2012 PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE SENTENCING GUIDELINES, POLICY STATEMENTS, AND OFFICIAL COMMENTARY

1. PROPOSED AMENDMENT: DODD-FRANK/FRAUD

Synopsis of Proposed Amendment: This proposed amendment is a multi-part amendment that continues the Commission's multi-year review of fraud offenses to ensure that the guidelines provide appropriate penalties (1) in cases involving securities fraud and similar offenses and (2) in cases involving mortgage fraud and financial institution fraud.

Specifically, the proposed amendment implements the two directives to the Commission in the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act, Pub. L. 111–203 (the "Act"). The first directive relates to securities fraud and similar offenses, and the second directive relates to mortgage fraud and financial institution fraud.

Each directive requires the Commission to "review and, if appropriate, amend" the guidelines and policy statements applicable to the offenses covered by the directive and consider whether the guidelines appropriately account for the potential and actual harm to the public and the financial markets from those offenses. Each directive also requires the Commission to ensure that the guidelines reflect (i) the serious nature of the offenses, (ii) the need for deterrence, punishment, and prevention, and (iii) the effectiveness of incarceration in furthering those objectives.

Part A responds to the issue of harm to financial markets, which is raised by both directives; Part B responds to the directive on securities fraud and similar offenses; and Part C responds to the directive on mortgage fraud and financial institution fraud.

The proposed amendment also includes a Part D, which responds to concerns suggesting that the impact of the loss table or the victims table (or the combined impact of the loss table and the victims table) may overstate the culpability of certain offenders in cases sentenced under §2B1.1 that involve relatively large loss amounts.

(A) Harm to Financial Markets

Issue for Comment:

1. The Commission requests comment on whether the Guidelines Manual provides penalties that appropriately account for the potential and actual harm to the public and the financial markets from the offenses covered by the directives. If not, what changes to the Guidelines Manual would be appropriate to respond to this requirement in both directives?

Section 2B1.1 contains provisions that address harm to the public and the financial markets in various ways, by taking into account the amount of the loss, the number of victims, and other factors contained in its specific offense characteristics and departure provisions. For example, subsection (b)(14) provides an enhancement of either (A) 2 levels, if the defendant derived more than $1,000,000 in gross receipts from one or more financial institutions, or (B) 4 levels, if the offense (i) substantially jeopardized the safety and soundness of a financial institution, (ii) substantially endangered the solvency or financial security of an organization that (I) was a publicly traded company or (II) had 1,000 or more employees, or (iii) substantially endangered the solvency or financial security of 100 or more victims. Subsection (b)(14)(C) provides that the cumulative adjustments from (b)(2) and (b)(14)(B) shall not exceed 8 levels, except as provided in subdivision (D). Subdivision (D) provides a minimum offense level of level 24, if either (A) or (B) applies.

Should the Commission amend §2B1.1 to more directly account for the potential and actual harms to the public and the financial markets? For example, should the Commission provide a new prong in §2B1.1(b)(14) that provides an enhancement of [2][4][6] levels if the offense involved a significant disruption of a financial market or created a substantial risk of such a disruption? In the alternative, should the Commission provide a new upward departure provision in §2B1.1 that applies if the offense involved such a disruption or created a substantial risk of such a disruption?

If the Commission were to provide such a provision, what guidance should the Commission provide for determining when the provision would apply?

(B) Securities Fraud and Similar Offenses

Synopsis of Proposed Amendment: Section 1079A(a)(1)(A) of the Act directs the Commission to "review and, if appropriate, amend" the guidelines and policy statements applicable to "persons convicted of offenses relating to securities fraud or any other similar provision of law, in order to reflect the intent of Congress that penalties for the offenses under the guidelines and policy statements appropriately account for the potential and actual harm to the public and the financial markets from the offenses."

In addition, section 1079A(a)(1)(B) of the Act provides that, in promulgating any such amendment, the Commission shall—

- (i) ensure that the guidelines and policy statements, particularly section 2B1.1(b)(14) and section 2B1.1(b)(17) (and any successors thereto), reflect—
  - (I) the serious nature of the offenses described in subparagraph (A);*
  - (II) the need for an effective deterrent and appropriate punishment to prevent the offenses; and*
  - (III) the effectiveness of incarceration in furthering the objectives described in subclauses (I) and (II);
- (ii) consider the extent to which the guidelines appropriately account for the potential and actual harm to the public and the financial markets resulting from the offenses;*
- (iii) ensure reasonable consistency with other relevant directives and guidelines and Federal statutes;*
- (iv) make any necessary conforming changes to guidelines; and*

- (v) ensure that the guidelines adequately meet the purposes of sentencing, as set forth in section 3553(a)(2) of title 18, United States Code.

Securities fraud is prosecuted under 18 U.S.C. § 1348 (Securities and commodities fraud), which makes it unlawful to knowingly execute, or attempt to execute, a scheme or artifice (1) to defraud any person in connection with a security or (2) to obtain, by means of false or fraudulent pretenses, representations, or promises, any money or property in connection with the purchase or sale of a security. The statutory maximum term of imprisonment for an offense under section 1348 is 25 years. Offenses under section 1348 are referenced in Appendix A (Statutory Index) to §2B1.1.

Securities fraud is also prosecuted under 18 U.S.C. § 1350 (Failure of corporate officers to certify financial reports), violations of the provisions of law referred to in 15 U.S.C. § 78c(a)(47), and violations of the rules, regulations, and orders issued by the Securities and Exchange Commission pursuant to those provisions of law. See §2B1.1, comment. (n.14(A)). In addition, there are cases in which the defendant committed a securities law violation but is prosecuted under a general fraud statute. In general, these offenses are likewise referenced to §2B1.1.

The directive contemplates that the Commission also review offenses "under any other similar provision of law". The Commission has received comment indicating that commodities fraud offenses and insider trading offenses should be included within the scope of its review.

The proposed amendment responds to the directive by amending the insider trading guideline, §2B1.4 (Insider Trading), in several ways.

First, it provides a specific offense characteristic that applies if the offense involved sophisticated insider trading. The specific offense characteristic provides an enhancement of [2] levels and a minimum offense level of [12][14].

Second, it provides a 4-level enhancement that applies if the defendant, at the time of the offense, held one of several listed positions of trust. This enhancement parallels the enhancement in §2B1.1(b)(18).

Issues for comment are also provided, both on insider trading offenses under §2B1.4 and on securities fraud and similar offenses under §2B1.1.

Proposed Amendment:

§2B1.4. Insider Trading

- (a) Base Offense Level: 8
- (b) Specific Offense Characteristics
  - (1) If the gain resulting from the offense exceeded $5,000, increase by the number of levels from the table in §2B1.1 (Theft, Property Destruction, and Fraud) corresponding to that amount.
  - (2) If the offense involved sophisticated insider trading, increase by 2 levels.

If the resulting offense level is less than level [12][14], increase to level [12][14].

(3) If, at the time of the offense, the defendant was—

(A) (i) an officer or a director of a publicly traded company; (ii) a registered broker or dealer, or a person associated with a broker or dealer; or (iii) an investment adviser, or a person associated with an investment adviser; or

(B) (i) an officer or a director of a futures commission merchant or an introducing broker; (ii) a commodities trading advisor; or (iii) a commodity pool operator, increase by 4 levels.

Commentary

Statutory Provisions: 15 U.S.C. § 78j and 17 C.F.R. § 240.10b-5. For additional statutory provision(s), see Appendix A (Statutory Index).

Application Notes:

1. Application of Subsection (b)(2).—For purposes of subsection (b)(2), "sophisticated insider trading" means especially complex or intricate offense conduct pertaining to the execution or concealment of the offense.

The following is a non-exhaustive list of factors that the court shall consider in determining whether subsection (b)(2) applies:

(A) the number of transactions;

(B) the dollar value of the transactions;

(C) the number of securities involved;

(D) the duration of the offense;

(E) whether fictitious entities, corporate shells, or offshore financial accounts were used to hide transactions; and

(F) whether internal monitoring or auditing systems or compliance and ethics program standards or procedures were subverted in an effort to prevent the detection of the offense.

2. Application of Subsection (b)(3).—For purposes of subsection (b)(3):

"Commodity pool operator" has the meaning given that term in section 1a(5) of the Commodity Exchange Act (7 U.S.C. § 1a(5)).

"Commodity trading advisor" has the meaning given that term in section 1a(6) of the Commodity Exchange Act (7 U.S.C. § 1a(6)).

"Futures commission merchant" has the meaning given that term in section 1a(20) of the Commodity Exchange Act (7 U.S.C. § 1a(20)).

"Introducing broker" has the meaning given that term in section 1a(23) of the Commodity Exchange Act (7 U.S.C. § 1a(23)).

"Investment adviser" has the meaning given that term in section 202(a)(11) of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 (15 U.S.C. § 80b-2(a)(11)).

"Person associated with a broker or dealer" has the meaning given that term in section 3(a)(18) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (15 U.S.C. § 78c(a)(18)).

"Person associated with an investment adviser" has the meaning given that term in section 202(a)(17) of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 (15 U.S.C. § 80b-2(a)(17)).

"Registered broker or dealer" has the meaning given that term in section 3(a)(48) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (15 U.S.C. § 78c(a)(48)).

- †3. Application of §3B1.3. ~~If subsection (b)(3) applies, do not apply §3B1.3. In any other case, §3B1.3 Section 3B1.3 (Abuse of Position of Trust or Use of Special Skill) should be applied only if the defendant occupied and abused a position of special trust. Examples might include a corporate president or, such as an attorney who misused information regarding a planned but unannounced takeover attempt. It typically would not apply to an ordinary "tippee".~~

Background: This guideline applies to certain violations of Rule 10b-5 that are commonly referred to as "insider trading". Insider trading is treated essentially as a sophisticated fraud. Because the victims and their losses are difficult if not impossible to identify, the gain, i.e., the total increase in value realized through trading in securities by the defendant and persons acting in concert with the defendant or to whom the defendant provided inside information, is employed instead of the victims' losses.

Certain other offenses, e.g., 7 U.S.C. § 13(e), that involve misuse of inside information for personal gain also appropriately may be covered by this guideline.

Issues for Comment:

1. Insider Trading. The Commission has received public comment indicating that some insider trading defendants engage in serious offense conduct but nonetheless, because of market forces or other factors, do not necessarily realize high gains. The concern has been raised that in such cases, §2B1.4 may not adequately account for the seriousness of the conduct and the actual and potential harms to individuals and markets, because the guideline uses gain alone as the measure of harm.

Should the Commission provide in §2B1.4 one or more specific offense characteristics that use aggravating factors other than gain to account for the seriousness of the conduct and the actual or potential harm to individuals and markets? If so, what should the factor or factors be? For example, should the Commission provide, as an aggravating factor in §2B1.4, (i) the number of transactions; (ii) the dollar value of the transactions; (iii) the number of securities involved; or some other factor that distinguishes a defendant who engages in multiple instances or higher volumes of insider trading from a defendant who does not?

If the Commission were to provide one or more new specific offense characteristics based on such aggravating factors, what level or levels of enhancement should the Commission provide, and how should any such enhancement interact with the enhancement for gain in §2B1.4?

For example, in bid-rigging cases, the guidelines currently provide a "volume of commerce" enhancement in subsection (b)(2) of §2R1.1 (Bid-Rigging, Price-Fixing or Market-Allocation Agreements Among Competitors). That enhancement provides a tiered enhancement, ranging from 2 levels if the volume of commerce was more than $1,000,000, to 16 levels if the volume of commerce was more than $1,500,000,000. Should the Commission consider an analogous tiered enhancement (e.g., based on volume of trading) for insider trading cases in §2B1.4? If so, what guidance should the Commission provide on how the volume of trading is to be determined, what volumes of trading should be used for the tiered enhancement, and what levels of enhancement should apply to the various tiers?

Similarly, §2R1.1 provides a special instruction under which the fine for an organizational defendant is calculated based on 20 percent of the volume of commerce, rather than on the pecuniary loss. See §2R1.1(d)(1). Should the Commission consider an analogous approach for insider trading cases in §2B1.4? In particular, should the Commission provide a special rule under which the gain enhancement in §2B1.4(b)(1) would use either the gain or an amount equal to [20] percent of the volume of trading, whichever is greater?

2. Calculation of Loss in §2B1.1. The Commission has received comment indicating that determinations of loss in cases under §2B1.1 involving securities fraud and similar offenses are complex and a variety of different methods are in use, resulting in application issues and possible sentencing disparities. Should the Commission amend §2B1.1 to clarify the method or methods used in determining loss in such cases to ensure that the guideline appropriately accounts for the potential and actual harm to the public and the financial markets from those offenses?

For example, courts in cases involving securities fraud and similar offenses have used—

- (A) a simple rescissory method (under which loss is based upon the price that the victim paid for the security and the price of the security as it existed after the fraud was disclosed), see, e.g., United States v. Grabske, 260 F.Supp.2d 866, 872-73 (N.D. Cal. 2002);
- (B) a modified rescissory method (under which loss is based upon the average price of the security during the period that the fraud occurred and the average price of the security during a set period after the fraud was disclosed to the market), see, e.g., United States v. Brown, 595 F.3d 498 (3d Cir. 2010); United States v. Bakhit, 218 F.Supp.2d 1232 (C.D. Cal. 2002);

- (C) a market capitalization method (under which loss is based upon the price of the security shortly before the disclosure and the price of the security shortly after the disclosure), see, e.g., United States v. Moskowitz, 215 F.3d 265, 272 (2d Cir. 2000), abrogated on other grounds by Crawford v. Washington, 541 U.S. 36, 64 (2002); United States v. Peppel, 2011 WL 3608139 (S.D. Ohio 2011); and
- (D) a market-adjusted method (under which loss is based upon the change in value of the security, but excluding changes in value that were caused by external market forces), see, e.g., United States v. Rutkoske, 506 F.3d 170, 179 (2d Cir. 2007); United States v. Olis, 429 F.3d 540, 546 (5th Cir. 2005).

The Commission seeks comment on these four methods of calculating loss in cases involving securities fraud and similar offenses, and the relative advantages and disadvantages of these methods. The Commission also seeks comment on whether there are any other methods of calculating loss, other than these four methods, that should be used in such cases.

Should the Commission provide a specific method or methods for use by courts in determining loss in cases involving securities fraud and similar offenses? If so, which method or methods should the Commission provide? Should the method used depend on the type of fraudulent scheme, and if so, how?

In particular, two of the more common types of securities fraud are (1) investment fraud, in which victims are fraudulently induced to invest in companies or products related to securities (a category that includes Ponzi schemes); and (2) market or price manipulation fraud, in which the offender seeks to inflate the price of a security through various means (a category that includes so-called "pump and dump" schemes as well as accounting frauds). What method or methods of loss calculation should be used for investment fraud, and what method or methods should be used for market or price manipulation fraud? Are there any other types of securities fraud or similar offenses for which the Commission should provide a specific method or methods of loss calculation?

What changes, if any, should the Commission make to the existing rules for calculation of loss in cases involving securities fraud or similar offenses? For example, the calculation of loss in an investment fraud case is covered by Application Note 3(F)(iv) to §2B1.1, which provides:

Ponzi and Other Fraudulent Investment Schemes.—In a case involving a fraudulent investment scheme, such as a Ponzi scheme, loss shall not be reduced by the money or the value of the property transferred to any individual investor in the scheme in excess of that investor's principal investment (i.e., the gain to an individual investor in the scheme shall not be used to offset the loss to another individual investor in the scheme).

Should the Commission revise or repeal this application note and provide a different rule for investment fraud?

Should the Commission provide further guidance regarding the causation standard to be applied in calculating loss in cases involving securities fraud or similar offenses? For example, should the Commission provide a loss causation standard similar to the civil loss causation standard articulated by the Supreme Court in Dura Pharmaceuticals, Inc. v. Broudo, 544 U.S. 336 (2005) (holding that a civil securities fraud plaintiff must prove that the plaintiff's economic loss was proximately caused by the defendant's misrepresentation (or other fraudulent conduct) as opposed to other independent market factors)?

Are there any other changes that the Commission should make regarding the determination of loss in cases involving securities fraud or similar offenses to ensure that the guidelines appropriately account for the potential and actual harm to the public and the financial markets from those offenses?

3. Specific Provisions in §2B1.1. The directive requires the Commission to consider, among other things, the enhancements at §2B1.1(b)(15) and (b)(18) (formerly (b)(14) and (b)(17), respectively). The Commission seeks comment on whether any changes should be made to either or both of these provisions in response to the directive. Should the Commission expand the scope or the amounts of the increases provided by subsection (b)(15) or (b)(18), or both, to ensure that the guidelines appropriately account for the potential and actual harm to the public and the financial markets? If so, how?

(C) Mortgage Fraud and Financial Institution Fraud

Synopsis of Proposed Amendment: This part of the proposed amendment responds to the directive in section 1079A(a)(2) of the Act, which relates to mortgage fraud and financial institution fraud.

Specifically, section 1079A(a)(2)(A) of the Act directs the Commission to "review and, if appropriate, amend" the guidelines and policy statements applicable to "persons convicted of fraud offenses relating to financial institutions or federally related mortgage loans and any other similar provisions of law, to reflect the intent of Congress that the penalties for the offenses under the guidelines and policy statements ensure appropriate terms of imprisonment for offenders involved in substantial bank frauds or other frauds relating to financial institutions."

In addition, section 1079A(a)(2)(B) of the Act provides that, in promulgating any such amendment, the Commission shall—

- (i) ensure that the guidelines and policy statements reflect—
  - (I) the serious nature of the offenses described in subparagraph (A);
  - (II) the need for an effective deterrent and appropriate punishment to prevent the offenses; and
  - (III) the effectiveness of incarceration in furthering the objectives described in subclauses (I) and (II);

- (ii) consider the extent to which the guidelines appropriately account for the potential and actual harm to the public and the financial markets resulting from the offenses;
- (iii) ensure reasonable consistency with other relevant directives and guidelines and Federal statutes;
- (iv) make any necessary conforming changes to guidelines; and
- (v) ensure that the guidelines adequately meet the purposes of sentencing, as set forth in section 3553(a)(2) of title 18, United States Code.

With regard to mortgage fraud, the proposed amendment makes two changes to Application Note 3 regarding calculation of loss. The first change addresses the credit against loss rule and states that, in the case of a fraud involving a mortgage loan in which the collateral has been disposed of at a foreclosure sale, use the amount recovered from the foreclosure sale.

The second change specifies that, in the case of a fraud involving a mortgage loan, reasonably foreseeable pecuniary harm includes the reasonably foreseeable administrative costs to the lending institution associated with foreclosing on the mortgaged property, provided that the lending institution exercised due diligence in the initiation, processing, and monitoring of the loan and the disposal of the collateral.

With regard to financial institution fraud more generally, the proposed amendment broadens the applicability of §2B1.1(b)(15)(B), which provides an enhancement of 4 levels if the offense involved specific types of financial harms (e.g., jeopardizing a financial institution or organization). Application Note 12 to §2B1.1 lists factors to be considered in determining whether to apply the enhancement in subsection (b)(15)(B) for jeopardizing a financial institution or organization. Currently, the court is directed to consider whether the financial institution or organization suffered one or more listed harms (such as becoming insolvent) as a result of the offense. The proposed amendment amends Note 12 to direct the court to consider whether one of the listed harms was likely to result from the offense but did not result from the offense because of federal government intervention.

Issues for comment are also provided.

Proposed Amendment:

§2B1.1. Larceny, Embezzlement, and Other Forms of Theft; Offenses Involving Stolen Property; Property Damage or Destruction; Fraud and Deceit; Forgery; Offenses Involving Altered or Counterfeit Instruments Other than Counterfeit Bearer Obligations of the United States

* * *

- (b) Specific Offense Characteristics
  - (1) If the loss exceeded $5,000, increase the offense level as follows:

Loss (Apply the Greatest)	Increase in Level
(A) $5,000 or less	no increase
(B) More than $5,000	add 2
(C) More than $10,000	add 4
(D) More than $30,000	add 6
(E) More than $70,000	add 8
(F) More than $120,000	add 10
(G) More than $200,000	add 12
(H) More than $400,000	add 14
(I) More than $1,000,000	add 16
(J) More than $2,500,000	add 18
(K) More than $7,000,000	add 20
(L) More than $20,000,000	add 22
(M) More than $50,000,000	add 24
(N) More than $100,000,000	add 26
(O) More than $200,000,000	add 28
(P) More than $400,000,000	add 30 .

* * *

(15) (Apply the greater) If—

- (A) the defendant derived more than $1,000,000 in gross receipts from one or more financial institutions as a result of the offense, increase by 2 levels; or
- (B) the offense (i) substantially jeopardized the safety and soundness of a financial institution; (ii) substantially endangered the solvency or financial security of an organization that, at any time during the offense, (I) was a publicly traded company; or

(II) had 1,000 or more employees; or (iii) substantially endangered the solvency or financial security of 100 or more victims, increase by 4 levels.
- (C) The cumulative adjustments from application of both subsections (b)(2) and (b)(15)(B) shall not exceed 8 levels, except as provided in subdivision (D).
- (D) If the resulting offense level determined under subdivision (A) or (B) is less than level 24, increase to level 24.

Application Notes:

* * *

3. Loss Under Subsection (b)(1).—This application note applies to the determination of loss under subsection (b)(1).

(A) General Rule.—Subject to the exclusions in subdivision (D), loss is the greater of actual loss or intended loss.

(i) Actual Loss.—"Actual loss" means the reasonably foreseeable pecuniary harm that resulted from the offense.

(ii) Intended Loss.—"Intended loss" (I) means the pecuniary harm that was intended to result from the offense; and (II) includes intended pecuniary harm that would have been impossible or unlikely to occur (e.g., as in a government sting operation, or an insurance fraud in which the claim exceeded the insured value).

(iii) Pecuniary Harm.—"Pecuniary harm" means harm that is monetary or that otherwise is readily measurable in money. Accordingly, pecuniary harm does not include emotional distress, harm to reputation, or other non-economic harm.

(iv) Reasonably Foreseeable Pecuniary Harm.—For purposes of this guideline, "reasonably foreseeable pecuniary harm" means pecuniary harm that the defendant knew or, under the circumstances, reasonably should have known, was a potential result of the offense.

(v) Rules of Construction in Certain Cases.—In the cases described in subdivisions (I) through (III), reasonably foreseeable pecuniary harm shall be considered to include the pecuniary harm specified for those cases as follows:

(I) Product Substitution Cases.—In the case of a product substitution offense, the reasonably foreseeable pecuniary harm includes the reasonably foreseeable costs of making substitute transactions and handling or disposing of the product delivered, or of retrofitting the product so that it can be used for its intended purpose, and the reasonably foreseeable costs of rectifying the actual or potential disruption to the victim's business operations caused by the product substitution.

(II) Procurement Fraud Cases.—In the case of a procurement fraud, such as a fraud affecting a defense contract award, reasonably foreseeable pecuniary harm includes the reasonably foreseeable administrative costs to the government and other participants of repeating or correcting the procurement action affected, plus any increased costs to procure the product or service involved that was reasonably foreseeable.

(III) Offenses Under 18 U.S.C. § 1030.—In the case of an offense under 18 U.S.C. § 1030, actual loss includes the following pecuniary harm, regardless of whether such pecuniary harm was reasonably foreseeable: any reasonable cost to any victim, including the cost of responding to an offense, conducting a damage assessment, and restoring the data, program, system, or information to its condition prior to the offense, and any revenue lost, cost incurred, or other damages incurred because of interruption of service.

(IV) Fraud Involving a Mortgage Loan.—In the case of a fraud involving a mortgage loan, the reasonably foreseeable pecuniary harm includes the reasonably foreseeable administrative costs to the lending institution associated with foreclosing on the mortgaged property, provided that the lending institution exercised due diligence in the initiation, processing, and monitoring of the loan and the disposal of the collateral.

(E) Credits Against Loss.—Loss shall be reduced by the following:

- (i) The money returned, and the fair market value of the property returned and the services rendered, by the defendant or other persons acting jointly with the defendant, to the victim before the offense was detected. The time of detection of the offense is the earlier of (I) the time the offense was discovered by a victim or government agency; or (II) the time the defendant knew or reasonably should have known that the offense was detected or about to be detected by a victim or government agency.
- (ii) In a case involving collateral pledged or otherwise provided by the defendant, the amount the victim has recovered at the time of sentencing from disposition of the collateral, or if the collateral has not been disposed of by that time, the fair market value of the collateral at the time of sentencing. In the case of a fraud involving a mortgage loan in which the collateral has been disposed of at a foreclosure sale, use the amount recovered from the foreclosure sale.

(F) Special Rules.—Notwithstanding subdivision (A), the following special rules shall be used to assist in determining loss in the cases indicated:

- (i) Stolen or Counterfeit Credit Cards and Access Devices; Purloined Numbers and Codes.—In a case involving any counterfeit access device or unauthorized access device, loss includes any unauthorized charges made with the counterfeit access device or unauthorized access device and shall be not less than $500 per access device. However, if the unauthorized access device is a means of telecommunications access that identifies a specific telecommunications instrument or telecommunications account (including an electronic serial number/mobile identification number (ESN/MIN) pair), and that means was only possessed, and not used, during the commission of the offense, loss shall be not less than $100 per unused means. For purposes of this subdivision, "counterfeit access device" and "unauthorized access device" have the meaning given those terms in Application Note 9(A).

- (ii) Government Benefits.—In a case involving government benefits (e.g., grants, loans, entitlement program payments), loss shall be considered to be not less than the value of the benefits obtained by unintended recipients or diverted to unintended uses, as the case may be. For example, if the defendant was the intended recipient of food stamps having a value of $100 but fraudulently received food stamps having a value of $150, loss is $50.
- (iii) Davis-Bacon Act Violations.—In a case involving a Davis-Bacon Act violation (i.e., a violation of 40 U.S.C. § 3142, criminally prosecuted under 18 U.S.C. § 1001), the value of the benefits shall be considered to be not less than the difference between the legally required wages and actual wages paid.
- (iv) Ponzi and Other Fraudulent Investment Schemes.—In a case involving a fraudulent investment scheme, such as a Ponzi scheme, loss shall not be reduced by the money or the value of the property transferred to any individual investor in the scheme in excess of that investor's principal investment (i.e., the gain to an individual investor in the scheme shall not be used to offset the loss to another individual investor in the scheme).
- (v) Certain Other Unlawful Misrepresentation Schemes.—In a case involving a scheme in which (I) services were fraudulently rendered to the victim by persons falsely posing as licensed professionals; (II) goods were falsely represented as approved by a governmental regulatory agency; or (III) goods for which regulatory approval by a government agency was required but not obtained, or was obtained by fraud, loss shall include the amount paid for the property, services or goods transferred, rendered, or misrepresented, with no credit provided for the value of those items or services.
- (vi) Value of Controlled Substances.—In a case involving controlled substances, loss is the estimated street value of the controlled substances.
- (vii) Value of Cultural Heritage Resources or Paleontological Resources.—In a case involving a cultural heritage resource or paleontological resource, loss attributable to that resource shall be determined in accordance with the rules for determining the "value of the resource" set forth in Application Note 2 of the Commentary to §2B1.5.
- (viii) Federal Health Care Offenses Involving Government Health Care Programs.—In a case in which the defendant is convicted of a Federal health care offense involving a Government health care program, the aggregate dollar amount of fraudulent bills submitted to the Government health care program shall constitute prima facie evidence of the amount of the intended loss, i.e., is evidence sufficient to establish the amount of the intended loss, if not rebutted.

12. Application of Subsection (b)(15)(B).—

(A) Application of Subsection (b)(15)(B)(i).—The following is a non-exhaustive list of factors that the court shall consider in determining whether, as a result of the offense, the safety and soundness of a financial institution was substantially jeopardized:

- (i) The financial institution became insolvent.
- (ii) The financial institution substantially reduced benefits to pensioners or insureds.
- (iii) The financial institution was unable on demand to refund fully any deposit, payment, or investment.
- (iv) The financial institution was so depleted of its assets as to be forced to merge with another institution in order to continue active operations.
- (v) One or more of the criteria in clauses (i) through (iv) was likely to result from the offense but did not result from the offense because of federal government intervention.

(B) Application of Subsection (b)(15)(B)(ii).—

- (i) Definition.—For purposes of this subsection, "organization" has the meaning given that term in Application Note 1 of §8A1.1 (Applicability of Chapter Eight).
- (ii) In General.—The following is a non-exhaustive list of factors that the court shall consider in determining whether, as a result of the offense, the solvency or financial security of an organization that was a publicly traded company or that had more than 1,000 employees was substantially endangered:
  - (I) The organization became insolvent or suffered a substantial reduction in the value of its assets.
  - (II) The organization filed for bankruptcy under Chapters 7, 11, or 13 of the Bankruptcy Code (title 11, United States Code).
  - (III) The organization suffered a substantial reduction in the value of its equity securities or the value of its employee retirement accounts.
  - (IV) The organization substantially reduced its workforce.
  - (V) The organization substantially reduced its employee pension benefits.

(VI) The liquidity of the equity securities of a publicly traded company was substantially endangered. For example, the company was delisted from its primary listing exchange, or trading of the company's securities was halted for more than one full trading day.

(VII) One or more of the criteria in subclauses (I) through (VI) was likely to result from the offense but did not result from the offense because of federal government intervention.

Issue for Comment:

1. The Commission requests comment regarding whether the Guidelines Manual provides penalties for mortgage fraud and financial institution fraud that appropriately account for the potential and actual harm to the public and the financial markets from these offenses and ensure appropriate terms of imprisonment for offenders involved in substantial bank frauds or other frauds relating to financial institutions and, if not, what changes to the Guidelines Manual would be appropriate to respond to section 1079A(a)(2) of the Act.

Bank fraud is prosecuted under 18 U.S.C. § 1344 (Bank fraud), which makes it unlawful to knowingly execute a scheme or artifice (1) to defraud a financial institution or (2) to obtain any of the property of a financial institution by means of false or fraudulent pretenses, representations, or promises. The statutory maximum term of imprisonment for an offense under section 1344 is 30 years. Offenses under section 1344 are referenced in Appendix A (Statutory Index) to §2B1.1. Other statutes relating to financial institution fraud or mortgage fraud include 18 U.S.C. §§ 215, 656, 657, 1005, 1006, 1010, 1014, 1029, and 1033. These offenses are likewise generally referenced to §2B1.1.

A. Proposed Provisions

The proposed amendment would make two changes regarding calculation of loss in mortgage fraud cases. The Commission invites comment on whether there are other issues involving loss in mortgage fraud cases that are not adequately accounted for in the guidelines and, if so, what changes should be made to how loss is calculated in mortgage fraud cases.

For example, the first change would specify that in the case of a fraud involving a mortgage loan in which the collateral was disposed of at a foreclosure sale, use the amount recovered from the foreclosure sale. Should the Commission provide an additional special rule for determining fair market value if the mortgaged property has not been disposed of by the time of sentencing? For example, should the Commission provide that, if the mortgaged property has not been disposed of by that time, the most recent tax assessment value of the mortgaged property shall constitute prima facie evidence of the fair market value, i.e., is evidence sufficient to establish the fair market value, if not rebutted?

The proposed amendment would also expand the scope of §2B1.1(b)(15) by amending the commentary to provide additional factors for the court to consider in determining whether one or more prongs of subsection (b)(15) apply. The Commission invites comment on whether it should make any further changes to subsection (b)(15), such as by expanding its scope or increasing its penalties, or both, to "ensure appropriate terms of imprisonment for offenders involved in substantial bank frauds or other frauds relating to financial institutions". If so, what changes to subsection (b)(15) should be made?

B. Mitigating Factors

Are there mitigating factors in cases involving mortgage fraud or financial fraud that are not adequately accounted for in the guidelines? If so, how should the Commission amend the Guidelines Manual to account for those mitigating factors?

(D) Impact of Loss and Victims Tables in Certain Cases

Issues for Comment:

1. The Commission has observed that cases sentenced under §2B1.1 involving relatively large loss amounts have relatively high rates of below-range sentences (both government sponsored and non-government sponsored), particularly in the context of securities fraud and similar offenses. The Commission also has received public comment and reviewed judicial opinions suggesting that the impact of the loss table or the victims table (or the combined impact of the loss table and the victims table) may overstate the culpability of certain offenders in such cases.

In response to these concerns, the Commission is studying whether it should limit the impact of the loss table or the victims table (or both) in cases sentenced under §2B1.1 involving relatively large loss amounts and, if so, how it should limit the impact.

In particular, the Commission seeks comment on whether one or more of the following approaches should be adopted:

- (A) Limiting Impact of Loss Table if the Defendant Had Relatively Little Gain Relative to the Loss. Should the Commission insert a new specific offense characteristic in §2B1.1 to limit the impact of the loss table in cases involving large loss amounts if the defendant had relatively little gain relative to the loss? Examples of such a provision are the following:

(Ex. 1) If the defendant's gain resulting from the offense did not exceed $10,000, the adjustment from application of subsection (b)(1) shall not exceed [14]/[16] levels.

(Ex. 2) If the defendant's gain resulting from the offense did not exceed $25,000, the adjustment from application of subsection (b)(1) shall not exceed [16]/[18] levels.

(Ex. 3) If the defendant's gain resulting from the offense did not exceed $70,000, the adjustment from application of subsection (b)(1) shall not exceed [18]/[20] levels.

The maximum gain amount in the examples corresponds to one percent of the maximum loss amount. For example, in Example 3, the maximum gain amount is $70,000, which corresponds to a maximum loss amount of $7,000,000. (A loss amount of $7,000,000, in turn, corresponds to an enhancement of 18 levels, while a loss amount of more than $7,000,000 corresponds to an enhancement of 20 levels.)

- (B) Limiting Impact of Victims Table if No Victims Were Substantially Harmed by the Offense. Should the Commission amend the victims table in §2B1.1(b)(2) to limit the impact of the victims table if no victims were substantially harmed by the offense? For example, should the Commission provide that the 4-level and 6-level prongs of the victims table apply only if the offense substantially endangered the solvency or financial security of at least one victim?
- (C) Limiting Cumulative Impact of Loss Table and Victims Table. Should the Commission limit the cumulative impact of the loss table and the victims table? For example, should the Commission provide that, if the enhancement under the loss table is [14]-[24] levels, do not apply the 4-level or 6-level adjustment under the victims table?

The Commission seeks comment on these three approaches. The Commission also seeks comment on whether it should modify one or more of these approaches to take the form of departure provisions rather than specific offense characteristics. Finally, the Commission seeks comment on any other approaches that would address the impacts of the loss table and the victims table in a manner that ensures they are consistent with the purposes of sentencing.

2. If the Commission were to limit the impacts of the loss table or the victims table, or both, should the limitation apply in all cases sentenced under §2B1.1, or only in a subset of such cases (e.g., only in securities fraud cases)?
3. Many guidelines refer to the loss table in §2B1.1, such as §2B5.3 (Criminal Infringement of Copyright or Trademark), §2C1.2 (Offering, Giving, Soliciting, or Receiving a Gratuity), and §2S1.1 (Laundering of Monetary Instruments; Engaging in Monetary Transactions in Property Derived From Unlawful Activity). Other guidelines maintain a certain proportionality with the fraud guideline even though they do not refer directly to the loss table in §2B1.1, such as guidelines that use the tax table in §2T4.1. If the Commission were to limit the impacts of the loss table or the victims table, or both, in §2B1.1, what changes, if any, should the Commission make to other guidelines for proportionality?

2. PROPOSED AMENDMENT: DRUGS

Synopsis of Proposed Amendment: This proposed amendment contains two parts, each of which involves drug offenses.

Part A sets forth detailed issues for comment regarding offenses involving N-Benzylpiperazine (BZP) and whether the Commission should amend the guidelines applicable to offenses involving BZP, such as by providing a specific reference for BZP in the Drug Quantity Table in §2D1.1 (Unlawful Manufacturing, Importing, Exporting, or Trafficking (Including Possession with Intent to Commit These Offenses); Attempt or Conspiracy). Among other things, the issues for comment ask whether the Commission should base the penalties for BZP on the penalties for MDMA (Ecstasy), on the penalties for amphetamine, or on some other basis.

Part B sets forth a proposed amendment that would create a "safety valve" provision in the guideline for chemical precursors, §2D1.11 (Unlawfully Distributing, Importing, Exporting or Possessing a Listed Chemical; Attempt or Conspiracy), that parallels the "safety valve" provision in §2D1.1. The proposed amendment adds a new specific offense characteristic at §2D1.11(b)(6) and a corresponding new application note. Under the proposed amendment, certain first-time, nonviolent offenders sentenced under the chemical precursor guideline, §2D1.11, would be eligible to receive the same 2-level "safety valve" reduction (and using the same five "safety valve" criteria) as such offenders are eligible to receive under §2D1.1.

The two parts are as follows:

(A) BZP

Issues for Comment:

1. The Commission seeks comment regarding whether the Commission should amend the guidelines applicable to offenses involving BZP, such as by providing a specific reference for BZP in the Drug Quantity Table in §2D1.1.

Offenses involving BZP represent a very small but increasing proportion of the federal caseload. Courts have reached different conclusions about what the marijuana equivalency for BZP should be, and those differences may be resulting in unwarranted sentencing disparities. The Commission has received several requests to address BZP offenses, including a request from the Second Circuit in United States v. Figueroa, 647 F.3d 466 (2d Cir. 2011) ("inasmuch as the parties inform us that use of BZP, alone and in combination with other substances, to mimic the effects of other narcotics is increasingly prominent in certain parts of this Circuit, we direct the Clerk of the Court to forward a certified copy of this opinion to the Chairperson and Chief Counsel of the United States Sentencing Commission for whatever consideration they may deem appropriate").

The Guidelines Manual does not provide a specific reference for BZP in the Drug Quantity Table in §2D1.1 and does not provide a marijuana equivalency for BZP in the Drug Equivalency Table in Application Note 10(D) to §2D1.1. Accordingly, guideline penalties for offenses involving BZP are determined under Application Note 5 to §2D1.1, which directs the court to determine the base offense level using the marijuana equivalency of the "most closely related controlled substance" referenced in the guideline. In determining the most closely related substance, the court shall, to the extent practicable, consider the following:

- (A) Whether the controlled substance not referenced in this guideline has a chemical structure that is substantially similar to a controlled substance referenced in this guideline.
- (B) Whether the controlled substance not referenced in this guideline has a stimulant, depressant, or hallucinogenic effect on the central nervous system that is substantially similar to the stimulant, depressant, or hallucinogenic effect on the central nervous system of a controlled substance referenced in this guideline.
- (C) Whether a lesser or greater quantity of the controlled substance not referenced in this guideline is needed to produce a substantially similar effect on the central nervous system as a controlled substance referenced in this guideline.

See §2D1.1, comment. (n.5).

District courts have suggested that the substance most closely related to BZP may be amphetamine, see United States v. Rose, 722 F.Supp.2d 1286, 1289 (M.D.Ala. 2010) ("BZP on its own may arguably be most similar to amphetamine"), or methylphenidate (Ritalin), see United States v. Beckley, 715 F.Supp.2d 743, 748 (E.D.Mich. 2010) (stating that, if the issue of BZP alone were before the court, "it would be obliged to conclude that the most closely related controlled substance ... is methylphenidate"). However, the Eighth Circuit has upheld a district court's conclusion that BZP is most closely related to MDMA. See United States v. Bennett, 659 F.3d 711 (8th Cir. 2011).

A. In General

The Commission invites general comment on BZP offenses and BZP offenders and how these offenses and offenders compare with other drug offenses and drug offenders. For example, how is BZP manufactured? How is it distributed and marketed? How is it possessed and used? What are the characteristics of the offenders involved in these various activities? What harms are posed by these activities?

B. Chemical Structure

Is the chemical structure of BZP substantially similar to the chemical structure of a controlled substance referenced in §2D1.1? If so, to what substance?

C. Effect on Central Nervous System, and Relative Potency

Is the effect on the central nervous system of BZP a stimulant, depressant, or hallucinogenic effect? Is that effect substantially similar to the stimulant, depressant, or hallucinogenic effect on the central nervous system of a controlled substance referenced in §2D1.1? If so, to what substance? Is the quantity of BZP needed to produce that effect lesser or greater than the quantity needed of the other such substance? If so, what is the difference in relative potency?

The Drug Enforcement Administration has described BZP as a stimulant that is 10 to 20 times less potent than amphetamine. See 75 Fed. Reg. 47451 (August 6, 2010) ("BZP is about 20 times less potent than amphetamine in producing [effects similar to amphetamine]. However, in subjects with a history of amphetamine dependence, BZP was found to be about 10 times less potent than amphetamine."). The Commission invites comment on this description. If this description is accurate, should the Commission provide a marijuana equivalency for BZP on this basis, e.g., by specifying a marijuana equivalency for BZP equal to one-tenth or one-twentieth of the marijuana equivalency for amphetamine? In particular, under the Drug Equivalency Table, 1 gram of amphetamine is equivalent to 2 kilograms of marijuana. Should the Commission specify a marijuana equivalency for BZP such that 1 gram of BZP is equivalent to one-tenth or one-twentieth of this, i.e., 200 or 100 grams of marijuana? If not, what should the Commission specify as the marijuana equivalency for BZP?

- 2. There have been cases in which the offense involved BZP in combination with another controlled substance (such as MDMA), with non-controlled substances (such as TFMPP or caffeine), or both, in various proportions.*

*Courts have recognized that distinctions between BZP alone and BZP in combination with other substances may be appropriate. For example, the Second Circuit in United States v. Chowdhury, 639 F.3d 583 (2d Cir. 2011), upheld a determination that BZP in combination with TFMPP is most closely related to MDMA, but in United States v. Figueroa, 647 F.3d 466 (2d Cir. 2011), remanded a determination that BZP alone is most closely related to MDMA, finding Chowdhury not applicable and the record otherwise insufficient. See id. at 470 ("Although we certainly do not foreclose the determination that MDMA is the appropriate substitute for BZP alone, in the absence of an evidentiary hearing to determine the nature of the mixture, its chemical structure, and its intended neurological effects, the record on appeal does not permit us to determine whether the proper substitute is amphetamine . . . , MDMA, or another substance on the Drug Equivalency Table . . .").*

Should the guidelines make distinctions between offenses involving BZP alone and BZP in combination with other substances? If so, what distinctions should be made? Are there particular combinations involving BZP that should be specifically accounted for in the guidelines and, if so, what are the combinations and how should the guidelines account for them?

What controlled substance or substances are most closely related to BZP in combination with these various other substances? What marijuana equivalency or equivalencies should be provided for offenses involving BZP under these various circumstances?

The tendency of the courts appears to be to follow an approach under which the BZP combination is most closely related to MDMA (but possibly at reduced potency). The Commission invites comment on this approach. If this approach is appropriate, should the Commission provide a marijuana equivalency for BZP combinations on this basis, e.g., by specifying a marijuana equivalency for BZP in combination with other substances that is equal to the marijuana equivalency for MDMA (but possibly at reduced potency)? In particular, under the Drug Equivalency Table, 1 gram of MDMA is equivalent to 500 grams of marijuana. Should the Commission specify a marijuana equivalency for BZP in combination with other substances such that 1 gram of BZP is equivalent to 500 grams of marijuana? Or should the Commission specify an equivalency lower than 500 grams to account for the possible reduced potency?

3. What, if any, other considerations should the Commission take into account in determining how, if at all, the guidelines should be amended as they apply to offenses involving BZP?

(B) "SAFETY VALVE" PROVISION IN §2D1.11

Proposed Amendment:

§2D1.11. Unlawfully Distributing, Importing, Exporting or Possessing a Listed Chemical; Attempt or Conspiracy

- (a) Base Offense Level: The offense level from the Chemical Quantity Table set forth in subsection (d) or (e), as appropriate, except that if (A) the defendant receives an adjustment under §3B1.2 (Mitigating Role); and (B) the base offense level under subsection (d) is (i) level 32, decrease by 2 levels; (ii) level 34 or level 36, decrease by 3 levels; or (iii) level 38, decrease by 4 levels.
- (b) Specific Offense Characteristics
- (1) If a dangerous weapon (including a firearm) was possessed, increase by 2 levels.
- (2) If the defendant is convicted of violating 21 U.S.C. § 841(c)(2) or (f)(1), or § 960(d)(2), (d)(3), or (d)(4), decrease by 3 levels, unless the defendant knew or believed that the listed chemical was to be used to manufacture a controlled substance unlawfully.
- (3) If the offense involved (A) an unlawful discharge, emission, or release into the environment of a hazardous or toxic substance; or (B) the unlawful transportation, treatment, storage, or disposal of a hazardous waste, increase by 2 levels.
- (4) If the defendant, or a person for whose conduct the defendant is accountable under §1B1.3 (Relevant Conduct), distributed a listed chemical through mass-marketing by means of an interactive computer service, increase by 2 levels.
- (5) If the defendant is convicted under 21 U.S.C. § 865, increase by 2 levels.
- (6) If the defendant meets the criteria set forth in subdivisions (1)-(5) of subsection (a) of §5C1.2 (Limitation on Applicability of Statutory Minimum Sentences in Certain Cases), decrease by 2 levels.
- (c) Cross Reference

- (1) If the offense involved unlawfully manufacturing a controlled substance, or attempting to manufacture a controlled substance unlawfully, apply §2D1.1 (Unlawful Manufacturing, Importing, Exporting, Trafficking) if the resulting offense level is greater than that determined above.

* * *

Commentary

Statutory Provisions: 21 U.S.C. §§ 841(c)(1), (2), (f)(1), 865, 960(d)(1), (2), (3), (4).

Application Notes:

* * *

9. Applicability of Subsection (b)(6).—The applicability of subsection (b)(6) shall be determined without regard to the offense of conviction. If subsection (b)(6) applies, §5C1.2(b) does not apply. See §5C1.2(b)(2)(requiring a minimum offense level of level 17 if the "statutorily required minimum sentence is at least five years").

Background: Offenses covered by this guideline involve list I chemicals (including ephedrine, pseudoephedrine, and phenylpropanolamine) and list II chemicals. List I chemicals are important to the manufacture of a controlled substance and usually become part of the final product. For example, ephedrine reacts with other chemicals to form methamphetamine. The amount of ephedrine directly affects the amount of methamphetamine produced. List II chemicals are generally used as solvents, catalysts, and reagents.

3. PROPOSED AMENDMENT: HUMAN RIGHTS

Synopsis of Proposed Amendment: This proposed two-part amendment is a continuation of the Commission's multi-year review to ensure that the guidelines provide appropriate guidelines penalties for cases involving human rights violations.

A. Human Rights Offenses

Part A of the proposed amendment addresses cases in which the defendant is convicted of an offense that Congress has indicated is a "serious human rights offense," i.e., an offense under 18 U.S.C. §§ 1091 (Genocide), 2340A (Torture), 2441 (War crimes), and 2442 (Recruitment or use of child soldiers). See 28 U.S.C. § 509B(e). Such offenses are currently accounted for in the guidelines as follows:

- (1) Genocide. Section 1091 offenses apply to a range of conduct committed "with the specific intent to destroy, in whole or in substantial part, a national, ethnic, racial, or religious group". See 18 U.S.C. § 1091(a). The range of conduct includes (i) killing members of the group; (ii) causing serious bodily injury to members of the group; (iii) causing permanent impairment of the mental faculties of members of the group (e.g., by drugs or torture); (iv) subjecting the group to conditions of life that are intended to cause the physical destruction of the group; (v) imposing measures intended to prevent births within the group; and (vi) transferring by force children of the group to another group. Id. The statutory maximum term of imprisonment is 20 years, or life imprisonment if the conduct involved killing and death resulted. See 18 U.S.C. § 1091(b). In addition, section 1091(c) makes it a crime to "directly and publicly incite[] another" to violate section 1091(a); the statutory maximum term of imprisonment for this offense is 5 years. See 18 U.S.C. § 1091(c). Section 1091 offenses are referenced in Appendix A (Statutory Index) to §2H1.1 (Civil Rights).
- (2) Torture. Section 2340A offenses apply to whoever commits or attempts to commit torture (as defined in 18 U.S.C. § 2340). The statutory maximum term of imprisonment is 20 years, or any term of years or life if death resulted. See 18 U.S.C. § 2340A(a). Section 2340A offenses are referenced in Appendix A to §§2A1.1 (First Degree Murder), 2A1.2 (Second Degree Murder), 2A2.1 (Assault with Intent to Commit Murder; Attempted Murder), 2A2.2 (Aggravated Assault), and 2A4.1 (Kidnapping, Abduction, Unlawful Restraint).
- (3) War Crimes. Section 2441 offenses apply to a range of conduct that constitute a war crime (as defined in 18 U.S.C. § 2441(c)). The range of conduct includes (i) torture; (ii) cruel or inhuman treatment; (iii) performing biological experiments; (iv) murder; (v) mutilation or maiming; (vi) intentionally causing serious bodily injury; (vii) rape; (viii) sexual assault or abuse; and (ix) taking hostages. The statutory maximum term of imprisonment is any term of years or life. See 18 U.S.C. § 2441(a). Section 2441 offenses are not referenced in Appendix A.
- (4) Child Soldiers. Section 2442 offenses apply to whoever knowingly (1) recruits, enlists, or conscripts a child (i.e., a person under 15 years of age) to serve in an armed force or group or (2) uses a child to participate actively in hostilities. See 18 U.S.C. § 2442(a). The statutory maximum term of imprisonment is 20 years, or any term of years or life if death resulted. See 18 U.S.C. § 2442(b). Section 2442 offenses are referenced in Appendix A to §2H4.1 (Peonage, Involuntary Servitude, Slave Trade, and Child Soldiers).

The proposed amendment provides two options for cases in which the defendant is convicted of such an offense.

Option 1 establishes a new Chapter Two offense guideline, at §2H5.1 (Human Rights). The new offense guideline reflects a consolidation into a single guideline of the various base offense levels and specific offender characteristics that are involved in the guidelines that currently account for these offenses. The new offense guideline contains alternative base offense levels of [18] if the defendant is convicted of the offense of incitement to genocide (which generally has a statutory maximum term of imprisonment of 5 years) and [24] otherwise. The guideline also contains enhancements that apply if any victim sustained serious bodily injury (2 to 4 levels); if any victim was sexually exploited (6 to 10 levels); if any victim was abducted, involuntarily detained, or held in a condition of servitude (6 to 10 levels); if the number of victims was [10][50] or more (2 levels); if death resulted; or if the defendant was a public official [or military official] or the offense was committed under color of law [or color of military authority].

Option 1 also amends Appendix A (Statutory Index) to reference each of these offenses of conviction to the new guideline and makes conforming changes to other offense guidelines.

Option 2 establishes a new Chapter Three adjustment, at §3A1.5 (Human Rights), that applies if the defendant [was convicted of] / [committed] a serious human rights offense. The proposed guideline provides an enhancement of [4]-[12] levels and a minimum offense level of [24]-[32]. The proposed guideline also requires that the defendant be placed in Criminal History Category [V][VI].

B. Immigration and Naturalization Offenses Involving Serious Human Rights Offenses

Part B of the proposed amendment addresses cases in which the offense of conviction is for immigration or naturalization fraud but the defendant had committed a serious human rights offense. Immigration and naturalization frauds are referenced in Appendix A to §2L2.1 (Trafficking in a Document Relating to Naturalization, Citizenship, or Legal Resident Status, or a United States Passport; False Statement in Respect to the Citizenship or Immigration Status of Another; Fraudulent Marriage to Assist Alien to Evade Immigration Law) or §2L2.2 (Fraudulently Acquiring Documents Relating to Naturalization, Citizenship, or Legal Resident Status for Own Use; False Personation or Fraudulent Marriage by Alien to Evade Immigration Law; Fraudulently Acquiring or Improperly Using a United States Passport), depending on the offense of conviction.

The proposed amendment adds a new specific offense characteristic to both guidelines. The new specific offense characteristic provides an enhancement of [10]-[18] levels if the offense reflected an effort to avoid detection or responsibility for a serious human rights offense.

Part C of the proposed amendment sets forth issues for comment on human rights offenses.

Proposed Amendment:

(A) Human Rights Offenses

OPTION 1:

PART H - OFFENSES INVOLVING INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS AND HUMAN RIGHTS

* * *

5. HUMAN RIGHTS

§2H5.1. Human Rights

(a) Base Offense Level:

- (1) [24], except as provided below;
- (2) [18], if the defendant is convicted of an offense under 18 U.S.C. § 1091(c).

(b) Specific Offense Characteristics

- (1) (A) If any victim sustained permanent or life-threatening bodily injury, increase by 4 levels; (B) if any victim sustained serious bodily injury, increase by 2 levels; or (C) if the degree of injury is between that specified in subdivisions (A) and (B), increase by 3 levels.
- (2) (A) If any victim was sexually exploited, increase by 6 levels; (B) if any such victim had not attained the age of sixteen years, increase by 8 levels; or (C) if any such victim had not attained the age of twelve years, increase by 10 levels.
- (3) (A) If any victim was abducted, involuntarily detained, or held in a condition of servitude, increase by 6 levels; (B) if any such victim continued to be so detained or held for at least 30 days, increase by 8 levels; or (C) if any such victim continued to be so detained or held for at least 180 days, increase by 10 levels.
- (4) If the number of victims described in subdivisions (1) through (3) was [10][50] or more, increase by [2][4] levels.
- (5) If death resulted, increase to the greater of:
  - (A) 2 plus the offense level as determined above; or
  - (B) 2 plus the offense level from the most analogous guideline from Chapter Two, Part A, Subpart 1 (Homicide).

- (6) If (A) the defendant was a public official [or military official] at the time of the offense; or (B) the offense was committed under color of law [or color of military authority], increase by 6 levels.

Commentary

Statutory Provisions: 18 U.S.C. §§ 1091, 2340A, 2441, and 2442.

Application Notes:

1. Definitions.—For purposes of this guideline—

Definitions of "serious bodily injury" and "permanent or life-threatening bodily injury" are found in the Commentary to §1B1.1 (Application Instructions). However, for purposes of this guideline, "serious bodily injury" means conduct other than criminal sexual abuse, which is taken into account in the specific offense characteristic under subsection (b)(2).

"Sexually exploited" includes offenses set forth in 18 U.S.C. §§ 2241-2244, 2251, and 2421-2423.

2. Interaction With §3A1.1 (Hate Crime Motivation or Vulnerable Victim).—

(A) Hate Crime Motivation (§3A1.1(a)).—If the finder of fact at trial or, in the case of a plea of guilty or nolo contendere, the court at sentencing determines beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant intentionally selected any victim or any property as the object of the offense because of the actual or perceived race, color, religion, national origin, ethnicity, gender, gender identity, disability, or sexual orientation of any person, an additional 3-level enhancement from §3A1.1(a) will apply. An adjustment from §3A1.1(a) will not apply, however, if a 6-level adjustment from §2H5.1(b)(6) applies.

(B) Vulnerable Victim (§3A1.1(b)).—The base offense level does not incorporate the possibility that a victim of the offense was a vulnerable victim for purposes of §3A1.1(b). Therefore, an adjustment under §3A1.1(b) would apply, for example, in a case in which the defendant recruited or used child soldiers (see 18 U.S.C. § 2442) or transferred by force children of a national, ethnic, racial, or religious group (see 18 U.S.C. § 1091(a)(5)).

3. Interaction with §3A1.3 (Restraint of Victim).—If subsection (b)(3) applies, do not apply §3A1.3 (Restraint of Victim).

4. Interaction With §3B1.3 (Abuse of Position of Trust or Use of Special Skill).—If subsection (b)(6) applies, do not apply §3B1.3 (Abuse of Position of Trust or Use of Special Skill).

Background: This guideline covers a range of conduct considered to be serious human rights offenses, including genocide, war crimes, torture, and the recruitment or use of child soldiers. See generally 28 U.S.C. § 509B(e).

§3A1.5. Serious Human Rights Offense

- (a) If the defendant [was convicted of] / [committed] a serious human rights offense, increase by [4]-[12] levels; but if the resulting offense level is less than level [24]-[32], increase to level [24]-[32].
- (b) In each such case, the defendant's criminal history category from Chapter Four (Criminal History and Criminal Livelihood) shall be [not lower than Category V][Category VI].

Commentary

Application Notes:

- 1. "Serious Human Rights Offense".—For purposes of this guideline, "serious human rights offense" means violations of federal criminal laws relating to genocide, torture, war crimes, and the use or recruitment of child soldiers under sections 1091, 2340, 2340A, 2441, and 2442 of title 18, United States Code. See 28 U.S.C. § 509B(e).
- 2. Computation of Criminal History Category.— Under subsection (b), if the defendant's criminal history category as determined under Chapter Four (Criminal History and Criminal Livelihood) is less than Category [V][VI], it shall be increased to Category [V][VI].

	(A) 6-24	add 3
	(B) 25-99	add 6
	(C) 100 or more	add 9 .
(3)	If the defendant knew, believed, or had reason to believe that a passport or visa was to be used to facilitate the commission of a felony offense, other than an offense involving violation of the immigration laws, increase by 4 levels.
(4)	If the defendant committed any part of the instant offense after sustaining (A) a conviction for a felony immigration and naturalization offense, increase by 2 levels; or (B) two (or more) convictions for felony immigration and naturalization offenses, each such conviction arising out of a separate prosecution, increase by 4 levels.
(5)	If the defendant fraudulently obtained or used (A) a United States passport, increase by 4 levels; or (B) a foreign passport, increase by 2 levels.
(6)	If the offense reflected an effort to avoid detection or responsibility for a serious human rights offense, increase by [10]-[18] levels.

Commentary

Statutory Provisions: 8 U.S.C. §§ 1160(b)(7)(A), 1185(a)(3), (4), 1325(c), (d); 18 U.S.C. §§ 1015, 1028, 1425-1427, 1542, 1544, 1546. For additional statutory provision(s), see Appendix A (Statutory Index).

Application Notes:

1. For purposes of this guideline—

"The offense was committed other than for profit" means that there was no payment or expectation of payment for the smuggling, transporting, or harboring of any of the unlawful aliens.

"Immigration and naturalization offense" means any offense covered by Chapter Two, Part L.

"Child" has the meaning set forth in section 101(b)(1) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. § 1101(b)(1)).

"Spouse" has the meaning set forth in section 101(a)(35) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(35)).

"Serious human rights offense" means violations of federal criminal laws relating to genocide, torture, war crimes, and the use or recruitment of child soldiers under sections 1091, 2340, 2340A, 2441, and 2442 of title 18, United States Code. See 28 U.S.C. § 509B(e).

2. Where it is established that multiple documents are part of a set of documents intended for use by a single person, treat the set as one document.
3. Subsection (b)(3) provides an enhancement if the defendant knew, believed, or had reason to believe that a passport or visa was to be used to facilitate the commission of a felony offense, other than an offense involving violation of the immigration laws. If the defendant knew, believed, or had reason to believe that the felony offense to be committed was of an especially serious type, an upward departure may be warranted.
4. Prior felony conviction(s) resulting in an adjustment under subsection (b)(4) are also counted for purposes of determining criminal history points pursuant to Chapter Four, Part A (Criminal History).
5. If the offense involved substantially more than 100 documents, an upward departure may be warranted.

§2L2.2. Fraudulently Acquiring Documents Relating to Naturalization, Citizenship, or Legal Resident Status for Own Use; False Personation or Fraudulent Marriage by Alien to Evade Immigration Law; Fraudulently Acquiring or Improperly Using a United States Passport

- (a) Base Offense Level: 8
- (b) Specific Offense Characteristics
  - (1) If the defendant is an unlawful alien who has been deported (voluntarily or involuntarily) on one or more occasions prior to the instant offense, increase by 2 levels.
  - (2) If the defendant committed any part of the instant offense after sustaining (A) a conviction for a felony immigration and naturalization offense, increase by 2 levels; or (B) two (or more) convictions for felony immigration and naturalization offenses, each such conviction arising out of a separate prosecution, increase by 4 levels.
  - (3) If the defendant fraudulently obtained or used (A) a United States passport, increase by 4 levels; or (B) a foreign passport, increase by 2 levels.
  - (4) If the offense reflected an effort to avoid detection or responsibility for a serious human rights offense, increase by [10]-[18] levels.

(c) Cross Reference

- (1) If the defendant used a passport or visa in the commission or attempted commission of a felony offense, other than an offense involving violation of the immigration laws, apply --
  - (A) §2X1.1 (Attempt, Solicitation, or Conspiracy) in respect to that felony offense, if the resulting offense level is greater than that determined above; or
  - (B) if death resulted, the most analogous offense guideline from Chapter Two, Part A, Subpart 1 (Homicide), if the resulting offense level is greater than that determined above.

Commentary

Statutory Provisions: 8 U.S.C. §§ 1160(b)(7)(A), 1185(a)(3), (5), 1325(c), (d); 18 U.S.C. §§ 911, 1015, 1028, 1423-1426, 1542-1544, 1546.

Application Notes:

1. Definition.—For purposes of this guideline, "immigration and naturalization offense" means any offense covered by Chapter Two, Part L.
2. Application of Subsection (b)(2).—Prior felony conviction(s) resulting in an adjustment under subsection (b)(2) are also counted for purposes of determining criminal history points pursuant to Chapter Four, Part A (Criminal History).
3. Application of Subsection (b)(3).—The term "used" is to be construed broadly and includes the attempted renewal of previously-issued passports.
4. Application of Subsection (b)(4).—For purposes of subsection (b)(4), "serious human rights offense" means violations of federal criminal laws relating to genocide, torture, war crimes, and the use or recruitment of child soldiers under sections 1091, 2340, 2340A, 2441, and 2442 of title 18, United States Code. See 28 U.S.C. § 509B(e).
45. Multiple Counts.—For the purposes of Chapter Three, Part D (Multiple Counts), a count of conviction for unlawfully entering or remaining in the United States covered by §2L1.2 (Unlawfully Entering or Remaining in the United States) arising from the same course of conduct as the count of conviction covered by this guideline shall be considered a closely related count to the count of conviction covered by this guideline, and therefore is to be grouped with the count of conviction covered by this guideline.
56. Upward Departure Provision.—If the defendant fraudulently obtained or used a United States passport for the purpose of entering the United States to engage in terrorist activity, an upward departure may be warranted. See Application Note 4 of the Commentary to §3A1.4 (Terrorism).

(C) Issues for Comment

Issues for Comment:

1. The Commission invites general comment on human rights offenses and human rights offenders and how these offenses and offenders compare with other offenses and offenders. For example, what activities are involved in human rights offenses? What are the characteristics of the offenders involved in these activities? What harms are posed by these activities?
2. Do the guidelines provide appropriate guidelines penalties for cases involving human rights offenses? If not, what amendments are appropriate to ensure that the guidelines provide appropriate guidelines penalties for such cases? What penalty structure or structures should the guidelines provide for human rights offenses, and what penalty levels should the Commission provide? In considering whether the penalty levels and penalty structures for human rights offenses are appropriately proportional to other offenses, what are the other offenses to which the human rights offenses should be compared?

In addition, the Commission seeks comment on whether Option 1 or Option 2 of Part A of the proposed amendment would provide appropriate guidelines penalties for cases involving human rights offenses. Should the Commission adopt Option 1 or Option 2, or neither?

Are there particular changes to the penalty levels in Option 1 that should be made? Are the alternative base offense levels appropriate, or should they be raised or lowered? Are the levels provided by the specific offense characteristics appropriate, or should they be raised or lowered? Should the Commission revise Option 1 to provide cross-references to any other Chapter Two offense guidelines?

Option 1 specifies the manner in which the new guideline would interact with certain Chapter Three adjustments. Are there particular changes that should be made to Option 1 to change how the new guideline would interact with the various Chapter Three adjustments?

3. The Commission seeks comment on what guidance should be given to courts in determining whether a particular offense is, or is not, a human rights offense for purposes of Parts A and B of the proposed amendment. Parts A and B would apply only to the offenses defined as "serious human rights offenses" in 28 U.S.C. § 509B(e), which includes genocide, war crimes, torture, and the recruitment or use of child soldiers. Should the Commission add other offenses or categories of offenses and, if so, what offenses or categories of offenses?
4. The Commission seeks comment on aggravating and mitigating circumstances in cases involving human rights offenses. In particular:
  - A. Direct Prosecution of Human Rights Offenses

In cases in which the defendant is directly prosecuted for a human rights offense, are there aggravating and mitigating circumstances that should be taken into account in establishing what level of enhancement should apply, what minimum offense level should apply, and what Criminal History Category should apply? If so, what are the circumstances, and how should they be taken into account in the guidelines?

B. Immigration and Naturalization Fraud Involving Human Rights Offenses

In cases in which the defendant is convicted of an immigration or naturalization fraud involving a human rights offense, are there aggravating and mitigating circumstances that should be taken into account in establishing what level of enhancement should apply and what minimum offense level should apply? If so, what are the circumstances, and how should they be taken into account in the guidelines?

For example, there appear to be cases in which the defendant is convicted of an immigration or naturalization fraud and the evidence is sufficient to establish (1) that the defendant concealed the defendant's membership in a foreign military or paramilitary organization and (2) that the organization was involved in a human rights violation, but the evidence is not sufficient to establish (3) that the defendant was involved in the human rights violation. In such a case, should the establishment of (1) and (2) (or, in the alternative, of (1) alone) be an aggravating factor in the guidelines, warranting an enhancement or an upward departure provision?

The enhancements in Part B of the proposed amendment bracket a range of penalty levels, from [10] to [18]. Should the Commission provide a tiered enhancement, with different levels of enhancement based on different aggravating or mitigating circumstances? For example, should an enhancement of 10 levels apply in certain cases, and an enhancement of 18 levels apply in certain other cases? If so, what aggravating or mitigating circumstances should the Commission provide, and what levels should apply?

C. Amnesty

How, if at all, should the guidelines account for circumstances in which the defendant committed a human rights offense but received amnesty (or some similar mitigating measure) in the country where the conduct occurred? Should such a circumstance warrant a reduction or a downward departure?

4. PROPOSED AMENDMENT: "SENTENCE IMPOSED" IN §2L1.2

Synopsis of Proposed Amendment: This proposed amendment responds to a circuit conflict over application of the term "sentenced imposed" in §2L1.2 (Unlawfully Entering or Remaining in the United States) when the defendant's original "sentence imposed" was lengthened after the defendant was deported.

Section 2L1.2(b)(1) provides an enhancement if the defendant previously was deported, or unlawfully remained in the United States, after a conviction for a felony drug trafficking offense. The level of the enhancement depends on the "sentence imposed" for the felony drug trafficking offense. Specifically:

- (1) if the "sentence imposed" exceeded 13 months, the enhancement is 16 or 12 levels, depending on whether the conviction receives criminal history points. See §2L1.2(b)(1)(A); and*
- (2) if the "sentence imposed" was 13 months or less, the enhancement is 12 or 8 levels, depending on whether the conviction receives criminal history points. See §2L1.2(b)(1)(B).*

The term "sentence imposed" is defined in Application Note 1(B)(vii) as follows:

"Sentence imposed" has the meaning given the term "sentence of imprisonment" in Application Note 2 and subsection (b) of §4A1.2 (Definitions and Instructions for Computing Criminal History), without regard to the date of the conviction. The length of the sentence imposed includes any term of imprisonment given upon revocation of probation, parole, or supervised release.

The conflict arises when the defendant was sentenced on two or more different occasions for the same drug trafficking conviction (e.g., because of a revocation of supervision), such that there was a sentence imposed before the defendant's deportation and another, longer sentence imposed after the deportation.

The Fifth, Seventh, and Eleventh Circuits have held that the later, higher sentence does not apply for purposes of the enhancement in §2L1.2(b)(1). See United States v. Lopez, 634 F.3d 948 (7th Cir. 2011); United States v. Guzman-Bera, 216 F.3d 1019 (11th Cir. 2000); United States v. Bustillos-Pena, 612 F.3d 863 (5th Cir. 2010). These cases generally reason that there is a "temporal restriction" inherent in the enhancement and conclude that the "sentence imposed" is determined as of when the defendant was deported or unlawfully remained in the United States. See, e.g., Lopez, 634 F.3d at 950.

The Second Circuit has held otherwise, concluding that the later, higher sentence does apply. See United States v. Compres-Paulino, 393 F.3d 116 (2d Cir. 2004). According to the Second Circuit, the enhancement requires only that the conviction have occurred, not that the sentence also be imposed, as of when the defendant was deported or unlawfully remained in the United States. For the Second Circuit, any "amended sentence, whenever imposed, relates back to this conviction" and is covered by the enhancement. See id. at 118.

The proposed amendment resolves the conflict by amending the definition of "sentence imposed" in Application Note 1(B)(vii). Two bracketed options are presented. The first option follows the approach of the Fifth, Seventh, and Eleventh Circuits and specifies that a post-revocation sentence increase is included, "but only if the revocation occurred before the defendant was deported or unlawfully remained in the United States". The second option follows the approach of the Second Circuit and specifies that a post-revocation sentence increase is included, "without regard to whether the revocation occurred before or after the defendant previously was deported or unlawfully remained in the United States".

Proposed Amendment:

§2L1.2. Unlawfully Entering or Remaining in the United States

- (a) Base Offense Level: 8
- (b) Specific Offense Characteristic
  - (1) Apply the Greatest:

If the defendant previously was deported, or unlawfully remained in the United States, after—

- (A) a conviction for a felony that is (i) a drug trafficking offense for which the sentence imposed exceeded 13 months; (ii) a crime of violence; (iii) a firearms offense; (iv) a child pornography offense; (v) a national security or terrorism offense; (vi) a human trafficking offense; or (vii) an alien smuggling offense, increase by 16 levels if the conviction receives criminal history points under Chapter Four or by 12 levels if the conviction does not receive criminal history points;
- (B) a conviction for a felony drug trafficking offense for which the sentence imposed was 13 months or less, increase by 12 levels if the conviction receives criminal history points under Chapter Four or by 8 levels if the conviction does not receive criminal history points;
- (C) a conviction for an aggravated felony, increase by 8 levels;
- (D) a conviction for any other felony, increase by 4 levels; or
- (E) three or more convictions for misdemeanors that are crimes of violence or drug trafficking offenses, increase by 4 levels.

Commentary

Statutory Provisions: 8 U.S.C. § 1325(a) (second or subsequent offense only), 8 U.S.C. § 1326. For additional statutory provision(s), see Appendix A (Statutory Index).

Application Notes:

1. Application of Subsection (b)(1).—

(A) In General.—For purposes of subsection (b)(1):

- (i) A defendant shall be considered to be deported after a conviction if the defendant has been removed or has departed the United States while an order of exclusion, deportation, or removal was outstanding.
- (ii) A defendant shall be considered to be deported after a conviction if the deportation was subsequent to the conviction, regardless of whether the deportation was in response to the conviction.
- (iii) A defendant shall be considered to have unlawfully remained in the United States if the defendant remained in the United States following a removal order issued after a conviction, regardless of whether the removal order was in response to the conviction.
- (iv) Subsection (b)(1) does not apply to a conviction for an offense committed before the defendant was eighteen years of age unless such conviction is classified as an adult conviction under the laws of the jurisdiction in which the defendant was convicted.

(B) Definitions.—For purposes of subsection (b)(1):

- (i) "Alien smuggling offense" has the meaning given that term in section 101(a)(43)(N) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(43)(N)).
- (ii) "Child pornography offense" means (I) an offense described in 18 U.S.C. § 2251, § 2251A, § 2252, § 2252A, or § 2260; or (II) an offense under state or local law consisting of conduct that would have been an offense under any such section if the offense had occurred within the special maritime and territorial jurisdiction of the United States.
- (iii) "Crime of violence" means any of the following offenses under federal, state, or local law: murder, manslaughter, kidnapping, aggravated assault, forcible sex offenses (including where consent to the conduct is not given or is not legally valid, such as where consent to the conduct is involuntary, incompetent, or coerced), statutory rape, sexual abuse of a minor, robbery, arson, extortion, extortionate extension of credit, burglary of a dwelling, or any other offense under federal, state, or local law that has as an element the use, attempted use, or threatened use of physical force against the person of another.

- (iv) "Drug trafficking offense" means an offense under federal, state, or local law that prohibits the manufacture, import, export, distribution, or dispensing of, or offer to sell a controlled substance (or a counterfeit substance) or the possession of a controlled substance (or a counterfeit substance) with intent to manufacture, import, export, distribute, or dispense.
- (v) "Firearms offense" means any of the following:
  - (I) An offense under federal, state, or local law that prohibits the importation, distribution, transportation, or trafficking of a firearm described in 18 U.S.C. § 921, or of an explosive material as defined in 18 U.S.C. § 841(c).
  - (II) An offense under federal, state, or local law that prohibits the possession of a firearm described in 26 U.S.C. § 5845(a), or of an explosive material as defined in 18 U.S.C. § 841(c).
  - (III) A violation of 18 U.S.C. § 844(h).
  - (IV) A violation of 18 U.S.C. § 924(c).
  - (V) A violation of 18 U.S.C. § 929(a).
  - (VI) An offense under state or local law consisting of conduct that would have been an offense under subdivision (III), (IV), or (V) if the offense had occurred within the special maritime and territorial jurisdiction of the United States.
- (vi) "Human trafficking offense" means (I) any offense described in 18 U.S.C. § 1581, § 1582, § 1583, § 1584, § 1585, § 1588, § 1589, § 1590, or § 1591; or (II) an offense under state or local law consisting of conduct that would have been an offense under any such section if the offense had occurred within the special maritime and territorial jurisdiction of the United States.
- (vii) "Sentence imposed" has the meaning given the term "sentence of imprisonment" in Application Note 2 and subsection (b) of §4A1.2 (Definitions and Instructions for Computing Criminal History), without regard to the date of the conviction. The length of the sentence imposed includes any term of imprisonment given upon revocation of probation, parole, or supervised release, but only if the revocation occurred before the defendant was deported or unlawfully remained in the United States], without regard to whether the revocation occurred before or after the defendant was deported or unlawfully remained in the United States].
- (viii) "Terrorism offense" means any offense involving, or intending to promote, a "Federal crime of terrorism", as that term is defined in 18 U.S.C. § 2332b(g)(5).

- (C) Prior Convictions.—In determining the amount of an enhancement under subsection (b)(1), note that the levels in subsections (b)(1)(A) and (B) depend on whether the conviction receives criminal history points under Chapter Four (Criminal History and Criminal Livelihood), while subsections (b)(1)(C), (D), and (E) apply without regard to whether the conviction receives criminal history points.
2. Definition of "Felony".—For purposes of subsection (b)(1)(A), (B), and (D), "felony" means any federal, state, or local offense punishable by imprisonment for a term exceeding one year.
3. Application of Subsection (b)(1)(C).—
- (A) Definitions.—For purposes of subsection (b)(1)(C), "aggravated felony" has the meaning given that term in section 101(a)(43) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(43)), without regard to the date of conviction for the aggravated felony.
- (B) In General.—The offense level shall be increased under subsection (b)(1)(C) for any aggravated felony (as defined in subdivision (A)), with respect to which the offense level is not increased under subsections (b)(1)(A) or (B).

5. PROPOSED AMENDMENT: CATEGORICAL APPROACH

Synopsis of Proposed Amendment: This proposed amendment presents options for specifying the types of documents that may be considered in determining whether a particular prior conviction fits within a particular category of crimes for purposes of specific guidelines provisions (e.g., determining whether a defendant's prior conviction for nonresidential burglary under a particular state statute qualifies as an "aggravated felony" for purposes of §2L1.2(b)(1)(C)).

A number of guidelines and statutes contain provisions that use a prior conviction as an aggravating factor if the prior conviction fits within a particular category of crimes. Two Supreme Court decisions, Taylor v. United States, 495 U.S. 575 (1990), and Shepard v. United States, 544 U.S. 13 (2005), set forth a "categorical approach" for determining whether a particular prior conviction fits within a particular category of crimes.

Taylor holds that, in making such a determination, a sentencing court may "look only to the fact of conviction and the statutory definition of the prior offense." Taylor, 495 U.S. at 602. Because the court is not concerned with the "facts underlying the prior convictions," id. at 600-02, the court may not focus on the underlying criminal conduct itself. This categorical approach "may permit the sentencing court to go beyond the mere fact of conviction in a narrow range of cases where a jury was actually required to find all the elements" of the offense. Id. at 602. Thus, a prior conviction fits within the particular category of crimes "if either its statutory definition substantially corresponds to [the definition of the crime], or the charging paper and jury instructions actually required the jury to find all the elements of [the specified crime] in order to convict the defendant." Id.

Shepard applied Taylor to a case in which the prior conviction was the result of a guilty plea. In such a case, the Court held, the sentencing court may look to a limited list of documents to determine the class of offense: "the terms of the charging document, the terms of the plea agreement or transcript of colloquy between judge and defendant in which the factual basis for the plea was confirmed by the defendant, or to some comparable judicial record of this information." Shepard, 544 U.S. at 26.

*In cases where the defendant's prior conviction involved a provision that covers both conduct that fits within the category and conduct that does not, the Court has authorized courts to look at the judicial record to determine whether the prior conviction was in fact based on conduct that fit within the category of crimes. This analysis is called the "modified categorical approach." Under this modified approach, the court may consider only those sources approved by Taylor and Shepard — the charging document, the jury instructions, any plea agreement or plea statement, or "some comparable judicial record of this information." The Fifth Circuit has extended this list to include New York Certificates of Disposition, see United States v. Bonilla, 524 F.3d 647 (5th Cir. 2008), and the Ninth Circuit has included California Minute Entries, see United States v. Snellenberger, 548 F.3d 699 (9th Cir. 2008). On the other hand, courts have disallowed the use of a federal presentencing report, see, e.g., United States v. Garza-Lopez, 410 F.3d 268 (5th Cir. 2005), a California abstract of judgment, see, e.g., United States v. Gutierrez-Ramirez, 405 F.3d 352 (5th Cir. 2005), or a police report, see, e.g., Shepard, 544 U.S. at 16; United States v. Almazan-Becerra, 482 F.3d 1085, 1090 (9th Cir. 2007) (noting that "[t]he Supreme Court appears to have foreclosed the use of police reports in a Taylor analysis" but that such reports may be used when stipulated to by the defendant).*

Notably, the Supreme Court cases have involved statutes rather than guidelines. However, lower courts have by analogy applied the "categorical approach" to guideline provisions.

The proposed amendment presents options for specifying the types of documents that may be considered for purposes of the guidelines in determining whether a particular prior conviction fits within a particular category of crimes. Option 1 would apply only to determinations under the illegal reentry guideline, §2L1.2 (Unlawfully Entering or Remaining in the United States). Option 2 would apply throughout the Guidelines Manual in any case in which the nature of the prior conviction is a disputed factor.

Both options contain four options, each of which would specifically authorize the sentencing court to look to certain sources of information beyond the fact of conviction and the statutory definition of the prior offense.

It appears that Taylor and Shepard specifically authorize the sentencing court to look to four sources of information beyond the fact of conviction and the statutory definition of the prior offense:

- (i) the terms of the charging document;*
- (ii) the terms of the plea agreement or transcript of colloquy between judge and defendant in which the factual basis for the plea was confirmed by the defendant;*
- (iii) any explicit factual finding by the trial judge to which the defendant assented; and*
- (iv) some comparable judicial record of this information.*

Option A would specify these four sources of information. Option B would incorporate Option A and add as a fifth source of information "any uncontradicted, internally consistent parts of the record from the prior conviction". See Shepard, 544 U.S. at 31 ("I would expand that list to include any uncontradicted, internally consistent parts of the record from the earlier conviction. That would include the two sources the First Circuit relied upon in this case," which consisted of "the applications by which the police had secured the criminal complaints and the police reports attached to those applications." [Emphasis in original.]) (O'Connor, J., dissenting). Option C would incorporate Option A and add as a fifth source of information "any other parts of the record from the prior conviction, provided that the information in such other parts of the record has sufficient indicia of reliability to support its probable accuracy". See §6A1.3 (Resolution of Disputed Factors)(Policy Statement). Option D would combine all three options, incorporating Option A as well as the additional sources of information in both Options B and C.

Issues for comment are also included.

Proposed Amendment:

OPTION 1:

§2L1.2. Unlawfully Entering or Remaining in the United States

- (a) Base Offense Level: 8

(b) Specific Offense Characteristic

(1) Apply the Greatest:

If the defendant previously was deported, or unlawfully remained in the United States, after—

- (A) a conviction for a felony that is (i) a drug trafficking offense for which the sentence imposed exceeded 13 months; (ii) a crime of violence; (iii) a firearms offense; (iv) a child pornography offense; (v) a national security or terrorism offense; (vi) a human trafficking offense; or (vii) an alien smuggling offense, increase by 16 levels if the conviction receives criminal history points under Chapter Four or by 12 levels if the conviction does not receive criminal history points;
- (B) a conviction for a felony drug trafficking offense for which the sentence imposed was 13 months or less, increase by 12 levels if the conviction receives criminal history points under Chapter Four or by 8 levels if the conviction does not receive criminal history points;
- (C) a conviction for an aggravated felony, increase by 8 levels;
- (D) a conviction for any other felony, increase by 4 levels; or
- (E) three or more convictions for misdemeanors that are crimes of violence or drug trafficking offenses, increase by 4 levels.

Commentary

Statutory Provisions: 8 U.S.C. § 1325(a) (second or subsequent offense only), 8 U.S.C. § 1326. For additional statutory provision(s), see Appendix A (Statutory Index).

Application Notes:

1. Application of Subsection (b)(1).—

(A) In General.—For purposes of subsection (b)(1):

- (i) A defendant shall be considered to be deported after a conviction if the defendant has been removed or has departed the United States while an order of exclusion, deportation, or removal was outstanding.
- (ii) A defendant shall be considered to be deported after a conviction if the deportation was subsequent to the conviction, regardless of whether the deportation was in response to the conviction.

- (iii) A defendant shall be considered to have unlawfully remained in the United States if the defendant remained in the United States following a removal order issued after a conviction, regardless of whether the removal order was in response to the conviction.
- (iv) Subsection (b)(1) does not apply to a conviction for an offense committed before the defendant was eighteen years of age unless such conviction is classified as an adult conviction under the laws of the jurisdiction in which the defendant was convicted.

(B) Definitions.—For purposes of subsection (b)(1):

- (i) "Alien smuggling offense" has the meaning given that term in section 101(a)(43)(N) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(43)(N)).
- (ii) "Child pornography offense" means (I) an offense described in 18 U.S.C. § 2251, § 2251A, § 2252, § 2252A, or § 2260; or (II) an offense under state or local law consisting of conduct that would have been an offense under any such section if the offense had occurred within the special maritime and territorial jurisdiction of the United States.
- (iii) "Crime of violence" means any of the following offenses under federal, state, or local law: murder, manslaughter, kidnapping, aggravated assault, forcible sex offenses (including where consent to the conduct is not given or is not legally valid, such as where consent to the conduct is involuntary, incompetent, or coerced), statutory rape, sexual abuse of a minor, robbery, arson, extortion, extortionate extension of credit, burglary of a dwelling, or any other offense under federal, state, or local law that has as an element the use, attempted use, or threatened use of physical force against the person of another.
- (iv) "Drug trafficking offense" means an offense under federal, state, or local law that prohibits the manufacture, import, export, distribution, or dispensing of, or offer to sell a controlled substance (or a counterfeit substance) or the possession of a controlled substance (or a counterfeit substance) with intent to manufacture, import, export, distribute, or dispense.
- (v) "Firearms offense" means any of the following:
  - (I) An offense under federal, state, or local law that prohibits the importation, distribution, transportation, or trafficking of a firearm described in 18 U.S.C. § 921, or of an explosive material as defined in 18 U.S.C. § 841(c).

- (II) An offense under federal, state, or local law that prohibits the possession of a firearm described in 26 U.S.C. § 5845(a), or of an explosive material as defined in 18 U.S.C. § 841(c).
- (III) A violation of 18 U.S.C. § 844(h).
- (IV) A violation of 18 U.S.C. § 924(c).
- (V) A violation of 18 U.S.C. § 929(a).
- (VI) An offense under state or local law consisting of conduct that would have been an offense under subdivision (III), (IV), or (V) if the offense had occurred within the special maritime and territorial jurisdiction of the United States.

(vi) "Human trafficking offense" means (I) any offense described in 18 U.S.C. § 1581, § 1582, § 1583, § 1584, § 1585, § 1588, § 1589, § 1590, or § 1591; or (II) an offense under state or local law consisting of conduct that would have been an offense under any such section if the offense had occurred within the special maritime and territorial jurisdiction of the United States.

(vii) "Sentence imposed" has the meaning given the term "sentence of imprisonment" in Application Note 2 and subsection (b) of §4A1.2 (Definitions and Instructions for Computing Criminal History), without regard to the date of the conviction. The length of the sentence imposed includes any term of imprisonment given upon revocation of probation, parole, or supervised release.

(viii) "Terrorism offense" means any offense involving, or intending to promote, a "Federal crime of terrorism", as that term is defined in 18 U.S.C. § 2332b(g)(5).

(C) Prior Convictions.—In determining the amount of an enhancement under subsection (b)(1), note that the levels in subsections (b)(1)(A) and (B) depend on whether the conviction receives criminal history points under Chapter Four (Criminal History and Criminal Livelihood), while subsections (b)(1)(C), (D), and (E) apply without regard to whether the conviction receives criminal history points.

[Option A:

(D) Documents Considered in Determining Whether Prior Conviction Falls Within Category of Offense.—In determining for purposes of subsection (b)(1) whether a prior conviction falls within a category of offense (e.g., whether a prior conviction qualifies as a "crime of violence" or "aggravated felony"), beyond the fact of conviction and the statutory definition of the prior offense, the court may look only to—

(i) the terms of the charging document,

- (ii) the terms of the plea agreement or transcript of colloquy between judge and defendant in which the factual basis for the plea was confirmed by the defendant,
- (iii) any explicit factual finding by the trial judge to which the defendant assented, or
- (iv) some comparable judicial record of this information.]

[Option B incorporates Option A, but also adds:

- (v) any uncontradicted, internally consistent parts of the record from the prior conviction.]

[Option C incorporates Option A, but also adds:

- (v) any other parts of the record from the prior conviction, provided that the information in such other parts of the record has sufficient indicia of reliability to support its probable accuracy. See subsection (a) to §6A1.3 (Resolution of Disputed Factors).]

[Option D combines all three options, i.e., it incorporates Option A and also adds the additional sources of information in both Options B and C, as follows:

- (v) any uncontradicted, internally consistent parts of the record from the prior conviction; or
- (vi) any other parts of the record from the prior conviction, provided that the information in such other parts of the record has sufficient indicia of reliability to support its probable accuracy. See subsection (a) to §6A1.3 (Resolution of Disputed Factors).]

2. Definition of "Felony".—For purposes of subsection (b)(1)(A), (B), and (D), "felony" means any federal, state, or local offense punishable by imprisonment for a term exceeding one year.

3. Application of Subsection (b)(1)(C).—

(A) Definitions.—For purposes of subsection (b)(1)(C), "aggravated felony" has the meaning given that term in section 101(a)(43) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(43)), without regard to the date of conviction for the aggravated felony.

(B) In General.—The offense level shall be increased under subsection (b)(1)(C) for any aggravated felony (as defined in subdivision (A)), with respect to which the offense level is not increased under subsections (b)(1)(A) or (B).

OPTION 2:

§6A1.3. Resolution of Disputed Factors (Policy Statement)

- (a) When any factor important to the sentencing determination is reasonably in dispute, the parties shall be given an adequate opportunity to present information to the court regarding that factor. In resolving any dispute concerning a factor important to the sentencing determination, the court may consider relevant information without regard to its admissibility under the rules of evidence applicable at trial, provided that the information has sufficient indicia of reliability to support its probable accuracy.
- (b) The court shall resolve disputed sentencing factors at a sentencing hearing in accordance with Rule 32(i), Fed. R. Crim. P.

Commentary

Although lengthy sentencing hearings seldom should be necessary, disputes about sentencing factors must be resolved with care. When a dispute exists about any factor important to the sentencing determination, the court must ensure that the parties have an adequate opportunity to present relevant information. Written statements of counsel or affidavits of witnesses may be adequate under many circumstances. See, e.g., United States v. Ibanez, 924 F.2d 427 (2d Cir. 1991). An evidentiary hearing may sometimes be the only reliable way to resolve disputed issues. See, e.g., United States v. Jimenez Martinez, 83 F.3d 488, 494-95 (1st Cir. 1996) (finding error in district court's denial of defendant's motion for evidentiary hearing given questionable reliability of affidavit on which the district court relied at sentencing); United States v. Roberts, 14 F.3d 502, 521(10th Cir. 1993) (remanding because district court did not hold evidentiary hearing to address defendants' objections to drug quantity determination or make requisite findings of fact regarding drug quantity); see also, United States v. Fatico, 603 F.2d 1053, 1057 n.9 (2d Cir. 1979), cert. denied, 444 U.S. 1073 (1980). The sentencing court must determine the appropriate procedure in light of the nature of the dispute, its relevance to the sentencing determination, and applicable case law.

In determining the relevant facts, sentencing judges are not restricted to information that would be admissible at trial. See 18 U.S.C. § 3661; see also United States v. Watts, 519 U.S. 148, 154 (1997) (holding that lower evidentiary standard at sentencing permits sentencing court's consideration of acquitted conduct); Witte v. United States, 515 U.S. 389, 399-401 (1995) (noting that sentencing courts have traditionally considered wide range of information without the procedural protections of a criminal trial, including information concerning criminal conduct that may be the subject of a subsequent prosecution); Nichols v. United States, 511 U.S. 738, 747-48 (1994) (noting that district courts have traditionally considered defendant's prior criminal conduct even when the conduct did not result in a conviction). Any information may be considered, so long as it has sufficient indicia of reliability to support its probable accuracy. Watts, 519 U.S. at 157; Nichols, 511 U.S. at 748; United States v. Zuleta-Alvarez, 922 F.2d 33 (1st Cir. 1990), cert. denied, 500 U.S. 927 (1991); United States v. Beaulieu, 893 F.2d 1177 (10th Cir.), cert. denied, 497 U.S. 1038 (1990). Reliable hearsay evidence may be considered. United States v. Petty, 982 F.2d 1365 (9th Cir. 1993), cert. denied, 510 U.S. 1040 (1994); United States v. Sciarrino, 884 F.2d 95 (3d Cir.), cert. denied, 493 U.S. 997 (1989). Out-of-court declarations by an unidentified informant may be considered where there is good cause for the non-disclosure of the informant's identity and there is sufficient corroboration by other means. United States v. Rogers, 1 F.3d 341 (5th Cir. 1993); see also United States v. Young, 981 F.2d 180 (5th Cir.), cert. denied, 508 U.S. 980 (1993); United States v. Fatico, 579 F.2d 707, 713 (2d Cir. 1978), cert. denied, 444 U.S. 1073 (1980). Unreliable allegations shall not be considered. United States v. Ortiz, 993 F.2d 204 (10th Cir. 1993).

The Commission believes that use of a preponderance of the evidence standard is appropriate to meet due process requirements and policy concerns in resolving disputes regarding application of the guidelines to the facts of a case.

[Option A:

In resolving a dispute as to whether a prior conviction falls within a category of offense for purposes of a guidelines provision (e.g., whether a prior conviction qualifies as a "crime of violence" or an "aggravated felony"), beyond the fact of the conviction and the statutory definition of the prior offense, the information that has sufficient indicia of reliability to support its probable accuracy is limited to—

- (A) the terms of the charging document;
- (B) the terms of the plea agreement or transcript of colloquy between judge and defendant in which the factual basis for the plea was confirmed by the defendant;
- (C) any explicit factual finding by the trial judge to which the defendant assented; or
- (D) some comparable judicial record of this information.]

[Option B incorporates Option A, but also adds:

- (E) any uncontradicted, internally consistent parts of the record from the prior conviction.]

[Option C incorporates Option A, but also adds:

- (E) any other parts of the record from the prior conviction for which there is sufficient indicia of reliability to support its probable accuracy.]

[Option D combines all three options, i.e., it incorporates Option A and also adds the additional sources of information in both Options B and C, as follows:

- (E) any uncontradicted, internally consistent parts of the record from the prior conviction; or
- (F) any other parts of the record from the prior conviction for which there is sufficient indicia of reliability to support its probable accuracy.]

Issues for Comment:

1. The proposed amendment provides four options for specifying the types of documents that may be considered in determining whether a particular prior conviction fits within a particular category of crimes. Are there any other types of documents that the Commission should include among the types of documents specified as documents that may be considered for this purpose? If so, what types of documents?

2. Option 1 of the proposed amendment amends only §2L1.2. However, the Supreme Court's "categorical approach" has been applied by lower courts to a variety of other guidelines that contain provisions that use a prior conviction as an aggravating factor if the prior conviction fits within a particular category of crimes. Among the most commonly applied are §2K2.1 (Unlawful Receipt, Possession, or Transportation of Firearms or Ammunition; Prohibited Transactions Involving Firearms or Ammunition) and §4B1.1 (Career Offender), each of which contain provisions that use a prior conviction as an aggravating factor if the prior conviction is a "crime of violence" or a "controlled substance offense". See, e.g., §2K2.1(a)(1)-(4), §4B1.1(a). Accordingly, Option 2 of the proposed amendment would apply throughout the Guidelines Manual.

As an alternative to Options 1 and 2, should the Commission apply the proposed amendment more broadly than Option 1 (§2L1.2-only) but more narrowly than Option 2 (guidelines-wide)? In particular, should the Commission apply the proposed amendment to §2L1.2 as well as one or more other specific guidelines? If so, which guidelines should the Commission amend?

6. PROPOSED AMENDMENT: DRIVING WHILE INTOXICATED

Synopsis of Proposed Amendment: This proposed amendment responds to an application issue regarding when a defendant's prior sentence for driving while intoxicated or driving under the influence (and similar offenses by whatever name they are known) is counted toward the defendant's criminal history score. There appear to be differences among the circuits on this issue.

The issue does not occur when the prior sentence is a felony, because "[s]entences for all felony offenses are counted." See subsection (c) of §4A1.2 (Definitions and Instructions for Computing Criminal History). However, when the prior sentence is a misdemeanor or petty offense, circuits have taken different approaches.

When the prior sentence is a misdemeanor or petty offense, §4A1.2(c) specifies that the offense is counted, but with two exceptions, which are limited to cases in which the prior offense is on (or similar to an offense that is on) either of two lists. On the first list are offenses from "careless or reckless driving" to "trespassing," and the exception applies if the prior offense is on (or similar to an offense that is on) the list. In such a case, the sentence is counted only if (A) the sentence was a term of probation of more than one year or a term of imprisonment of at least thirty days, or (B) the prior offense was similar to an instant offense. See §4A1.2(c)(1). On the second list are offenses from "fish and game violations" to "vagrancy," and the exception applies to any offense that is on (or similar to an offense that is on) the list. In such a case, the sentence is never counted. See §4A1.2(c)(2).

Several circuits have held that a sentence for driving while intoxicated — whether a felony, misdemeanor, or petty offense — is always counted toward the criminal history score, without exception, even if the offense met the criteria for either of the two lists. These circuits rely on Application Note 5 to §4A1.2, which provides:

Sentences for Driving While Intoxicated or Under the Influence.—Convictions for driving while intoxicated or under the influence (and similar offenses by whatever name they are known) are counted. Such offenses are not minor traffic infractions within the meaning of §4A1.2(c).

*The Seventh Circuit has read Application Note 5 as "reflect[ing] the Sentencing Commission's conclusion 'that driving while intoxicated offenses are of sufficient gravity to merit inclusion in the defendant's criminal history, however they might be classified under state law.'" United States v. LeBlanc, 45 F.3d 192, 195 (7th Cir. 1995) (quoting United States v. Jakobetz, 955 F.2d 786, 806 (2d Cir. 1992)). Thus, the Seventh Circuit has held, a sentence for driving while intoxicated is always counted, without exception. For example, such a sentence is counted even though it may otherwise qualify for a second-list exception, see LeBlanc, supra, 45 F.3d at 194-95 (sentence counts even though it was a local ordinance violation that was not also a violation under state criminal law).*

The Eighth Circuit has also relied on Application Note 5 to hold that a sentence for driving while intoxicated is always counted, without exception. See United States v. Pando, 545 F.3d 682 (8th Cir. 2008) (Colorado misdemeanor for driving a vehicle when a person has consumed alcohol or one or more other drugs which "affects the person to the slightest degree so that the person is less able than the person ordinarily would have been" to operate a vehicle was "similar" to driving while intoxicated or under the influence, and therefore automatically counted, without regard to the exceptions in §4A1.2(c)(1) and (2)).

The Second Circuit took a different approach in United States v. Potes-Castillo, 638 F.3d 106 (2d Cir. 2011). In that case, the Second Circuit held Application Note 5 to be ambiguous and could be read either (1) to "mean that, like felonies, driving while ability impaired sentences are always counted, without possibility of exception" or (2) "as setting forth the direction that driving while ability impaired sentences must not be treated as minor traffic infractions or local ordinance violations and excluded under section 4A1.2(c)(2)." Id. at 110-11. The Second Circuit adopted the second reading and, accordingly, held that a prior sentence for driving while ability impaired "should be treated like any other misdemeanor or petty offense, except that they cannot be exempted under section 4A1.2(c)(2)." Id. at 113. Accordingly, such a sentence can qualify for an exception under the first list (e.g., if it was similar to "careless or reckless driving" and the other criteria for a first-list exception were met).

The proposed amendment responds to the application issue by amending Application Note 5 consistent with the approaches of the Seventh and Eighth Circuits. Specifically, it amends Application Note 5 to clarify that such a sentence is always counted, without regard to how the offense is classified and without regard to whether any exception in §4A1.2(c)(1) or (2) otherwise applies.

Proposed Amendment:

§4A1.2. Definitions and Instructions for Computing Criminal History

* * *

(c) Sentences Counted and Excluded

Sentences for all felony offenses are counted. Sentences for misdemeanor and petty offenses are counted, except as follows:

- (1) Sentences for the following prior offenses and offenses similar to them, by whatever name they are known, are counted only if (A) the sentence was a term of probation of more than one year or a term of imprisonment of at least thirty days, or (B) the prior offense was similar to an instant offense:

- Careless or reckless driving
- Contempt of court
- Disorderly conduct or disturbing the peace
- Driving without a license or with a revoked or suspended license
- False information to a police officer
- Gambling
- Hindering or failure to obey a police officer
- Insufficient funds check
- Leaving the scene of an accident

Non-support
Prostitution
Resisting arrest
Trespassing.

- (2) Sentences for the following prior offenses and offenses similar to them, by whatever name they are known, are never counted:

Fish and game violations
Hitchhiking
Juvenile status offenses and truancy
Local ordinance violations (except those violations that are also violations under state criminal law)
Loitering
Minor traffic infractions (e.g., speeding)
Public intoxication
Vagrancy.

Commentary

Application Notes:

* * *

5. Sentences for Driving While Intoxicated or Under the Influence.—Convictions for driving while intoxicated or under the influence (and similar offenses by whatever name they are known) are always counted, without regard to how the offense is classified and without regard to whether any exception in §4A1.2(c)(1) or (2) otherwise applies. ~~Such offenses are not minor traffic infractions within the meaning of §4A1.2(c).~~

12. Application of Subsection (c).—

- (A) In General.—In determining whether an unlisted offense is similar to an offense listed in subsection (c)(1) or (c)(2), the court should use a common sense approach that includes consideration of relevant factors such as (i) a comparison of punishments imposed for the listed and unlisted offenses; (ii) the perceived seriousness of the offense as indicated by the level of punishment; (iii) the elements of the offense; (iv) the level of culpability involved; and (v) the degree to which the commission of the offense indicates a likelihood of recurring criminal conduct.
- (B) Local Ordinance Violations.—A number of local jurisdictions have enacted ordinances covering certain offenses (e.g., larceny and assault misdemeanors) that are also violations of state criminal law. This enables a local court (e.g., a municipal court) to exercise jurisdiction over such offenses. Such offenses are excluded from the definition of local ordinance violations in §4A1.2(c)(2) and, therefore, sentences for such offenses are to be treated as if the defendant had been convicted under state law.

- (C) Insufficient Funds Check.—"Insufficient funds check," as used in §4A1.2(c)(1), does not include any conviction establishing that the defendant used a false name or non-existent account.

Background: Prior sentences, not otherwise excluded, are to be counted in the criminal history score, including uncounseled misdemeanor sentences where imprisonment was not imposed.

7. PROPOSED AMENDMENT: BURGLARY OF A NON-DWELLING

Synopsis of Proposed Amendment: This proposed amendment responds to differences among the circuits on when, if at all, burglary of a non-dwelling qualifies as a crime of violence for purposes of the guidelines. Under a variety of guidelines, a defendant's sentence is subject to enhancement if the defendant previously committed a crime of violence.

The term "crime of violence" is defined in several different ways in the guidelines and in statute. The definition that has given rise to the differences among the circuits is contained in subsection (a) of §4B1.2 (Definitions of Terms Used in Section 4B1.1). This definition is used not only for determining whether a defendant's sentence is subject to enhancement in §4B1.1, but also for determining whether a defendant's sentence is subject to enhancement in a variety of other guidelines. See, e.g., §2K1.3(a)(1)–(2) & comment. (n.2); §2K2.1(a)(1),(2),(3)(B),(4)(A) & comment. (n.1), §2K2.1(b)(5) & comment. (n.13(B)); §2S1.1(b)(1)(B)(ii) & comment. (n.1); §4A1.1(e) & comment. (n.5).

The definition in §4B1.2(a) provides, among other things, that a felony is a crime of violence if it "is burglary of a dwelling, arson, or extortion, involves use of explosives, or otherwise involves conduct that presents a serious potential risk of physical injury to another." Thus, §4B1.2(a) specifies that burglary of a dwelling is always a crime of violence but is silent about burglary of a non-dwelling.

Courts have observed that this clause in §4B1.2(a) substantially parallels a clause in 18 U.S.C. § 924(e), except that the statutory provision specifies that any burglary is a crime of violence while the guideline provision is more limited, specifying that burglary of a dwelling is a crime of violence. There are different approaches among the circuits about whether burglary of a non-dwelling is a crime of violence under §4B1.2(a). The Fourth, Tenth, and Eleventh Circuits have held that burglary of a non-dwelling is never a crime of violence under §4B1.2(a). See, e.g., United States v. Smith, 10 F.3d 724, 733 (10th Cir. 1993) (per curiam) (holding that, in promulgating §4B1.2 with language limiting a crime of violence to "burglary of a dwelling," the Commission "obviously declined" to adopt the view that all burglaries present the serious potential risk of physical injury to another necessary to bring the crime within the residual clause); see also United States v. Harrison, 58 F.3d 115, 119 (4th Cir. 1995); United States v. Spell, 44 F.3d 936, 938-39 (11th Cir. 1995) (per curiam). The Second and Eighth Circuits have held that burglary of a non-dwelling is always a crime of violence under §4B1.2(a). See, e.g., United States v. Brown, 514 F.3d 256, 264-67 (2d Cir. 2008) (concluding that burglary of a non-dwelling falls within the residual clause at §4B1.2(a) in light of the identically worded residual clause in § 924(e), the circuit court's previous holding that the residual clause in § 924(e) includes burglary of a non-dwelling, and the absence of a relevant statement by the Commission on the issue); see also United States v. Ross, 613 F.3d 805, 809 (8th Cir. 2010). The First, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, and Ninth Circuits have declined to adopt per se rules, holding instead that the question depends on the individual circumstances of each case. See, e.g., United States v. Giggey, 551 F.3d 27 (1st Cir. 2008) (en banc); United States v. Matthews, 374 F.3d 872, 880 (9th Cir. 2004); United States v. Houltz, 240 F.3d 647, 651-52 (7th Cir. 2001); United States v. Wilson, 168 F.3d 916, 928 (6th Cir. 1999); United States v. Turner, 349 F.3d 833 (5th Cir. 2003).

The proposed amendment presents two options for resolving this issue. The first option specifies that all burglaries are crimes of violence. The second option specifies that burglary of a non-dwelling is not a crime of violence [, unless the offense meets the requirement of subsection (a)(1), i.e., it has as an element the use, attempted use, or threatened use of physical force against the person of another].

Two issues for comment are also provided. The first issue for comment asks whether the Commission should consider a third option, i.e., to specify that whether burglary of a non-dwelling is a crime of violence depends on the individual circumstances of each case. The second issue for comment asks whether the Commission should also address the definition of "crime of violence" in §2L1.2, which presents a similar issue.

Proposed Amendment:

§4B1.2. Definitions of Terms Used in Section 4B1.1

(a) The term "crime of violence" means any offense under federal or state law, punishable by imprisonment for a term exceeding one year, that --

(1) has as an element the use, attempted use, or threatened use of physical force against the person of another, or

[Option 1: (2) is burglary of a dwelling, arson, or extortion, involves use of explosives, or otherwise involves conduct that presents a serious potential risk of physical injury to another.]

(b) The term "controlled substance offense" means an offense under federal or state law, punishable by imprisonment for a term exceeding one year, that prohibits the manufacture, import, export, distribution, or dispensing of a controlled substance (or a counterfeit substance) or the possession of a controlled substance (or a counterfeit substance) with intent to manufacture, import, export, distribute, or dispense.

(c) The term "two prior felony convictions" means (1) the defendant committed the instant offense of conviction subsequent to sustaining at least two felony convictions of either a crime of violence or a controlled substance offense (i.e., two felony convictions of a crime of violence, two felony convictions of a controlled substance offense, or one felony conviction of a crime of violence and one felony conviction of a controlled substance offense), and (2) the sentences for at least two of the aforementioned felony convictions are counted separately under the provisions of §4A1.1(a), (b), or (c). The date that a defendant sustained a conviction shall be the date that the guilt of the defendant has been established, whether by guilty plea, trial, or plea of nolo contendere.

Commentary

Application Notes:

1. For purposes of this guideline—

"Crime of violence" and "controlled substance offense" include the offenses of aiding and abetting, conspiring, and attempting to commit such offenses.

"Crime of violence" includes murder, manslaughter, kidnapping, aggravated assault, forcible sex offenses, robbery, arson, extortion, extortionate extension of credit, and burglary of a dwelling. Other offenses are included as "crimes of violence" if (A) that offense has as an element the use, attempted use, or threatened use of physical force against the person of another, or (B) the conduct set forth (i.e., expressly charged) in the count of which the defendant was convicted involved use of explosives (including any explosive material or destructive device) or, by its nature, presented a serious potential risk of physical injury to another.]

[Option 2 would leave the above paragraph unchanged and would add the following:

"Crime of violence" does not include burglary of a structure other than a dwelling [, unless the offense meets the requirement of subsection (a)(1), i.e., it has as an element the use, attempted use, or threatened use of physical force against the person of another].]

"Crime of violence" does not include the offense of unlawful possession of a firearm by a felon, unless the possession was of a firearm described in 26 U.S.C. § 5845(a). Where the instant offense of conviction is the unlawful possession of a firearm by a felon, §2K2.1 (Unlawful Receipt, Possession, or Transportation of Firearms or Ammunition; Prohibited Transactions Involving Firearms or Ammunition) provides an increase in offense level if the defendant had one or more prior felony convictions for a crime of violence or controlled substance offense; and, if the defendant is sentenced under the provisions of 18 U.S.C. § 924(e), §4B1.4 (Armed Career Criminal) will apply.

Unlawfully possessing a listed chemical with intent to manufacture a controlled substance (21 U.S.C. § 841(c)(1)) is a "controlled substance offense."

Unlawfully possessing a firearm described in 26 U.S.C. § 5845(a) (e.g., a sawed-off shotgun or sawed-off rifle, silencer, bomb, or machine gun) is a "crime of violence."

Unlawfully possessing a prohibited flask or equipment with intent to manufacture a controlled substance (21 U.S.C. § 843(a)(6)) is a "controlled substance offense."

Maintaining any place for the purpose of facilitating a drug offense (21 U.S.C. § 856) is a "controlled substance offense" if the offense of conviction established that the underlying offense (the offense facilitated) was a "controlled substance offense."

Using a communications facility in committing, causing, or facilitating a drug offense (21 U.S.C. § 843(b)) is a "controlled substance offense" if the offense of conviction established that the underlying offense (the offense committed, caused, or facilitated) was a "controlled substance offense."

A violation of 18 U.S.C. § 924(c) or § 929(a) is a "crime of violence" or a "controlled substance offense" if the offense of conviction established that the underlying offense was a "crime of violence" or a "controlled substance offense". (Note that in the case of a prior 18

U.S.C. § 924(c) or § 929(a) conviction, if the defendant also was convicted of the underlying offense, the sentences for the two prior convictions will be counted as a single sentence under §4A1.2 (Definitions and Instructions for Computing Criminal History).)

"Prior felony conviction" means a prior adult federal or state conviction for an offense punishable by death or imprisonment for a term exceeding one year, regardless of whether such offense is specifically designated as a felony and regardless of the actual sentence imposed. A conviction for an offense committed at age eighteen or older is an adult conviction. A conviction for an offense committed prior to age eighteen is an adult conviction if it is classified as an adult conviction under the laws of the jurisdiction in which the defendant was convicted (e.g., a federal conviction for an offense committed prior to the defendant's eighteenth birthday is an adult conviction if the defendant was expressly proceeded against as an adult).

2. Section 4B1.1 (Career Offender) expressly provides that the instant and prior offenses must be crimes of violence or controlled substance offenses of which the defendant was convicted. Therefore, in determining whether an offense is a crime of violence or controlled substance for the purposes of §4B1.1 (Career Offender), the offense of conviction (i.e., the conduct of which the defendant was convicted) is the focus of inquiry.
3. The provisions of §4A1.2 (Definitions and Instructions for Computing Criminal History) are applicable to the counting of convictions under §4B1.1.

Issues for Comment:

1. The two options presented in the proposed amendment would amend §4B1.2 in either of two ways -- to specify that the offense of burglary is always a crime of violence, or to specify that the offense of burglary of a non-dwelling is never a crime of violence. Should the Commission instead consider a third option -- to specify that, in determining whether burglary of a non-dwelling is a crime of violence under §4B1.2(a), the court should determine whether the particular offense satisfies the requirements of the definition's residual clause (i.e., whether the offense "involves conduct that presents a serious potential risk of physical injury to another")?
2. The issue of whether burglary of a non-dwelling is a crime of violence is also presented in §2L1.2 (Unlawfully Entering or Remaining in the United States), which contains its own definition of "crime of violence". That definition, as with the definition in §4B1.2(a), specifies that burglary of a dwelling is a crime of violence, but is silent about burglary of a non-dwelling. If the Commission amends the definition in §4B1.2 to clarify when, if at all, burglary of a non-dwelling is a crime of violence, should it also make a parallel change to the definition in §2L1.2?

8. PROPOSED AMENDMENT: MULTIPLE COUNTS (§5G1.2)

Synopsis of Proposed Amendment: This proposed amendment responds to an application issue regarding the applicable guideline range in a case in which the defendant is sentenced on multiple counts of conviction, at least one of which involves a mandatory minimum sentence that is greater than the minimum of the otherwise applicable guideline range. There are differences among the circuits on this issue.

The issue arises under §5G1.2 (Sentencing on Multiple Counts of Conviction) when at least one count in a multiple-count case involves a mandatory minimum sentence that affects the otherwise applicable guideline range. In such cases, circuits differ over whether the guideline range is affected only for the count involving the mandatory minimum or for all counts in the case. The cases indicate that there may also be an ancillary application issue over how the "total punishment" is to be determined and imposed under §5G1.1(b).

The Fifth Circuit has held that, in such a case, the effect on the guideline range applies to all counts in the case. See United States v. Salter, 241 F.3d 392, 395-96 (5th Cir. 2001). In that case, the guideline range on the Sentencing Table was 87 to 108 months, but one of the three counts carried a mandatory minimum sentence of 10 years (120 months), which resulted in a guideline sentence of 120 months. The Fifth Circuit instructed the district court that the appropriate guideline sentence was 120 months on each of the three counts.

The Ninth Circuit took a different approach in United States v. Evans-Martinez, 611 F.3d 635 (9th Cir. 2010), holding that, in such a case, "a mandatory minimum count becomes the starting point for any count that carries a mandatory minimum sentence higher than what would otherwise be the Guidelines sentencing range," but "[a]ll other counts . . . are sentenced based on the Guidelines sentencing range, regardless of the mandatory minimum sentences that apply to other counts." See id. at 637. The Ninth Circuit stated that it would be more "logical" to follow the Fifth Circuit's approach but "such logic is overcome by the precise language of the Sentencing Guidelines". See id.

The District of Columbia Circuit appears to follow an approach similar to the Ninth Circuit. See United States v. Kennedy, 133 F.3d 53, 60-61 (D.C. Cir. 1998) (one of two counts carried a mandatory sentence of life imprisonment; district court treated life imprisonment as the guidelines sentence for both counts; Court of Appeals reversed, holding that the appropriate guidelines range for the other count was 262 to 327 months).

The proposed amendment adopts the approach followed by the Fifth Circuit and makes three changes to §5G1.2.

First, it amends §5G1.2(b) to clarify that the court is to determine the total punishment (i.e., the combined length of the sentences to be imposed) and impose that total punishment on each count, except to the extent otherwise required by law.

Second, it amends the Commentary to clarify that the defendant's guideline range in a multiple-count case may be restricted by a mandatory minimum penalty or statutory maximum penalty in a manner similar to how the guideline range in a single-count case may be restricted by a minimum or maximum penalty under §5G1.1 (Sentencing on a Single Count of Conviction). Specifically, it clarifies that when any count involves a mandatory minimum that restricts the defendant's guideline range, the guideline range is restricted as to all counts. It also provides examples of how these restrictions operate.

Third, it amends the commentary to clarify that in a case in which a defendant's guideline range was affected or restricted by a mandatory minimum penalty, the court is resentencing the defendant, and the mandatory minimum sentence no longer applies, the court shall redetermine the defendant's guideline range for purposes of the remaining counts without regard to the mandatory minimum penalty.

Proposed Amendment:

§5G1.2. Sentencing on Multiple Counts of Conviction

- (a) Except as provided in subsection (e), the sentence to be imposed on a count for which the statute (1) specifies a term of imprisonment to be imposed; and (2) requires that such term of imprisonment be imposed to run consecutively to any other term of imprisonment, shall be determined by that statute and imposed independently.
- (b) ~~Except as otherwise required by law (see §5G1.1(a), (b)), the sentence imposed on each other count shall be the total punishment as determined in accordance with Part D of Chapter Three, and Part C of this Chapter. For all counts not covered by subsection (a), the court shall determine the total punishment (i.e., the combined length of the sentences to be imposed) and shall impose that total punishment on each such count, except to the extent otherwise required by law.~~
- (c) If the sentence imposed on the count carrying the highest statutory maximum is adequate to achieve the total punishment, then the sentences on all counts shall run concurrently, except to the extent otherwise required by law.
- (d) If the sentence imposed on the count carrying the highest statutory maximum is less than the total punishment, then the sentence imposed on one or more of the other counts shall run consecutively, but only to the extent necessary to produce a combined sentence equal to the total punishment. In all other respects, sentences on all counts shall run concurrently, except to the extent otherwise required by law.
- (e) In a case in which subsection (c) of §4B1.1 (Career Offender) applies, to the extent possible, the total punishment is to be apportioned among the counts of conviction, except that (1) the sentence to be imposed on a count requiring a minimum term of imprisonment shall be at least the minimum required by statute; and (2) the sentence to be imposed on the 18 U.S.C. § 924(c) or § 929(a) count shall be imposed to run consecutively to any other count.

Application Notes:

1. In General.—This section specifies the procedure for determining the specific sentence to be formally imposed on each count in a multiple-count case. The combined length of the sentences ("total punishment") is determined by the court after determining the adjusted combined offense level and the Criminal History Category: and determining the defendant's guideline range on the Sentencing Table in Chapter Five, Part A (Sentencing Table).

Note that the defendant's guideline range on the Sentencing Table may be affected or restricted by a statutorily authorized maximum sentence or a statutorily required minimum sentence not only in a single-count case, see §5G1.1 (Sentencing on a Single Count of Conviction), but also in a multiple-count case. See Note 3, below.

Except as otherwise required by subsection (e) or any other law, the total punishment is to be imposed on each count and the sentences on all counts are to be imposed to run concurrently to the extent allowed by the statutory maximum sentence of imprisonment for each count of conviction.

This section applies to multiple counts of conviction (A) contained in the same indictment or information, or (B) contained in different indictments or informations for which sentences are to be imposed at the same time or in a consolidated proceeding.

Usually, at least one of the counts will have a statutory maximum adequate to permit imposition of the total punishment as the sentence on that count. The sentence on each of the other counts will then be set at the lesser of the total punishment and the applicable statutory maximum, and be made to run concurrently with all or part of the longest sentence. If no count carries an adequate statutory maximum, consecutive sentences are to be imposed to the extent necessary to achieve the total punishment.

2. Mandatory Minimum and Mandatory Consecutive Terms of Imprisonment (Not Covered by Subsection (e)).—

(A) In General.—Subsection (a) applies if a statute (i) specifies a term of imprisonment to be imposed; and (ii) requires that such term of imprisonment be imposed to run consecutively to any other term of imprisonment. See, e.g., 18 U.S.C. § 924(c) (requiring mandatory minimum terms of imprisonment, based on the conduct involved, and also requiring the sentence imposed to run consecutively to any other term of imprisonment) and 18 U.S.C. § 1028A (requiring a mandatory term of imprisonment of either two or five years, based on the conduct involved, and also requiring, except in the circumstances described in subdivision (B), the sentence imposed to run consecutively to any other term of imprisonment). Except for certain career offender situations in which subsection (c) of §4B1.1 (Career Offender) applies, the term of years to be imposed consecutively is the minimum required by the statute of conviction and is independent of the guideline sentence on any other count. See, e.g., the Commentary to §§2K2.4 (Use of Firearm, Armor-Piercing Ammunition, or Explosive During or in Relation to Certain Crimes) and 3D1.1

(Procedure for Determining Offense Level on Multiple Counts) regarding the determination of the offense levels for related counts when a conviction under 18 U.S.C. § 924(c) is involved. Subsection (a) also applies in certain other instances in which an independently determined and consecutive sentence is required. See, e.g., Application Note 3 of the Commentary to §2J1.6 (Failure to Appear by Defendant), relating to failure to appear for service of sentence.

- (B) Multiple Convictions Under 18 U.S.C. § 1028A.—Section 1028A of title 18, United States Code, generally requires that the mandatory term of imprisonment for a violation of such section be imposed consecutively to any other term of imprisonment. However, 18 U.S.C. § 1028A(b)(4) permits the court, in its discretion, to impose the mandatory term of imprisonment on a defendant for a violation of such section "concurrently, in whole or in part, only with another term of imprisonment that is imposed by the court at the same time on that person for an additional violation of this section, provided that such discretion shall be exercised in accordance with any applicable guidelines and policy statements issued by the Sentencing Commission. . .".

In determining whether multiple counts of 18 U.S.C. § 1028A should run concurrently with, or consecutively to, each other, the court should consider the following non-exhaustive list of factors:

- (i) The nature and seriousness of the underlying offenses. For example, the court should consider the appropriateness of imposing consecutive, or partially consecutive, terms of imprisonment for multiple counts of 18 U.S.C. § 1028A in a case in which an underlying offense for one of the 18 U.S.C. § 1028A offenses is a crime of violence or an offense enumerated in 18 U.S.C. § 2332b(g)(5)(B).
- (ii) Whether the underlying offenses are groupable under §3D1.2 (Groups of Closely Related Counts). Generally, multiple counts of 18 U.S.C. § 1028A should run concurrently with one another in cases in which the underlying offenses are groupable under §3D1.2.
- (iii) Whether the purposes of sentencing set forth in 18 U.S.C. § 3553(a)(2) are better achieved by imposing a concurrent or a consecutive sentence for multiple counts of 18 U.S.C. § 1028A.

- (C) Imposition of Supervised Release.—In the case of a consecutive term of imprisonment imposed under subsection (a), any term of supervised release imposed is to run concurrently with any other term of supervised release imposed. See 18 U.S.C. § 3624(e).

3. Application of Subsection (b).—

- (A) In General.—Subsection (b) provides that, for all counts not covered by subsection (a), the court shall determine the total punishment (i.e., the combined length of the sentences to be imposed) and shall impose that total punishment on each such count, except to the extent otherwise required by law (such as where a statutorily required minimum sentence or a statutorily authorized maximum sentence otherwise requires).

- (B) Effect on Guidelines Range of Mandatory Minimum or Statutory Maximum.—The defendant's guideline range on the Sentencing Table may be affected or restricted by a statutorily authorized maximum sentence or a statutorily required minimum sentence not only in a single-count case, see §5G1.1, but also in a multiple-count case.

In particular, where a statutorily required minimum sentence on any count is greater than the maximum of the applicable guideline range, the statutorily required minimum sentence on that count shall be the guideline sentence on all counts. See §5G1.1(b). Similarly, where a statutorily required minimum sentence on any count is greater than the minimum of the applicable guideline range, the guideline range for all counts is restricted by that statutorily required minimum sentence. See §5G1.1(c)(2) and accompanying Commentary.

However, where a statutorily authorized maximum sentence on a particular count is less than the minimum of the applicable guideline range, the sentence imposed on that count shall not be greater than the statutorily authorized maximum sentence on that count. See §5G1.1(a).

- (C) Examples.—The following examples illustrate how subsection (b) applies, and how the restrictions in subparagraph (B) operate, when a statutorily required minimum sentence is involved.

Defendant A and Defendant B are each convicted of the same four counts. Counts 1, 3, and 4 have statutory maximums of 10 years, 20 years, and 2 years, respectively. Count 2 has a statutory maximum of 30 years and a mandatory minimum of 10 years.

For Defendant A, the court determines that the final offense level is 19 and the defendant is in Criminal History Category I, which yields a guideline range on the Sentencing Table of 30 to 37 months. Because of the 10-year mandatory minimum on Count 2, however, Defendant A's guideline sentence is 120 months. See subparagraph (B), above. After considering that guideline sentence, the court determines that the appropriate "total punishment" to be imposed on Defendant A is 120 months. Therefore, subsection (b) requires that the total punishment of 120 months be imposed on each of Counts 1, 2, and 3. The sentence imposed on Count 4 is limited to 24 months, because a statutory maximum of 2 years applies to that particular count.

For Defendant B, in contrast, the court determines that the final offense level is 30 and the defendant is in Criminal History Category II, which yields a guideline range on the Sentencing Table of 108 to 135 months. Because of the 10-year mandatory minimum on Count 2, however, Defendant B's guideline range is restricted to 120 to 135 months. See subparagraph (B), above. After considering that restricted guideline range, the court determines that the appropriate "total punishment" to be imposed on Defendant B is 130 months. Therefore, subsection (b) requires that the total punishment of 130 months be imposed on each of Counts 2 and 3. The sentences imposed on Counts 1 and 4 are limited to 120 months (10 years) and 24 months (2 years), respectively, because of the applicable statutory maximums.

(D) Special Rule on Resentencing.—In a case in which (i) the defendant's guideline range on the Sentencing Table was affected or restricted by a statutorily required minimum sentence (as described in subparagraph (B)), (ii) the court is resentencing the defendant, and (iii) the statutorily required minimum sentence no longer applies, the defendant's guideline range for purposes of the remaining counts shall be redetermined without regard to the previous effect or restriction of the statutorily required minimum sentence.

34. Career Offenders Covered under Subsection (e).—

- (A) Imposing Sentence.—The sentence imposed for a conviction under 18 U.S.C. § 924(c) or § 929(a) shall, under that statute, consist of a minimum term of imprisonment imposed to run consecutively to the sentence on any other count. Subsection (e) requires that the total punishment determined under §4B1.1(c) be apportioned among all the counts of conviction. In most cases this can be achieved by imposing the statutory minimum term of imprisonment on the 18 U.S.C. § 924(c) or § 929(a) count, subtracting that minimum term of imprisonment from the total punishment determined under §4B1.1(c), and then imposing the balance of the total punishment on the other counts of conviction. In some cases covered by subsection (e), a consecutive term of imprisonment longer than the minimum required by 18 U.S.C. § 924(c) or § 929(a) will be necessary in order both to achieve the total punishment determined by the court and to comply with the applicable statutory requirements.
- (B) Examples.—The following examples illustrate the application of subsection (e) in a multiple count situation:
- (i) The defendant is convicted of one count of violating 18 U.S.C. § 924(c) for possessing a firearm in furtherance of a drug trafficking offense (5 year mandatory minimum), and one count of violating 21 U.S.C. § 841(b)(1)(C) (20 year statutory maximum). Applying §4B1.1(c), the court determines that a sentence of 300 months is appropriate (applicable guideline range of 262-327). The court then imposes a sentence of 60 months on the 18 U.S.C. § 924(c) count, subtracts that 60 months from the total punishment of 300 months and imposes the remainder of 240 months on the 21 U.S.C. § 841 count. As required by statute, the sentence on the 18 U.S.C. § 924(c) count is imposed to run consecutively.
  - (ii) The defendant is convicted of one count of 18 U.S.C. § 924(c) (5 year mandatory minimum), and one count of violating 21 U.S.C. § 841(b)(1)(C) (20 year statutory maximum). Applying §4B1.1(c), the court determines that a sentence of 327 months is appropriate (applicable guideline range of 262-327). The court then imposes a sentence of 240 months on the 21 U.S.C. § 841 count and a sentence of 87 months on the 18 U.S.C. § 924(c) count to run consecutively to the sentence on the 21 U.S.C. § 841 count.

- (iii) The defendant is convicted of two counts of 18 U.S.C. § 924(c) (5 year mandatory minimum on first count, 25 year mandatory minimum on second count) and one count of violating 18 U.S.C. § 113(a)(3) (10 year statutory maximum). Applying §4B1.1(c), the court determines that a sentence of 460 months is appropriate (applicable guideline range of 460-485 months). The court then imposes (I) a sentence of 60 months on the first 18 U.S.C. § 924(c) count; (II) a sentence of 300 months on the second 18 U.S.C. § 924(c) count; and

- (III) a sentence of 100 months on the 18 U.S.C. § 113(a)(3) count. The sentence on each count is imposed to run consecutively to the other counts.

9. PROPOSED AMENDMENT: REHABILITATION

Synopsis of Proposed Amendment: This proposed amendment responds to Pepper v. United States, 131 S.Ct. 1229 (2011), which held, among other things, that a defendant's post-sentencing rehabilitative efforts may be considered when the defendant is resentenced after appeal. See id. at 1236 (holding that "when a defendant's sentence has been set aside on appeal, a district court at resentencing may consider evidence of the defendant's postsentencing rehabilitation and that such evidence may, in appropriate cases, support a downward variance from the now-advisory Federal Sentencing Guidelines.").

The policy statement in the guidelines on post-sentencing rehabilitation is §5K2.19 (Post-Sentencing Rehabilitative Efforts). Two options are presented:

Option 1 repeals §5K2.19.

Option 2 amends §5K2.19 to provide that rehabilitative efforts, whether pre- or post-sentencing, may be relevant in determining whether a departure is warranted, if the efforts, individually or in combination with other circumstances, are present to an unusual degree and distinguish the case from the typical cases covered by the guidelines.

*Option 2 also adds commentary to §5K2.19 that sets forth a two-part test for determining whether a departure may be warranted and factors for the court to consider in determining whether a departure may be warranted. See generally Pepper v. United States, supra; Gall v. United States, 552 U.S. 38, 57-58 (2007) (in which the district court "quite reasonably attached great weight to the fact that [defendant] voluntarily withdrew from the conspiracy after deciding, on his own initiative, to change his life").*

Proposed Amendment:

OPTION 1:

~~§5K2.19. — Post-Sentencing Rehabilitative Efforts (Policy Statement)~~

~~————— Post-sentencing rehabilitative efforts, even if exceptional, undertaken by a defendant after imposition of a term of imprisonment for the instant offense are not an appropriate basis for a downward departure when resentencing the defendant for that offense. (Such efforts may provide a basis for early termination of supervised release under 18 U.S.C. § 3583(e)(1).)~~

~~————— Commentary~~

~~Background: The Commission has determined that post-sentencing rehabilitative measures should not provide a basis for downward departure when resentencing a defendant initially sentenced to a term of imprisonment because such a departure would (1) be inconsistent with the policies established by Congress under 18 U.S.C. § 3624(b) and other statutory provisions for reducing the time to be served by an imprisoned person; and (2) inequitably benefit only those who gain the opportunity to be resentenced de novo.~~

OPTION 2:

§5K2.19. Post-Sentencing Rehabilitative Efforts (Policy Statement)

Post-sentencing rehabilitative efforts, even if exceptional, undertaken by a defendant after imposition of a term of imprisonment for the instant offense are not an appropriate basis for a downward departure when resentencing the defendant for that offense. (Such efforts may provide a basis for early termination of supervised release under 18 U.S.C. § 3583(e)(1).)

Rehabilitative efforts may be relevant in determining whether a departure is warranted if the rehabilitative efforts, individually or in combination with other circumstances, are present to an unusual degree and distinguish the case from the typical cases covered by the guidelines.

In addition, pre-sentencing rehabilitative efforts may be relevant in determining acceptance of responsibility under §3E1.1 (Acceptance of Responsibility), and post-sentencing rehabilitative efforts may provide a basis for early termination of supervised release under 18 U.S.C. § 3583(e)(1).

Commentary

Application Note:

1. In determining whether to provide a downward departure based on rehabilitative efforts, the court should consider whether the defendant engaged in a pattern of activity that demonstrates that (A) the defendant has been making a genuine and purposeful effort to lead a law-abiding life and (B) the effort is likely to be successful.

The pattern of activity should involve specific rehabilitative acts. Examples of such acts are voluntarily withdrawing from a conspiracy, obtaining counseling, entering drug treatment, maintaining regular employment, making efforts to remedy the harm caused by the offense, and making educational progress.

The court may also consider the extent to which the specific rehabilitative acts were taken at the defendant's own initiative.

*Background: The Commission has determined that post-sentencing rehabilitative measures should not provide a basis for downward departure when resentencing a defendant initially sentenced to a term of imprisonment because such a departure would (1) be inconsistent with the policies established by Congress under 18 U.S.C. § 3624(b) and other statutory provisions for reducing the time to be served by an imprisoned person; and (2) inequitably benefit only those who gain the opportunity to be resentenced de novo. A defendant's post-offense rehabilitative efforts may be considered at sentencing. See, e.g., Gall v. United States, 552 U.S. 38 (2007). Such efforts may also be relevant in determining whether an adjustment applies under §3E1.1 (Acceptance of Responsibility) and whether a departure is warranted under §5K2.16 (Voluntary Disclosure of Offense). Similarly, a defendant's post-sentencing rehabilitative efforts may be considered when the defendant is resentenced after appeal. See Pepper v. United States, 131 S.Ct. 1229, 1236 (2011)*

(holding that "when a defendant's sentence has been set aside on appeal, a district court at resentencing may consider evidence of the defendant's postsentencing rehabilitation" and that such evidence "may, in appropriate cases," support a sentence below the applicable guideline range).

10. PROPOSED AMENDMENT: MISCELLANEOUS

Synopsis of Proposed Amendment: This proposed multi-part amendment responds to miscellaneous issues arising from recently enacted legislation.

Part A responds to the Cell Phone Contraband Act of 2010, Pub. L. 111–225 (August 10, 2010), which amended 18 U.S.C. § 1791 (Providing or possessing contraband in prison) to make it a class A misdemeanor to provide a mobile phone or similar device to an inmate, or for an inmate to possess a mobile phone or similar device — specifically, "a phone or other device used by a user of commercial mobile service (as defined in section 332(d) of Title 47) in connection with such service". See 18 U.S.C. § 1791(d)(1)(F). Offenses under section 1791 are referenced in Appendix A (Statutory Index) to §2P1.2 (Providing or Possessing Contraband in Prison). The other class A misdemeanors in section 1791 involve currency, alcohol, and certain controlled substances; those other types of contraband receive a base offense level of 6 in §2P1.2. The proposed amendment amends §2P1.2 to assign mobile phones and similar devices to a particular alternative base offense level in the guidelines. Two options are presented. Option 1 assigns a base offense level of 13. Option 2 assigns a base offense level of 6.

*Part B responds to the Prevent All Cigarette Trafficking Act of 2009 (PACT Act), Pub. L. 111–154 (enacted March 31, 2010). The PACT Act made a series of revisions to the Jenkins Act, 15 U.S.C. § 575 et seq., which is one of several laws governing the sale, shipment and taxation of cigarettes and smokeless tobacco. First, the PACT Act raised the criminal penalty at 15 U.S.C. § 377 for a knowing violation of the Jenkins Act from a misdemeanor to a felony with a statutory maximum term of imprisonment of 3 years. The proposed amendment amends Appendix A (Statutory Index) to reference section 377 offenses to §2T2.1 (Non-Payment of Taxes). The possibility of an additional reference, to §2T2.2 (Regulatory Offenses), is bracketed.*

Second, the PACT Act created a new Class A misdemeanor at 18 U.S.C. § 1716E, prohibiting the knowing shipment of cigarettes and smokeless tobacco through the United States mail. The proposed amendment amends Appendix A (Statutory Index) to reference section 1716E offenses to either or both of two bracketed options, §2T2.1 and §2T2.2.

Part C responds to the Indian Arts and Crafts Amendments Act of 2010, Pub. L. 111–211 (July 29, 2010), which amended the criminal offense at 18 U.S.C. § 1159 (Misrepresentation of Indian produced goods and services) to reduce penalties for first offenders when the value of the goods involved is less than $1,000. The maximum term of imprisonment under section 1159 had been 5 years for a first offender and 15 years for a repeat offender. The Act retained this penalty structure, except that the statutory maximum for a first offender was reduced to 1 year in a case in which the value of the goods involved is less than $1,000. The proposed amendment amends Appendix A (Statutory Index) to reference section 1159 offenses to §2B1.1 (Theft, Property Destruction, and Fraud).

Part C also addresses an existing offense, 18 U.S.C. § 1158 (Counterfeiting Indian Arts and Crafts Board trade mark), which makes it a crime to counterfeit or unlawfully affix a Government trade mark used or devised by the Indian Arts and Crafts Board or to make any false statement for the purpose of obtaining the use of any such mark. The maximum term of imprisonment under section 1158 is 5 years for a first offender and 15 years for a repeat offender. Offenses under section 1158 are not referenced in Appendix A (Statutory Index). The proposed amendment references section 1158 offenses to both §2B1.1 and §2B5.3 (Criminal Infringement of Copyright or Trademark).

Part D responds to Public Law 111–350 (enacted January 4, 2011), which enacted certain laws relating to public contracts as a new positive-law title of the Code — title 41, "Public Contracts". As part of this codification, two criminal offenses, 41 U.S.C. §§ 53 and 423(a)–(b), and their respective penalty provisions, 41 U.S.C. §§ 54 and 423(e), were given new title 41 U.S.C. section numbers: sections 8702 and 8707 for sections 53 and 54, and sections 2102 and 2105 for sections 423(a)–(b) and 423(e). The substantive offenses and their related penalties did not change. The proposed amendment makes clerical changes to Appendix A (Statutory Index) to reflect the renumbering and includes a reference for the new section 2102, whose predecessor section 423(a)–(b) was not referenced in Appendix A.

Part E responds to the Animal Crush Video Prohibition Act of 2010, Pub. L. 111–294 (enacted December 9, 2010), which substantially revised the criminal offense at 18 U.S.C. § 48 (Animal crush videos). Section 48 makes it a crime to create or distribute an "animal crush video," as defined in section 48 (which requires, among other things, that the depiction be "obscene"). The maximum term of imprisonment for a section 48 offense is 7 years. Section 48 is not referenced in Appendix A (Statutory Index). The proposed amendment amends Appendix A (Statutory Index) to reference section 48 offenses to §2G3.1 (Importing, Mailing, or Transporting Obscene Matter; Transferring Obscene Matter to a Minor; Misleading Domain Names). An issue for comment is also included.

Proposed Amendment:

(A) Cell Phone Contraband Act

§2P1.2. Providing or Possessing Contraband in Prison

(a) Base Offense Level:

(1) 23, if the object was a firearm or destructive device.

Option 1: (2) 13, if the object was a weapon (other than a firearm or a destructive device), any object that might be used as a weapon or as a means of facilitating escape, ammunition, [a mobile phone or similar device,] LSD, PCP, methamphetamine, or a narcotic drug.

Option 2: (3) 6, if the object was an alcoholic beverage, United States or foreign currency, [a mobile phone or similar device,] or a controlled substance (other than LSD, PCP, methamphetamine, or a narcotic drug).

(4) 4, if the object was any other object that threatened the order, discipline, or security of the institution or the life, health, or safety of an individual.

(b) Specific Offense Characteristic

(1) If the defendant was a law enforcement or correctional officer or employee, or an employee of the Department of Justice, at the time of the offense, increase by 2 levels.

(c) Cross Reference

- (1) If the object of the offense was the distribution of a controlled substance, apply the offense level from §2D1.1 (Unlawful Manufacturing, Importing, Exporting, or Trafficking; Attempt or Conspiracy). Provided, that if the defendant is convicted under 18 U.S.C. § 1791(a)(1) and is punishable under 18 U.S.C. § 1791(b)(1), and the resulting offense level is less than level 26, increase to level 26.

Commentary

Statutory Provision: 18 U.S.C. § 1791.

Application Notes:

1. In this guideline, the term "mobile phone or similar device" means a phone or other device as described in 18 U.S.C. § 1791(d)(1)(F).
- ±2. If the adjustment in §2P1.2(b)(1) applies, no adjustment is to be made under §3B1.3 (Abuse of Position of Trust or Use of Special Skill).
- ±3. In a case in which the defendant is convicted of the underlying offense and an offense involving providing or possessing a controlled substance in prison, group the offenses together under §3D1.2(c). (Note that 18 U.S.C. § 1791(b) does not require a sentence of imprisonment, although if a sentence of imprisonment is imposed on a count involving providing or possessing a controlled substance in prison, section 1791(c) requires that the sentence be imposed to run consecutively to any other sentence of imprisonment for the controlled substance. Therefore, unlike a count in which the statute mandates both a minimum and a consecutive sentence of imprisonment, the grouping rules of §§3D1.1-3D1.5 apply. See §3D1.1(b)(1), comment. (n.1), and §3D1.2, comment. (n.1).) The combined sentence will then be constructed to provide a "total punishment" that satisfies the requirements both of §5G1.2 (Sentencing on Multiple Counts of Conviction) and 18 U.S.C. § 1791(c). For example, if the combined applicable guideline range for both counts is 30-37 months and the court determines a "total punishment" of 36 months is appropriate, a sentence of 30 months for the underlying offense plus a consecutive six months' sentence for the providing or possessing a controlled substance in prison count would satisfy these requirements.

Pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 1791(c), a sentence imposed upon an inmate for a violation of 18 U.S.C. § 1791 shall be consecutive to the sentence being served by the inmate at the time of the violation.

Issue for Comment:

1.      The proposed amendment would reference offenses under 18 U.S.C. § 48 (Animal crush videos) to §2G3.1. That guideline provides a base offense level of 10 and enhancements for distribution (ranging from 2 levels to 5 or more levels), certain conduct with intent to deceive a minor into viewing material that is harmful to minors (2 levels), use of a computer (2 levels), and material portrays sadistic or masochistic conduct or other depictions of violence (2 levels).

The Commission invites comment on offenses under section 48, including in particular the conduct involved in such offenses and the nature and seriousness of the harms posed by such offenses. Do the provisions in §2G1.3 adequately account for offenses under section 48? If not, how should the Commission amend the guideline to account for offenses under section 48? For example, should the Commission provide one or more new alternative base offense levels, specific offense characteristics, or departure provisions to §2G3.1 to better account for offenses under section 48? If so, what should the Commission provide?
