Maryland Severe Winter Strom and Snowstorm – FEMA-1875-DR

Declared February 19, 2010

On January 14, 2010, Governor Martin O'Malley requested a major disaster declaration due to a massive and widespread severe winter storm/snowstorm during the period of December 18-20, 2009. The Governor requested a declaration for Public Assistance Categories A, B, and E for nine counties. The Governor further requested snow assistance is accordance with 44 CFR Section 206.227. During the period of January 18, to February 5, 2010, joint Federal, State, and local Preliminary Damage Assessments (PDAs) were conducted in the requested counties and are summarized below. PDAs estimate damages immediately after an event and are considered, along with several other factors, in determining whether a disaster is of such severity and magnitude that effective response is beyond the capabilities of the State and the affected local governments, and that Federal assistance is necessary.¹

On February 19, 2010, President Obama declared that a major disaster exists in the State of Maryland. This declaration made emergency protective measures (Category B), including snow assistance, under the Public Assistance program as requested by the Governor available to State and eligible local governments and certain private nonprofit organizations on a cost-sharing basis for emergency work as a result of damage by the severe winter storm and snowstorm in Baltimore, Caroline, Cecil, Harford, Howard, Kent, Montgomery, and Queen Anne's Counties.²
