

Jackie Harris

Jackie Harris currently serves as the Policy Director to West Virginia Secretary of State Natalie E. Tennant where she is responsible for legislative development and advocacy. She started her elections career as an Assistant Registrar in Albemarle County, Virginia in 1990. She later served as General Registrar of Albemarle County before being appointed to the position of Fairfax County, Virginia General Registrar in 2005. After leaving Fairfax, she spent two years providing election consulting to state and local governments, including the Virginia State Board of Elections. She has guest lectured at several colleges and universities and has provided testimony to the US Committee on House Administration. Jackie has twice served as an international elections observer in Kabul and Bamyan, Afghanistan. She received her CERA certification from the Election Center in 2008. Jackie is the mother of five and grandmother of two and currently resides in Charleston, West Virginia.