

U.S. Army Combined Arms Center
and Fort Leavenworth

COLONEL ANTHONY D. KROGH

Director-
National Simulation Center

Colonel Anthony "Tony" Krogh is the centrally selected Director of the Army's National Simulation Center (NSC), a 300-person organization that is the Army's proponent for training simulations. He was commissioned through ROTC as a Distinguished Military Graduate into the Corps of Engineers in 1986. He has a Bachelor's degree from University of Alabama and Master's Degrees from Troy University and the National Defense University. Colonel Krogh is a graduate of Airborne School, Engineer Officer Basic Course, Ranger School, Infantry Officer Advanced Course, Combined Arms Services Staff School, Command and General Staff College, the Senior Simulation Operations Course and the United States Industrial College of the Armed Forces.

Colonel Krogh's U.S. Army history includes operational assignments in Germany, Operation Desert Shield and Desert Storm; Fort Drum, N.Y.; Fort McPherson, Ga.; Saudi Arabia; CJTF-7, Baghdad, Iraq. He's served in training assignments at U.S. Army Infantry School at Fort Benning, Ga. His simulation operations assignments include U.S. Pacific Command, Honolulu, Hawaii; U.S. Army V Corps, Heidelberg, Germany; Deputy Chief of Staff for Operation and Planning, Department of the Army, Washington D.C.; and the Aviation Center of Excellence, Fort Rucker, Ala.

His awards and decorations include the Legion of Merit, Defense Meritorious Serve Medal, Army Meritorious Service Medal, Army Commendation Medal, Joint Services Achievement Medal, Army Achievement Medal, National Defense Service Medal, Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal, South West Asia Service Medal, Global War on Terrorism Service and Expeditionary Medal, Humanitarian Service Medal, Kuwait Liberation Medal - Saudi Arabia, Kuwait Liberation Medal, Ranger Tab, Parachutist Badge, and the French Armed Forces Commando Badge.

