SECURITIES ACT REGISTRATION STATEMENTS. During the week ended May 21, 1964, 17 registration statements were filed, 28 became effective, 1 was withdrawn, and 267 were pending at the week-end.

GODDARD & CO. DISMISSAL MOTION DENIED. The SEC today announced a decision denying a motion of J. H. Goddard & Co., Inc., Boston broker-dealer firm, for dismissal of administrative proceedings based upon staff charges that the said firm engaged in activities involving transactions in stock of United Security Life Insurance Co. violative of the registration, anti-fraud and anti-manipulative provisions of the Federal securities laws. The motion was based on the ground that the institution of public rather than private proceedings was a denial of due process. Citing its precedents governing the conduct of public hearings, the Commission stated that it was satisfied "in the instant case that the gravity of the charges alleged when viewed in light of the extensive public trading involved reflects a substantial public interest in the subject matter of the hearings." The Commission also observed that in a civil action against United (which consented to a court injunction), an affidavit attached to the SEC complaint stated that a large block of the stock had been distributed through the Goddard firm, although no registration statement had been filed. Other reasons for making proceeding public also were related, including that of apprising investors of possible causes of action. The Commission also rejected the respondent's claim that a release announcing the proceeding created the misleading impression later reflected in news articles in the press that the Commission, rather than its staff, had brought the charges and had already "convicted" the respondents. The specific wording of the release indicated clearly that the charges were brought by the staff, not the Commission.

The Commission also dismissed respondent's motion for dismissal of the allegation that Rule 10b-6 (the anti-manipulation rule) was violated, on the ground that the rule is so vague as to be violative of the due process clause. The Commission stated that the motion to dismiss for vagueness is premature - that until evidence has been presented indicating the nature of respondent's activities with respect to selling, bidding for or purchasing the United stock, the Commission is not in a position to determine whether the rule is vague as applied to respondent's activities or is applicable at all. But the Commission called attention to prior interpretations of the rule which, it indicated, "are sufficiently precise to furnish a guide to the persons affected by the Rule, particularly where these persons, as here, are not laymen, but experienced members of the securities business."

A hearing for the purpose of taking evidence on the issues in these proceedings has been scheduled for 10:00 A.M., June 23, 1964, in the SEC Boston Regional Office. (Release 34-7321)

NASD DISCIPLINE OF COMMONWEALTH SECURITIES SUSTAINED. In a decision under the Securities Exchange Act announced today (Release 34-7322), the SEC dismissed a petition filed by Commonwealth Securities Corporation, 100 E. State St., Columbus, Ohio, for review of NASD disciplinary action against the firm. The NASD had expelled Commonwealth for its refusal to honor contracts to purchase 38,000 shares of Insurance Corporation of America common stock from two member firms, in violation of the high standards of commercial honor and the just and equitable principles of trade required by the NASD Rules of Fair Practice. Subsequent to the filing of its petition for review of this action, Commonwealth was expelled by NASD in another proceeding for violating the record-keeping requirements of the Act, as well as failure to properly supervise its registered representatives. As no appeal has been filed by the firm within the time specified, the expulsion has become effective. Thus, the proceedings in the pending appeal are now moot.

FOUR REG A OFFERINGS SUSPENDED. The SEC has issued orders temporarily suspending Regulation A exemptions from registration under the Securities Act of 1933 with respect to public offerings of securities by the following:

- 1) Holloway Outdoor Advertising, Inc., Los Angeles, Calif. ("Holloway")
In a notification filed in February 1961, this company proposed the public offering of 90,000 common shares at $2.50 per share through Pacific Coast Securities Company, Inc. ("Pacific")
- 2) Omega Precision, Inc., Azusa, Calif.
The notification of "Omega," filed in September 1960, proposed the public offering of 120,000 common shares at $2.50 per share; and it also named Pacific as the underwriter
- 3) Solar Systems, Inc., North Hollywood, Calif.
In its notification, filed in April 1961, "Solar" proposed the public offering of 125,000 common shares at $2 per share through Darius, Inc.
- 4) U.S. Systems, Inc., Minden, Nev.
In a notification filed in November 1959, "Systems" proposed the public offering of 100,000 common shares at $3 per share through Pacific and Paul C. Kimball and Company

Regulation A provides a conditional exemption from registration with respect to public offerings of securities not exceeding $300,000 in amount. In its suspension orders, the Commission asserts that it has "reason to believe" that each of the above-named respondent companies failed to comply with certain terms and conditions of Regulation A and that the public offering and sale of its shares violated Section 17 (the anti-fraud provisions) of the Act. With respect to each company, the Commission charges a failure to disclose the existence and identity of certain affiliates, as well as the inclusion of false and misleading information in its offering circular. The alleged misrepresentations included the following: Holloway failed to make proper disclosure of material transactions with its predecessor or to disclose material adverse changes in its financial condition; Omega failed to make proper disclosure of adverse changes in its financial condition and changes in the intended use of the proceeds of its stock sale; Solar failed to make proper disclosure of the intended use of proceeds as well as its business and products; and Systems failed to make proper disclosure of the intended use of proceeds and remuneration to be paid management officials.

Axe, a controlling person of such companies, without approval by a majority of the outstanding voting securities of the Funds of new underwriting and investment-advisory contracts or approval of such services by a majority of the unaffiliated directors of the Funds.
