

Captain Anthony “Jack” Vogt

Chief of Staff, 17th Coast Guard District

Captain Anthony “Jack” Vogt is originally from Chapel Hill, North Carolina. He is a 1987 graduate of the U.S. Coast Guard Academy where he earned a Bachelors Degree in Government. Upon receiving his commission, he was assigned to the USCGC Jarvis where he served in the Engineering Department and qualified as an Officer of the Deck.

After completing several deployments throughout the Pacific, Captain Vogt was selected for Naval Flight School where he earned his wings in 1990. His first aviation assignment was Air Station Los Angeles where he received the Federal Executive Board Heroism Award for a 1993 rescue mission. Later that year, Captain Vogt was assigned to Air Station New Orleans where he served in the Engineering Department and as an Instructor Pilot in the HH-65 Dolphin helicopter.

In 1997, he was selected to attend Purdue University where he received a Masters Degree in Business/Industrial Administration. Following his graduate studies, Captain Vogt was assigned to the Office of Aeronautical Engineering at Coast Guard Headquarters where he managed a $437 million aviation budget and coordinated workforce policies for aviation officers and enlisted. During his tour in Washington, DC, he also completed the 2001 Advanced Management Program at the National Defense University.

In 2003, Captain Vogt was assigned as Engineering Officer of Air Station Clearwater where he led maintenance and logistics support for 12 HH-60 Jayhawk helicopters and six HC-130 Hercules airplanes. As an HH-60 Aircraft Commander, he flew Operations Bahamas Turks & Caicos (OPBAT) law enforcement missions and Hurricane Katrina rescue operations.

In 2006, Captain Vogt was selected to serve as Commanding Officer of Coast Guard Air Station Savannah where he qualified as an HH-65 Aircraft Commander and led his crew in the conduct of Coast Guard operations throughout the Atlantic and Caribbean.

In 2008, he left for the Industrial College of the Armed Forces in Washington, DC where he earned a Masters Degree in National Resources Strategy. Upon graduating in 2009, Captain Vogt left for Hawaii to serve as Commanding Officer of Coast Guard Air Station Barbers Point where he flew the HC-130 aircraft and led his crew in the completion of worldwide search and rescue, law enforcement, disaster relief and Presidential security missions.

Captain Vogt’s military decorations include three Meritorious Service Medals, four Coast Guard Commendation Medals, the Coast Guard Achievement Medal and several other awards.