eAccess

The Court offers public online access to opinions, orders, decisions, and docket sheets. The general public may access these types of documents electronically through the Docket Inquiry and Opinion Search features on the Court's Web site. The Court also provides full public access to its records at the Clerk's Office during regular business hours.

As provided by Rule 27(b)(1) of the Tax Court Rules of Practice and Procedure, the Court has developed an electronic access (eAccess) system allowing petitioners, intervenors, and certain other participants (referred to here as "petitioners") and persons admitted to practice before the Tax Court (referred to here as "practitioners") in Tax Court cases to electronically view documents in their case or cases. The eAccess system has two components--the Petitioner Access and the Practitioner Access--through which petitioners and practitioners may register for online access to information and documents.

The Tax Court does not impose user fees or charge to view, save, or print documents. Each registered party may electronically view each document three times through eAccess. For example, a husband and wife who jointly file a pro se petition and register individually for eAccess would each have three views of all documents in their case. If twelve attorneys who are registered as practitioners in eAccess file a petition or enter appearances on behalf of a petitioner, such as an individual, business, or estate, all would share three views of each document in the case. Further, a petitioner who is represented by a practitioner may register with eAccess, but he and his practitioner would share three views of each document. Registered attorneys representing respondent would also share three views of each document in a case.

After a party has viewed a document three times through eAccess, the document is no longer accessible to that party through eAccess. A document may be saved or printed, however, each time it is viewed through eAccess, and parties are encouraged to do so. Documents available to the public through Docket Inquiry or Opinions Search--opinions, orders, and decisions--may be viewed an unlimited number of times.

For further details on the eAccess service, please consult the eAccess Guide for Petitioners and Practitioners.

*Registration Information:

The Court mails self-represented (pro se) petitioners a Notice of Receipt of Petition upon the filing of a case. For cases filed on or after <DATE>, registration instructions are included with the Notice. Pro se petitioners who started a case after March 1, 2008, but before <DATE>, may obtain registration instructions by sending a letter to the Clerk of the Court or completing the online Petitioner Access Registration Request Form. Petitioners represented by a practitioner may also request instructions and register to use the Petitioner Access, but they should first consult their representative. Petitioners should include the docket numbers assigned to them on all correspondence.

The Court's Admissions Section mails newly admitted practitioners the registration instructions in their Certificates of Admission package. Unregistered practitioners may request registration instructions by contacting the Admissions Section.

The screenshot shows the registration page for Petitioner Access on the United States Tax Court website. The page header includes the court's name and a navigation menu with links such as 'About the Court', 'Today's Opinions', 'Opinions Search', 'Docket Inquiry', 'Final Status Report', 'eAccess', 'Forms', and 'Judges'. Below the header, the page title is 'Petitioner Access - Required Information' and the date is 'Wednesday, September 3, 2008'. The main content area features a form for registration. The form includes a text box for the party name, which is filled with 'Samuel Goodwin'. Below this, there is a section titled 'Please enter the following information:' with instructions that the user name will be the email address. The form contains four required fields: 'Email Address' (filled with 'sgoodwin@demo.com'), 'Confirm Email Address' (filled with 'sgoodwin@demo.com'), 'New Password' (filled with eight dots), and 'Confirm New Password' (filled with eight dots). A legend indicates that an asterisk (*) denotes a required field. At the bottom of the form are 'Submit' and 'Clear' buttons. The footer of the page contains copyright information for Blackstone and CMC Software, and contact information for the Webmaster and the Office of the Clerk of the Court.

4. Complete the form by typing a user name (your e-mail address) and a new password:
 - The e-mail address you enter will be used to complete the registration process and will be your Petitioner Access User Name so it must be valid. Type the same address in the “Confirm Email Address” box.
 - The password must be at least 8 characters in length. The password is case-sensitive and must contain both letters and numbers. No symbols (* # _ -) or punctuation (? ; ; .) are allowed.

When complete, click “Submit”.

Petitioner Access - Terms of Use

The screenshot displays a web browser window titled "USTC Practitioner Access - Windows Internet Explorer". The browser shows the United States Tax Court's Terms of Use page. The page header includes the court's name and contact information: "United States Tax Court, 400 Second Street, NW, Washington, DC 20217 Telephone: (202) 521-0700". The main heading is "TERMS OF USE".

The text on the page reads:

Acceptance of the Terms of Use constitutes an agreement to abide by all Court Rules, policies, and procedures governing the use of the Court's electronic access and filing system. Individuals who have consented to receive electronic service pursuant to Rule 21(b)(1) via the Court's electronic filing system, agree to check regularly their e-mail for notices of filing. The combination of User ID and password will serve as the signature of the individual filing the documents. Individuals must protect the security of their passwords and immediately notify the Court if they learn that their password has been compromised. In that event, they must apply for a new password. The Terms of Use can be changed at any time without notice.

Acknowledgment of Policies and Procedures

I understand that:

- I must provide accurate and complete information in registering for electronic access and filing. I will promptly notify the Court of any changes to that information.
- Registration is for my use only, and I am responsible for preventing unauthorized use of my User ID and password. If I believe there has been unauthorized use, I must notify the Court by completing and submitting the online eAccess Support form.

The United States Tax Court reserves the right to:

- Deny or suspend access or filing privileges to any individual if any part of the information provided to the Court as part of the registration process is fraudulent. Information may be turned over to law enforcement authorities.
- Suspend or reduce access or filing privileges to any individual whose usage causes an unacceptable level of congestion or a disruption to the operations of the Court or another registered individual.
- Suspend access or filing privileges at any time the Court determines the action is necessary to prevent fraud or maintain the security of its computer systems and networks.
- Terminate access or filing privileges that, in the judgment of Tax Court personnel, are being misused. Misuse includes, but is not limited to, using an automated process to access repeatedly docket records for purposes of collecting case information.

At the bottom of the window, there are two buttons: "Print Window" and "Close Window".

You must agree to the TOU before you are allowed to view documents. To print the TOU, click the blue "Print Window" text at the bottom of the window.

You may view the TOU at any time by clicking the "Click here to view our Terms Of Use" hyperlink near the bottom of each Petitioner Access screen.

To contact the Webmaster for technical issues or problems with the Web site, send an e-mail to webmaster@ustaxcourt.gov. For your information, no documents can be filed with the Court at this or any other e-mail address. For all non-technical questions, including procedural, case-related, or general questions about the Court, you must contact the Office of the Clerk of the Court at (202) 521-0700 or by postal mail at U.S. Tax Court, 400 Second Street, N.W., Washington, DC 20217, Attention: Office of the Clerk of the Court.

After successfully registering or logging into Petitioner Access, you will see a list of your “open” cases.

Clicking the blue docket number will display the docket sheet for that case. You can view the docket information for other cases not displayed in the list by (1) clicking on the “Case Entry” link to search by a case number; (2) clicking on the “Party Search” link to search by party name; or (3) clicking on the “Corporate Search” link to search by corporate name.

Petitioner Access - Logging On After Registration is Complete

The screenshot shows the United States Tax Court website's login page. At the top, there is a navigation menu with links for 'About the Court', 'Today's Opinions', 'Opinions Search', 'Docket Inquiry', 'Final Status Report', 'eAccess', 'Forms', and 'Judges'. Below this is a secondary menu with 'Rules', 'Press Releases', 'Telephone Numbers', 'Fees/Charges', 'Taxpayer Information', 'Clinics/Student Practice/Pro Bono', 'Employment', and 'Help'. A banner below the menu provides the court's address and telephone number: 'United States Tax Court, 400 Second Street, NW, Washington, DC 20217 Telephone: (202) 521-0700'. The page indicates the user is on the 'Petitioner Access - Logon Name' page as of Wednesday, September 3, 2008. A link for more information is provided: 'For more information or for assistance with registration, please click here'. The main heading is 'Please enter your user name:'. A form field for 'User Name' contains 'sgoodwin@demo.com'. Below the field, there is a red asterisk indicating a required field and a link for 'forgot your user name?'. There are 'Submit' and 'Clear' buttons. At the bottom, there is a footer with the text: 'Generated by Blackstone ... The Judicial System © 2008 All Rights Reserved, CMC Software'. A contact information paragraph is also present at the bottom of the page.

To contact the Webmaster for technical issues or problems with the Web site, send an e-mail to webmaster@ustaxcourt.gov. For your information, no documents can be filed with the Court at this or any other e-mail address. For all non-technical questions, including procedural, case-related, or general questions about the Court, you must contact the Office of the Clerk of the Court at (202) 521-0700 or by postal mail at U.S. Tax Court, 400 Second Street, N.W., Washington, DC 20217, Attention: Office of the Clerk of the Court.

Open your Web browser, such as Microsoft Internet Explorer, and browse to the Court's eAccess Web page, http://www.ustaxcourt.gov/electronic_access.htm. Click on the button labeled "Petitioner Access" near the bottom-right corner of the page. Log into Petitioner Access by typing the User Name you created during registration which is your e-mail address, then clicking on the "Submit" button.

Petitioner Access - Answering the Security Question

The screenshot shows the United States Tax Court website interface. At the top, there is a navigation menu with links: About the Court, Today's Opinions, Opinions Search, Docket Inquiry, Final Status Report, eAccess, Forms, and Judges. Below this is a secondary menu: Rules, Press Releases, Telephone Numbers, Fees/Charges, Taxpayer Information, Clinics/Student Practice/Pro Bono, Employment, and Help. The main header displays the court's name and address: "United States Tax Court, 400 Second Street, NW, Washington, DC 20217 Telephone: (202) 521-0700". A breadcrumb trail indicates the user is at "Home » Petitioner Access - Logon Question". The date "Friday, September 5, 2008" is shown in the top right. The main content area asks "What is your favorite color?" with a text input field containing "blue". A checkbox option is available: "Check this box to not ask this question on this computer for future logons." Below the input field are "Submit" and "Clear" buttons. The footer contains the text: "Generated by Blackstone ... The Judicial System © 2008 All Rights Reserved, CMC Software" and contact information for the Webmaster and Clerk of the Court.

Type the answer to your security question exactly as you typed it during registration. For example, if you selected the “Where were you born” question and typed “New York, NY” as the answer, you would not be able to log in if you typed “New York”, “new york, ny” or “New York, N.Y.” Click the “Submit” button.

For security purposes, you cannot log into Petitioner Access without correctly answering the question. If you cannot gain access, you will need to re-register with the original User Name and Password the Court sent you.

If you do not want to answer the security question for each subsequent log in on the current computer, you may click in the check box below the security answer block.

In addition to information on parties, participants, and practitioners in the case, the docket sheet contains the Case Index--a list of all filings and proceedings. Docket records are updated Monday through Friday at 6:00 p.m. Eastern Time.

- To view party, participant, and attorney information, click the "Go to" or the "Case Parties" hyperlinks below the docket number.
- Click the "View/Print Docket Sheet" button to open a printer friendly version.
- For cases commenced after March 1, 2008, the "Document" column contains a "View" hyperlink and the number of pages of the filed document. To view a document, click the hyperlink. For example, to view the Answer, index entry no. 0005, in the picture above, click the "View 36" hyperlink. Documents are in portable document format (PDF) and require Adobe Acrobat Reader or equivalent to view them.

Each document may be electronically viewed three times. If you are represented by counsel, you and your representative will share three views of each document, after which neither of you will be able to access the document through eAccess. A document may be saved or printed, however, each time it is viewed, and you are encouraged to do so. Documents available to the public through Docket Inquiry or Opinions Search--opinions, orders, and decisions--may be viewed an unlimited number of times.
