- Powerful, easy-to-use software on CD-ROM and DVD

Census 2000 Summary File 2

Recording America's Diversity

During Census 2000 operations, one key message to the public was, "Fill out your census form and show pride in your heritage." Questions on race, Hispanic or Latino origin, and ancestry allowed Americans to record their heritage.

Heritage is very much the focus of Summary File (SF 2), the second of four summary files with detailed statistics from Census 2000, representing input from 281 million people living in 105 million housing units. SF 2 offers extensive detail on the demographics of the nation's race and ethnic groups. (Ancestry was reported on the long form and is not shown in Summary File 2, which presents short form data. Ancestry data are in Summary Files 3 and 4.)

Data in SF 2 Are Based on the Census 2000 Questions Asked of Everyone

The SF 2 data are drawn from responses to questions asked of everyone in Census 2000: on age, sex, race, Hispanic or Latino origin, household relationship, and owner/renter status. These questions were asked on both the short form and the long form (the sample questionnaire).

How many Hispanic homeowners live in your community? What is their average household size, and how many live in households larger or smaller than the average? What is their household type? How many are Cuban, how many are Puerto Rican? How many cite Peruvian as their ethnic origin? SF 2 lets you show characteristics for up to 249 race and Hispanic or Latino groups. SF 2 has selected key tables previously released in SF 1 and shows them for these groups, provided they meet a population threshold (100 or more people in an area).

The three other summary files (SF 1, SF 3, and SF 4) fill in more parts of the picture. SF 1 has 286 tables based on the short form questions asked in the census, with data for areas as small as census blocks.

SF 2 has a subset of the tables found in SF 1. SF 3 and SF 4 provide data from the sample questions asked of about 1/6th of America's households – the long form questions on income, education, language spoken, housing structure, housing costs, commuting, and many other topics. All the summary files are available.

Basic Demographic and Housing Data in SF 2

SF 2 contains 47 detailed tables – 36 population tables and 11 housing tables. Appendix 1, in this profile (page 8), lists the table titles. There are two kinds of tables:

• PCT tables. Population data for a hierarchy of geographic areas down to the level of census tracts.

• HCT tables. Housing data for a hierarchy of geographic areas down to the level of census tracts.

In Census 2000, users were, for the first time, allowed to select more than one race. SF 2 allows users to study the racial mix for even the smallest areas. For any given area down to the level of census tract, tables may be repeated for up to 249 race and ethnic groups including—

• 132 race groups. Includes iterations for multirace groups.

  - 38 specific Asian groups.

  - 20 specific Native Hawaiian and other Pacific Islander groups.

• 78 specific American Indian and Alaska Native tribes.

• 39 Hispanic groups.

A table is shown for a specific group if there are 100 or more people in that group within the geographic area under scrutiny. If, for example, a county has 100 or more "Vietnamese alone," then all the SF 2 tables for that area are shown for "Vietnamese alone," as well as for other groups that meet that criterion.

Appendix 2 in this profile (pages 9-11) lists the groups for which tables may be repeated in SF 2. A reference like "Vietnamese alone" identifies people who selected one race on their census questionnaire. The reference "Vietnamese alone or in any combination" identifies all those who selected "Vietnamese" as their race – including those who selected just one race and those who selected this race, plus some other race or races.

If you are making extensive use of the race and Hispanic/Latino data, be sure to consult the discussion of "Hispanic or Latino" and "Race" in Appendix B, Definitions of Subject Characteristics, of the SF 2 technical documentation (online at http://www.census.gov/prod/cen2000/doc/sf2.pdf).

Definitions used by the Census Bureau in these cases, conform to the standards published in the October 30, 1997, Federal Register notice entitled "Revisions to the Standards for the Classification of Federal Data on Race and Ethnicity" (online at http://www.census.gov/population/www/socdemo/race/Ombdir15.html) issued by the Office of Management and Budget. These standards govern the categories used to collect and present federal data on race and ethnicity. More background, FAQs, and historical data can be found on the Census Bureau Web site (http://www.census.gov/population/www/socdemo/race.html).

Figure 2.
American FactFinder® Lets You Select Detailed Data From Summary File 2 – Down to the Census Tract Level

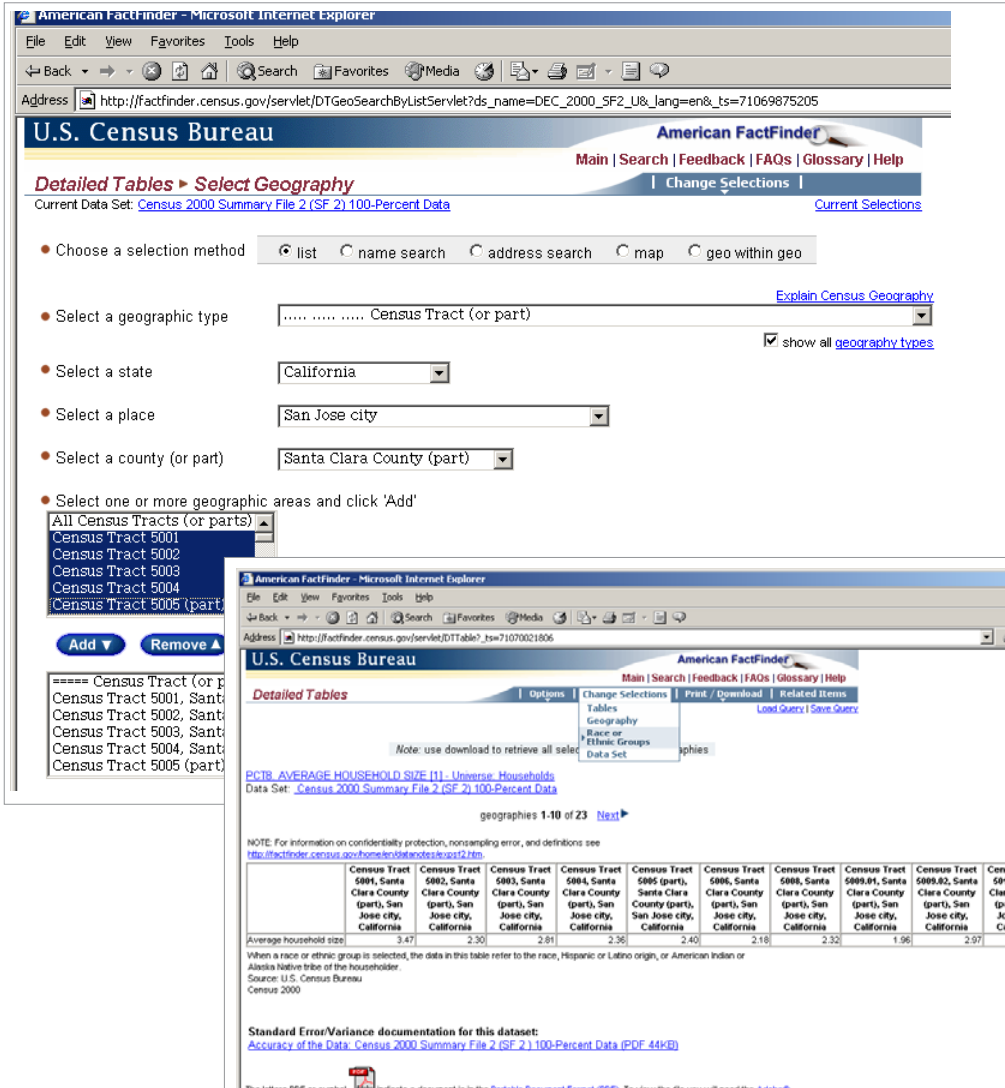

First, go into American FactFinder®, select Summary File 2, and then "Detailed Tables."

FactFinder leads you through the selection of one or more geographic areas – all the way down to the census tract. Then it prompts you to select one or more detailed tables from SF 2.

Here, we selected census tracts in San Jose, California, as our geography and chose Table PCT8, Average Household Size. After getting the table for the whole population, if you want to select this table for a specific race group (in this case, "Vietnamese alone"), you would go to change selections on the blue menu bar and select "Race or Ethnic Groups." You would then be able to select from 249 race and ethnic groups, and FactFinder would display Table PCT8 for that group.

At the right, we show Table PCT8 from SF 2 – Average Household Size for people in San Jose, who identified themselves as "Vietnamese alone." SF 2 shows a table for a group, only if the group numbers 100 or more people in that geographic area. San Jose has 191 census tracts; 122 of them have 100 or more "Vietnamese alone," so Table PCT8 can be shown for these tracts only. Otherwise, you need to go to a higher geography.

Geography in SF 2

Like all summary files, Summary File 2 is packed with data for many kinds of geographic areas. It serves users interested in the macro view (for example, the United States as a whole or individual states) and the micro view (census tracts), as well as all areas in between.

It gives you a summary of geographic areas (all census tracts in a county) or parts of areas (for example, part of an Indian reservation within a state).

State Files. SF 2 was released as a series of state files, with a final national file. There also are files for the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico. The table designs are standard for each kind of geographic area. You can obtain SF 2 on a CD-ROM for each state (as well as for the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico) or all the files on one DVD (see the order form on page 12). Both the CD-ROMs and the DVDs come with software for accessing and downloading the data; the DVD allows you to generate national or regional totals for geographic areas, such as metro areas, regardless of state.

National File. The national file provides summaries for higher levels of geography and covers the entire country. This file is designed for users who need to produce national or regional summaries of an area (e.g., all metro areas), but do not need the data for really small areas such as census tracts. They will find it easier to generate these figures using the national file or the U.S. summary file on DVD, rather than the individual state files on CD-ROM.

Geographic areas shown in total or in part include —

- United States
- Census Regions
- Census Divisions
- States
- District of Columbia
- Puerto Rico

- Counties
- Metropolitan Areas
- Urban Areas
- County Subdivisions
- Places
- Consolidated Cities
- American Indian Areas
- Alaska Native Areas
- Hawaiian Home Lands
- Census Tracts

Internet Access Through American FactFinder®

Visit the Census Bureau's homepage (http://www.census.gov), and click on the American FactFinder® (AFF). AFF gives several easy-to-use options for accessing SF 2:

- Quick Tables gives you a set of key variables for areas as small as census tracts.

- Geographic Comparison Tables lets you see how your state, city, county, metro area, or census tract stacks up in comparison to others according to key variables.

- Detailed Tables gives you direct access to all the SF 2 tables. As the second screen of Figure 2 shows, you must go to the "Change Selections" option in the blue bar to select the SF 2 race or ethnic group (for example, Cubans) for which you wish to repeat a table. Once you click on "Race or Ethnic Groups," American FactFinder® allows you to pick the group.

One special feature to note in AFF: the "geo within geo" button lets you select all areas of a certain type and display them for the entire nation, state, county, and so forth, provided the total doesn't exceed 7,000 entities. You should use this option, if for example, you need national level summaries of counties, metro areas, or American Indian areas. This feature would allow you to display all tracts in a state or county.

AFF also gives you access to the technical documentation and other reference information to assist you in using the file. Be sure to look at the Summary File 2 overview page (http://www.census.gov /Press-Release/www/2001/sumfile2 .html) for links to the documentation, the File Transfer Protocol (FTP) site, and other useful pages. Especially valuable on this page is a search tool that lets you access Census 2000 and related data for each state. If your focus is on just one state, this is the page to consult.

Data for the 108th Congressional Districts

The Census Bureau has issued comparable demographic data for the Congressional Districts of the 108th Congress. Like the Census 2000 summary files, these data are available online in the American FactFinder® and in ASCII format via FTP and on DVD ($70) from the Customer Services Center. There is substantial race and ethnic detail in these data, but no repetition of tables for various race and ethnic groups, as in SF 2. For more information on these data, go to http://www.census.gov /Press-Release/www /2003/108th.html.

Powerful Software on SF 2 CD-ROMs and DVDs Lets You Control Retrieval and Output

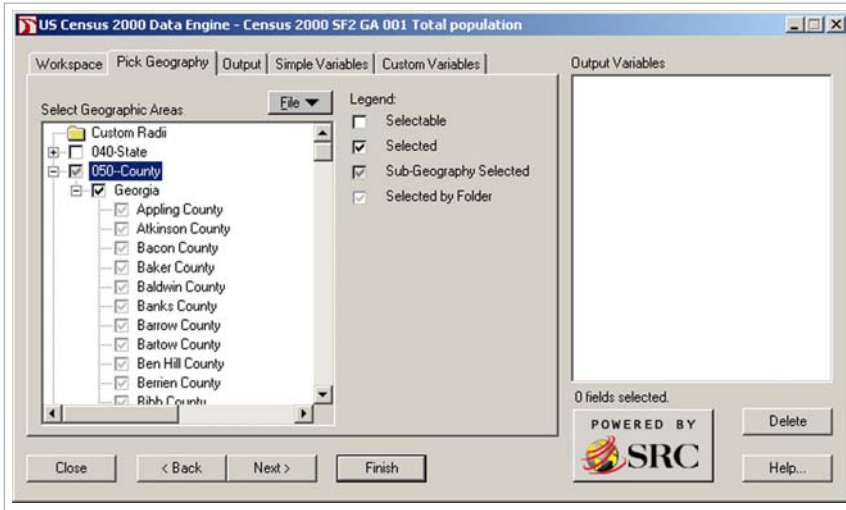

First, you pick the geography you want – in this case, all counties in Georgia – and then the software prompts you to pick a table – in this case, Table HCT8, Tenure (i.e., owner or renter status) by Household Size for Housing Units where the Householders were "Korean Alone" (that is, where the house- holders selected just one race – "Korean").

Screen 1 shows the selection of geography on the CD-ROM version of SF 2 for Georgia; screen 2, the selection of the data variables. You save the tabulation and open it up in a spreadsheet or data base application.
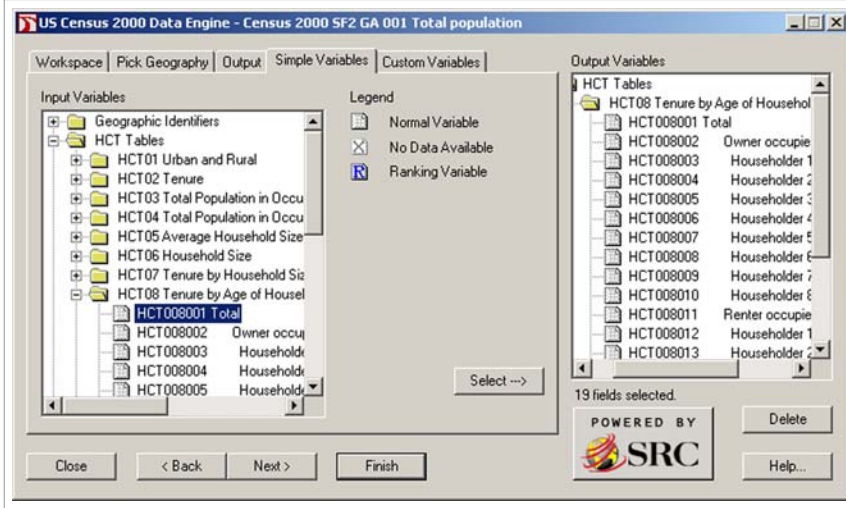

SF 2 shows a table for a race or Hispanic/Latino group, only when the area contains 100 or more people of that race or Hispanic/Latino group. Consequently, SF 2 allows you to display Table HCT8 for the 23 counties in Georgia (out of 159 counties) where the "Korean alone" population is 100 or more. The tabulation at the right shows total occupied housing units (HCT00700), total owner-occupied units (HCT007001), followed by a breakdown for units with households of varying sizes. The same breakdown is shown for renter-occupied units.

Download Data From American FactFinder® or File Transfer Protocol (FTP)

Every AFF data page has a "Download" tab through which you can download these files as comma delimited (.csv), tab-delimited (.lst), or rich text format (.rtf) files either directly or indirectly into a spreadsheet program like Excel or Lotus or a database program like Access or dBase. AFF also lets you transpose columns and rows (i.e., make rows into columns and vice versa) and input the data into a database format with labels or no labels, but just the comma-delimited numbers.

In addition, ASCII files in a zipped format are available free on the Internet via File Transfer Protocol (FTP). Note that these files do not come with viewing software. Given the size of the files, the speed of your modem and Internet connection, downloading a file may be a time-consuming process. If you plan on downloading or using the ASCII files, be sure to consult the "Read Me" file on the Internet (http://www2.census.gov /census_2000/datasets/Summary_File _2/0README_SF2.txt).

We have developed a helpful set of instructions for downloading the ASCII files into a database application (http:// www.census.gov/support /SF2ASCII.html).

Note: The Census Bureau also released a supplement to SF 2, available in ASCII via FTP, showing sex by age for the total population. This tabulation is identical to PCT5 (see Appendix 1) except, that PCT5 shows sex by age for householders, rather than persons in households.

Go to http://www2.census.gov /census_2000/datasets /Summary_File_2_Supplement/ftp:// ftp2.census.gov/census_2000 /datasets/Summary_File_2_Supplement/ for access to the files and more information.

Buy SF 2 on CD-ROM or DVD

If you plan to make heavy use of SF 2 or to analyze data for more than a few variables, you may want to consider purchasing the SF 2 data on CD-ROM or DVD. You may purchase discs from the Census Bureau's Customer Services Center at 301-763-INFO (4636).

The files on disc come with proprietary software that operates on computers with Microsoft Windows 95/98/2000 /NT/ME/XP operating systems. The software provides an expandable hierarchical menu or equivalent for the selection of one or more geographic areas. The user software supports selection of individual data items, complete data tables, and geographic identifiers to include in output files. Figure 3 shows how to download and display SF 2 data from the DVD containing the complete set of state files.

Users who want both the individual state files and the national files will have to buy them separately – the state files come on one DVD or on separate CD-ROMs for each state; the national file is available on one DVD. Most users will find that the U.S. Summary DVD (containing all the state files) will handle their needs.

Census 2000 Maps

Particularly if you are planning to use data for census tracts, you'll need Census 2000 Maps, available electronically on the Internet (in .pdf) and on paper:

Block Maps. These are detailed maps (36" x 33") showing all levels of geography down to the level of census blocks. They can be purchased from the Customer Services Center in map sets for counties, cities, minor civil divisions, and other areas. These detailed street maps show the boundaries of blocks and tracts and all larger geographic areas. To view these maps online, go to http://www.census.gov/geo/www /maps/CP_MapProducts.htm.

Census Tract Outline Maps. Far less detailed than the block maps, the outline maps (36" x 33") show the boundaries of census tracts, ideal for most users. They are available for sale by county from the Customer Services Center. To view these maps online, go to http://www.census.gov/geo/www /maps/CP_MapProducts.htm.

Call to Order CD-ROMs, DVDs, and Maps!

To order CD-ROMs or DVDs, you can use the order form in this profile or contact the Customer Services Center at 301-763-INFO (4636). For maps, contact the Customer Services Center.

Need to keep up to date on other Census 2000 files? You can subscribe to the Census Product Update, a biweekly e-mail and online newsletter, available free from the Census Bureau. Come to http://www.census.gov/mp/www /cpu.html to sign up or to view the newsletter online.

For More Information

- Visit the Census Bureau's Internet site at http://www.census.gov or call our Customer Services Center at 301-763-INFO (4636).

- Visit your local library. Many major university and public libraries participate in the Federal Depository Library Program and receive copies of Census Bureau reports. For a complete list, visit http://www.access.gpo.gov /su_docs/locators/findlibs /index.html.

- Call or visit one of 1,800 state and local planning groups, libraries, chambers of commerce, and others that participate in a Census Bureau data center program. For a complete list of data centers, visit http://www.census.gov/dmd/www /groupcnr.htm/.

- Call or visit a Census Bureau Regional Office. A complete listing can be found at http:// www.census.gov/field/www/.

Census Tract Outline Maps Help Users Plot Out Data in SF 2

Users often prefer to work with data at the level of census tracts since these areas allow them to study trends within communities. To do this, you need to know the boundaries of the tracts – where one ends and another begins. Users can purchase paper copies of these maps from the Census Bureau's Customer Services Center or print page-sized versions from the Census Bureau's Web site (http://www.census.gov/geo/www/maps/CP_MapProducts.htm).

Below, we show detail from the tract map for St. Mary's County, Maryland, along with a table on "Relationship by Household Type for the Population Under 18 Years" (PCT19) from SF 2 repeated for the Black or African American population.

Race and Hispanic Data Plus in Summary File 4

Users who need the kind of race and Hispanic data you can generate from SF 2 also should consider using Summary File 4. SF 4 has long form data (on subjects such as education, citizenship, country of origin, language spoken, poverty status, shelter costs, occupants per room, and vehicles available) in 323 tables that can be repeated for all the race and Hispanic groups shown in Appendix 2, plus 86 ancestry groups. In all, tables can be repeated for 335 groups — provided the groups meet certain population thesholds.

If you want to find out the average household size or median household income where the householder's ancestry is Jordanian or Polish in a county in New Jersey, this is the file to consult. Like all the earlier summary files, this file is available by state online in the American FactFinder® or on our FTP site (ASCII) and on CD-ROM and DVD sold by the Customer Services Center. For more on SF 4, go to (http://www.census.gov/Press-Release/www/2003/SF4.html).
