The Mandel Center for Nonprofit Organizations offers one of the nation's most pre-eminent programs in nonprofit management. Since 1984, the Center has set the standard for graduate education for leaders and managers of nonprofit organizations. The Center's relationship with its four partner schools at Case - the College of Arts and Sciences, the School of Law, the Mandel School of Applied Social Sciences, and the Weatherhead School of Management - provides a multidisciplinary approach to education. The Center's programs have been consistently ranked in the top ten programs of this type by U.S. News & World Report.

The Mandel Center offers a Master of Nonprofit Organizations (MNO) degree, a Certificate in Nonprofit Management (CNM), and a number of dual degree and dual certificate options. Classes are offered in the evening and on weekends. Students have the opportunity within and outside of the classroom to work on projects with Cleveland's rich nonprofit community.

The Mandel Center would like to recognize those who have served the community through the AmeriCorps program in the following ways:

1. The Center will waive the $25 application fee for AmeriCorps alumni who apply for the MNO program on a full-time basis, and
2. For an AmeriCorps alumnus admitted to the full-time MNO in the fall, spring or summer semester, the Mandel Center will provide matching funds in an amount up to twice the AmeriCorps educational award funds requested by the admitted student for the particular semester. This amount, however, cannot exceed thirty-five percent (35%) of the applicable tuition rate in any given semester.

HallSTARS! First-Year Program

The HallSTARS! Service Program is a residential living-learning-serving experience for freshmen committed to making a change in their community (all students reside in Cumberland Hall). As a member of the HallSTARS! learning community, students will be part of a national service movement, providing volunteer service as reading tutors, youth mentors, senior companions, and more.

AmeriCorps Opportunities for sophomore, juniors and seniors

Community Resident Assistant (CRA) AmeriCorps members will serve to recruit, train, and organize volunteer projects for their residents working closely with the R.A.'s and R.D. of the hall in which they are placed. In addition, students will volunteer in our Read to Succeed/Mathletics program, a one-on-one tutoring program for area youth in grades K-8. CRA's commit a total of 10 hours per week, this includes recruiting, planning two service projects each semester for your residence hall along with serving in the Read to Succeed Program.

HallSTARS! Fellows AmeriCorps Program for graduate students

HallSTARS! Fellows are partnered with a faculty mentor of their choosing and will serve at a service site of their choice. HallSTARS! Fellows will increase programming at a local non-profit or community-based site through a combination of service and research based upon their program of study. This experience is designed for seniors and graduate students only.

Once students have successfully completed the program requirements, they will receive $1,000 Educational Award (scholarship) from the Corporation for National and Community Service matched with a $500 housing stipend supported by FSU to use towards on-campus housing or a $250 bookstore stipend if living off-campus for the following academic year.

The School of Public Policy and Public Administration (SPPPA) in GW's Columbian College of Arts and Sciences (CCAS) is a focal point for public affairs education, research, and public service at The George Washington University. Building on a rich tradition of education for public service and on its location in the nation's capital, just a few blocks west of the White House, The George Washington University offers a superior education for students wishing to pursue public affairs oriented academic programs.

The school offers the Master of Public Administration (MPA), the Master of Public Policy (MPP), and the Ph.D. in Public Policy and Administration. The words that best characterize our school's approach are flexibility, imagination, opportunity and friendliness. The MPA and MPP programs offer concentrations including education policy, health policy, public budgeting and finance, nonprofit management, science and technology policy, and urban and social policy. We offer numerous interdisciplinary opportunities within the University and through the Consortium of Universities of the Washington Metropolitan Area. The school prides itself on well-balanced programs that provide students with strong policy analysis and research skills as well as administrative and general public management abilities.

The SPPPA welcomes applications from highly qualified individuals committed to public service for both part time and full time study. AmeriCorps alumni are eligible to receive a $5000 financial aid award for the MPA or MPP program. The application fee can be waived for current members and alumni. For information on how to waive the application fee and request award consideration, please contact the school.

Type: Private Graduate

The SIT Master's Program in Intercultural Service, Leadership, and Management prepares graduates who are critical thinkers, effective communicators, as well as compassionate advocates with exceptional intercultural abilities and awareness. Whether managing international development projects, building the capacity of citizens' groups, or integrating cultural awareness into educational experiences, SIT graduates have the skills they need to accomplish dynamic change in multicultural communities and workplaces throughout the world.

In addition to accepting AmeriCorps educational vouchers, SIT has scholarships such as:

The AmeriCorps Scholarship

This scholarship honors the significant intercultural and professional contribution made by AmeriCorps volunteers. Volunteers who have completed one year (10 to 12 months) of service are eligible for the competitively awarded $5,000 scholarship. The award is based on the type of work completed during service as well as the candidate's experience before and after work with AmeriCorps.

Community Service and Volunteer Scholarship

This scholarship is awarded in recognition of work done with an organization engaged in community service. Recipients should have worked for one year or longer for organizations such as AmeriCorps (see website for complete listing:
<http://www.sit.edu/graduate/finaid/scholarships.html>)

SIT also has what is called SIT Master's Community Development Program with AmeriCorps*VISTA

Students wishing to participate in the AmeriCorps*VISTA partnership apply to VISTA during SIT's on-campus phase (September to May). If they are accepted, their VISTA service will meet SIT's professional practicum requirement. In addition, qualified alumni of VISTA who wish to earn an SIT master's degree after the completion of their service are eligible for SIT scholarship opportunities (for more information, see our Financial Aid web pages /graduate/finaid/scholarships.html). Also, you may wish to read more about the SIT / AmeriCorps*VISTA partnership /graduate/vista/overview.html

We offer a Master of Public Service degree -- with the concentration on citizen and community involvement, leadership, social justice and equity -- all with a global dimension.

Our inaugural class is in place and it includes four (4) past AmeriCorps members, two (2) former Peace Corps volunteers and students from throughout the United States and the world. We are now in the process of recruiting our second class.

We made a concerted effort to recruit former AmeriCorps members in our inaugural class and have made a decision to continue this direction for students entering the Clinton School in the fall of 2006. Further, we have decided to "double match" the AmeriCorps education award. This means that one education award will be sufficient to cover all tuition and fees associated with the Master of Public Service degree -- a 16 month, 36 credit hour program.

Please visit our website at the address listed below for information about this unique Master's program.

100 Morrissey Blvd
Boston, MA 02125

Type: Public

As part of the University of Massachusetts public university system, CPCS offers a tuition that is affordable for most students. Our mission statement is consonant with the values and direction of most AmeriCorps alumni. CPCS is a competency-based system; service learning is an integral part of the curriculum. For an AmeriCorps alumnus who successfully completes 1 year of service, CPCS will automatically transfer 3 core competencies (these three are equivalent to 9 credits). These competencies can be applied toward any of our undergraduate degree programs. Students with significant prior learning may qualify for additional competencies on a case-by-case basis.

Type: Public

The Ford School is a tightly-knit community within a highly-regarded university. We offer a rigorous and distinguished public policy education. Our outstanding faculty, rich curriculum, and diverse and engaged student body make this an excellent place to prepare for work in the policy world. We are deeply committed to the interdisciplinary training that provides you the foundation from which to build a career in public policy. Our students are passionately interested in public affairs and want to be active participants in public decisions – decisions that affect their neighborhood, their country, and people around the globe.

The Ford School master's degree programs provide an exceptionally flexible professional education, preparing students for careers in domestic or international affairs, and allowing them to focus on a specific policy issue such as education, health care, or the environment. Our graduates conduct research on public policy issues, implement programs, or become advocates for certain issues or legislation. Our curriculum provides a set of research, analytical, and management skills that are widely transferable across sectors and issues.

The Ford School offers Teach for America and other AmeriCorps alumni who are admitted to our master of public policy program a tuition fellowship of at least $5,000 as well as a waiver of the application fee. The deadline is January 15th.

Type: Private

Warren Wilson College has maintained a tradition of Work, Community Service and Academic endeavor for more than 100 years. Our student body (currently just over 800) has served alongside AmeriCorps work teams in the region several times while providing more than 23,000 hours of other service to the community each year. Service to others has been a condition of graduation since 1970. Many of our students complete hundreds of hours of volunteer service, then graduate and enter service organizations such as the Peace Corps.

If an alumnus of the AmeriCorps identifies himself/herself during the recruiting or financial aid process, his/her aid package from Warren Wilson will be given special consideration. The College makes every effort, within Federal Title IV guidelines, to provide an award package in which AmeriCorps funds will replace loan or unmet need; it does not eliminate or reduce grants from Warren Wilson College. In fact, within Warren Wilson College, we have a cadre of service oriented students known as the Bonner Scholars who are recognized with institutional scholarship and also receive a stipend for work/service during the summer of their junior year.

Warren Wilson College welcomes AmeriCorps alumni as kindred spirits who are already aware of the value of work and service to others.
