

Charities and Other Tax-Exempt Organizations, 1992

Data Release

The Internal Revenue Code classifies tax-exempt, nonprofit organizations into 31 groups, some of which are eligible to receive tax-deductible donations under Code section 170. Those organizations that are exempt under section 501(c)(3) receive the largest part of the tax-deductible donations. This data release discusses them and also the organizations that are exempt under sections 501(c)(4) through (9). The statistics are based on data from Form 990, Return of Organization Exempt from Income Tax, and Form 990EZ, Short Form Return of Organization Exempt from Income Tax [1].

Charitable Organizations Tax-Exempt Under Internal Revenue Code Section 501(c)(3)

Organizations that are exempt under Code section 501(c)(3) are those whose purposes are religious, charitable, scientific, literary, or educational, or they foster national or international amateur sports competition, or they prevent cruelty to children or animals, or they test for public safety. Their activities are restricted in that they must further one or more of these exempt purposes.

Examples of these "charitable" organizations include nonprofit hospitals, educational institutions, youth organizations, community fundraising campaigns, public charities, local housing authorities, historical societies, and environmental preservation groups. Each must serve the public good (as opposed to private interests) to qualify for tax-exempt status. Under the Code, exempt organizations may not distribute net earnings to a private shareholder or individual. In addition, they are restricted in activities that can influence legislation, and cannot participate in any political campaign in behalf of, or in opposition to, any candidate for public office.

Of the 466,961 nonprofit charitable organizations recognized by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) under Code section 501(c)(3), there were 157,941 returns filed for 1992 [2]. Those not required to file included religious organizations and organizations with annual gross receipts of less than $25,000. The number of returns filed showed a 6-percent increase from 1991 (Figure A). The number of Form 990EZ returns increased to 22 percent of total returns filed. This shortened return form is for organizations with gross receipts of less than $100,000 and assets of less than $250,000. (Where possible, Form 990 data and Form 990EZ are combined in this data release.)

Total revenue of organizations exempt under Code section 501(c)(3), excluding private foundations, was $523.8 billion for 1992, an increase of 7 percent from 1991. Program service revenue—the fees collected by organizations for the programs operated in support of their tax-exempt purposes—was the major source. It totaled $374.8 billion for 1992, which represented 72 percent of total revenue. For 1992, revenues exceeded expenses by $33.5 billion, an increase of 4 percent. Total assets grew to $849.3 billion, an increase of 9 percent from 1991. Investments in securities were the major asset holding, $285.0 billion, which accounted for one-third of the total. (See Table 1 for selected balance sheet and income statement items for Form 990 filers, including expense totals for three functions: program services, management and general, and fundraising. Table 2 provides detailed expenditures by object classification for Form 990 filers. Tables 3 and 4 show selected items for Form 990 and Form 990EZ filers, respectively.)

Figure B presents information on the types of nonprofit charitable organizations that filed Forms 990 or 990EZ for 1992. The information was based on responses to a question on the return forms identifying the reason why the organization was not classified as a private foundation. In contrast to a nonprofit charitable organization, a private foundation is narrowly supported and controlled, usually by an individual, family, or corporation, as compared to a nonprofit charitable organization which receives broad support from a large number of sources within the general public. It is this narrow base of support and control which differentiates a private foundation from a nonprofit charitable organization. Because of their centralized support and control, private foundations are more strictly regulated than the other section 501(c)(3) organizations. Their contributors are subject to limitations on individual income tax deductions, and nonoperating foundations have requirements on mandatory distributions and an excise tax on net investment income [3].

As shown in Figure B, hospitals were the leading category of nonprofit charitable organization in terms of assets and revenue, representing 30 percent of the total amount of assets and 46 percent of the revenue total. Publicly-supported organizations were the second leading category in terms of revenue with 28 percent of the total. Examples of publicly-supported organizations are the American Red Cross or United Way and their affiliated agencies, voluntary health agencies, community foundations, cultural organizations, and a wide variety of community-service organizations. Program service revenue was the leading revenue source for both hospitals and publicly-supported organizations.

Organizations Tax-Exempt Under Internal Revenue Code Sections 501(c)(4) Through (9)

Organizations that are tax-exempt under Code sections 501(c)(4) through (9) are quite diverse in their program activities, as well as in their organizational structures. Unlike the nonprofit charitable organizations that are tax-exempt under section 501(c)(3), most of them are not eligible to receive tax-deductible contributions.

Figure C presents selected data for these organizations for 1991 and 1992. Three types of organizations exempt under these Code sections—civic leagues and social welfare organizations, section 501(c)(4); labor, agricultural, and horticultural organizations, section 501(c)(5); and business leagues, chambers of commerce, and real estate boards, section 501(c)(6)—each filed over 21,000 Forms 990 and 990EZ for 1992. In general, the relative use of the Form 990EZ was greater by organizations in these Code sections than that of the nonprofit charitable organizations exempt under Code section 501(c)(3). For example, the Form 990EZ represented 36 percent of the returns filed by civic leagues and social welfare organizations; 34 percent of the returns filed by labor, agricultural, and horticultural organizations; and 29 percent of the returns filed by business leagues, chambers of commerce, and real estate boards, as compared to 22 percent of the returns filed by the nonprofit organizations exempt under 501(c)(3). Tables 2 and 3 show data for Form 990 filers, while Table 4 presents information on Form 990EZ filers.

Voluntary employees' beneficiary associations, Code section 501(c)(9), led the other five types of organizations in terms of assets ($41.8 billion). Civic leagues and social welfare organizations, Code section 501(c)(4), were second with $38.7 billion, followed closely by fraternal beneficiary societies and associations, Code section 501(c)(8), with $36.9 billion. The largest of these organizations—those with assets of $10 million or more—represented more than three-quarters of the assets of the organizations exempt under these three Code sections [4].

In terms of revenue, voluntary employees' beneficiary associations, section 501(c)(9), reported the largest amount for 1992, $65.5 billion. The composition of revenue varied considerably for the organizations in these six Code sections. Membership dues and assessments were the major source of revenue for labor, agricultural, and horticultural organizations, section 501(c)(5); business leagues, chambers of commerce, and real estate boards, section 501(c)(6); and social and recreation clubs, section 501(c)(7). Program service revenue was the major source of revenue for the organizations exempt under the other three Code sections. While program service revenue is generally composed of fees for services on which the tax exemption is based, including hospital and tuition charges in the case of nonprofit charitable organizations (501(c)(3)), for fraternal beneficiary associations (501(c)(8)) and voluntary beneficiary associations (501(c)(9)), the program service revenue was, instead, composed of payments received for health and welfare benefits coverage.

Data Sources and Limitations

The statistics in this data release are based on a sample of the 1992 Forms 990, Return of Organization Exempt from Income Tax, and Forms 990EZ, Short-Form Return of Organization Exempt from Income Tax. Organizations used the 1992 forms when their accounting periods ended during the time period December 31, 1992, through November 30, 1993. These returns comprise the data for Reporting Year 1992 shown in this data release. The sample did not include private foundations, which were required to file on a separate return form. Most churches and other religious organizations were also excluded from the sample because they were not required to file a Form 990 or a Form 990EZ. However, as shown in Figure B, some of these organizations filed returns voluntarily. The sample included only those returns with receipts of more than $25,000, the filing threshold.

The sample design was split into two parts: the first part included returns of organizations exempt under section 501(c)(3), and the second part included organizations exempt under sections 501(c)(4) through (9). Returns of organizations exempt under other sections were not included in the study. The data presented were obtained from returns as originally filed with the Internal Revenue Service. They were subjected to comprehensive testing and correction procedures in order to improve statistical reliability and validity. However, in most cases, changes made to the original return as a result of either administrative processing or taxpayer amendment were not incorporated into the data base.

Each part of the sample was classified into sample strata based on size of total assets, with each stratum sampled at different rate. For section 501(c)(3) organizations, a sample of 11,461 returns was selected from a population of 160,629. Sampling rates ranged from 0.9 percent for small asset classes to 100 percent for organizations with assets of $10,000,000 or more. For organizations filing under sections 501(c)(4) through (9), a sample of 9,800 returns was selected from a population of 102,777. Sampling rates ranged from 1.5 percent for the small asset classes to 100 percent for organizations with assets of $2,500,000 or more. The populations for these organizations included some returns of terminated organizations, returns of inactive organizations, duplicate returns, and returns of organizations filed prior to 1992. These returns were not included in the samples, nor in the estimated population counts.

Charities and Other Tax-Exempt Organizations, 1992

NOTES: Nonprofit charitable organizations exclude private foundations and most religious organizations. Detail may not add to totals because of rounding and processing tolerances.
