructure LOO, thus limiting Congress and the Department's ability to accurately analyze staff and infrastructure requirements. The Committee recommends aligning these funds properly and directs the Department of Defense to request all staff and infrastructure requirements in the Staff and Infrastructure LOO in all future budget submissions. The Committee further directs the Department to perform a thorough review of these requirements to see if additional efficiencies can be gained.

Science and Technology Projects.—The Committee does not believe JIEDDO should be doing basic science and technology research and recommends no funding for these efforts. The Committee believes that JIEDDO's mission is to initiate projects that can be fielded to the troops within 24 months time and the longer term science and technology investments should be done by the Service labs or by the Defense Advanced Research Project Agency [DARPA]. The Department of Defense should ensure that the DARPA and the services are addressing improvised explosive device requirements in the projects they initiate and coordinate those efforts with JIEDDO.

Improvised Explosive Device [IED] Dog Training.—The Committee is aware that improvised explosive device [IED] detection by canine detection dogs continues to be one of the most successful initiatives in combating IEDs in Afghanistan. The Committee understands that JIEDDO is focusing on breeding and training programs to respond to the needs in theater, and is also developing improvements to those programs that can respond to the changing IED environment. Therefore, the Committee urges JIEDDO to continue these efforts, but to also work with the Services to develop a plan to transition these efforts to the services for a sustained program in the future. In addition, the Committee encourages the Department of Defense to continue to dedicate research funding for canine detection.

Development of Sensors for Unmanned Aerial Vehicles.—The Committee is aware of a number of efforts by the Joint Improvised Explosive Device Defeat Organization [JIEDDO] to develop specialized sensors for use on unmanned aerial vehicles [UAVs]. In some cases, the deployment of these sensors has been linked to the acquisition of specialized, non-program of record UAVs.

The Committee is concerned that JIEDDO's acquisition of exquisite, non-standard UAVs diverts resources from other worthy programs, especially considering the vast and expanding inventory of government owned, operated, and maintained UAV systems. In addition, many of these unique systems have not been tested in theater, therefore extending the timeframe for deploying these sensors. The Committee believes that JIEDDO and the Department of Defense should work with industry to produce innovative sensors with such form, fit, and function that would leverage the billions of dollars that have been spent by the military Services on UAV programs of record.
