Case Planning for Families Involved With Child Welfare Agencies

Since the passage of the Adoption Assistance and Child Welfare Act (P.L. 96-272) in 1980, Federal law requires the development of a written case plan for any child receiving foster care maintenance payments under title IV-E (42 U.S.C. 671(16)).¹ A review of statutes and administrative codes shows that States are using a variety of approaches to address the issue of case planning.

¹ American Samoa and the Northern Mariana Islands do not participate in the title IV-E program and do not have provisions for case planning in their statutes.

When Care Plans Are Required

- Approximately 21 States, the District of Columbia, Guam, and Puerto Rico address the issue entirely within their statutes.²
- Twenty States and the U.S. Virgin Islands address the issue in part in statute, with supplementary information in regulation.³
- Nine States address the issue entirely in regulation.⁴

States require a case plan when a child welfare agency places a child in out-of-home care, including foster care, placement with a relative, group homes, and residential placement. Twenty-two States and the District of Columbia, Guam, and the U.S. Virgin Islands also require a case plan when a child and his or her family are receiving any kind of in-home services to prevent placement or when the child has been placed in the legal custody of the State agency.⁵ Most States impose a specific timeframe for completing a case plan, as follows:

- A specified number of days from the date the child was placed in out-of-home care⁶
- A specified number of days from the date the case was first opened for services⁷
- A specified number of days from the date the child was adjudicated by the court as abused or neglected⁸

³ Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Rhode Island, Texas, and Wyoming.

⁴ Alabama, Alaska, Maryland, Massachusetts, Mississippi, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, and Vermont.

⁵ Alaska, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Florida, Hawaii, Kansas, Massachusetts, Missouri, Montana, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Vermont, Virginia, and West Virginia.

⁶ Ten days (in Arizona), 30 days (in Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Mississippi, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, South Dakota, and Tennessee), 45 days (in Illinois, Nevada, Texas, and Utah), or 60 days (in Alaska, California, Colorado, Florida, Idaho, Indiana, Iowa, Louisiana, Maryland, Nebraska, Oregon, Washington, and Wyoming).

⁷ Fourteen days (in Missouri), 30 days (in Alaska, Arkansas, Massachusetts, and Mississippi), or 60 days (in Arizona, California, Colorado, New Jersey, Oregon, and Pennsylvania).

⁸ Ten days (in South Carolina), 30 days (in Arkansas, Idaho, Kansas, Kentucky, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, and West Virginia), or 60 days (in California, Indiana, Virginia, and Washington).

Participants in the Process

The department or agency in each State that has the responsibility for providing child welfare services must formulate a case plan for each child placed in its care or custody. In 40 States, Guam, and Puerto Rico, the department must include the parents, guardians, or other caregivers in the case planning process unless compelling circumstances prevent their participation.⁹ In 27 States, the child, if he or she is of an appropriate age, must be included in case planning efforts.¹⁰ Approximately six States require that a representative of the child's Tribe be invited to participate when the child receiving services is an Indian child.¹¹

Other persons who may be invited to participate include foster parents, guardians ad litem, court-appointed special advocates, and other members of the child's family if they have significant ties to the child.¹² In 13 States, participation is open to service providers, therapists, educators, and other professionals who have direct knowledge of the child and family's needs.¹³ In seven of these States, statutes or regulations specifically require that the State agency consider the use of some form of a family group decision-making approach when appropriate.¹⁴

⁹ States must seek the participation of the parents in Alabama, Alaska, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, and West Virginia. Compelling circumstances include the parent cannot be found, refuses to participate, or has had his or her parental rights terminated.

¹⁰ In Alabama, Alaska, Arizona (age 12 or older), Arkansas, California, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New York (age 10 or older), North Carolina, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia (age 12 or older), and Wyoming.

¹¹ Alaska, Kansas, Minnesota, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Oregon.

¹² The foster parents may participate in 15 States (Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Kansas, Minnesota, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oregon, Rhode Island, Texas, Utah, and Wyoming). The child's guardian ad litem may participate in 10 States (Arkansas, Florida, Kansas, Minnesota, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Texas, Washington, and Wyoming). In five States (Alabama, Arizona, Colorado, Oregon, and Rhode Island), members of the child's extended family may be invited to participate.

¹³ In Colorado, Hawaii, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New Jersey, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Texas, Utah, and Wyoming.

¹⁴ Kansas (case planning conference), Missouri (family support team meeting), North Dakota (permanency planning child and family team), Oregon (family decision-making meeting), Utah (interdisciplinary team), Washington (case conference), and Wyoming (multidisciplinary team).

Contents of a Case Plan

Federal law under title IV-E (in 42 U.S.C. 675(1)) requires that the case plan describe specifics of a child's care while in placement, including, at a minimum, the following:

- A description of the type of home or institution in which the child is to be placed
- A plan for ensuring that the child receives safe and proper care and that appropriate services are provided to the parents, child, and foster parents:
 - To improve the conditions in the parents' home
 - To facilitate the child's return to his or her own safe home or the alternative permanent placement of the child
 - To address the child's needs while in foster care
- Efforts to maintain the child's educational stability while in foster care, including continuing the child's enrollment in his or her current school whenever possible
- To the extent available, the child's health and education records
- Where appropriate, for a child age 16 years or older, a description of programs and services that will help the child prepare for independent living
- If the permanency goal for the child is adoption, documentation of the steps being taken to find an adoptive family

State requirements for case plans typically include goals and objectives that the parents must meet in order to achieve a safe home for the child and timeframes for achieving those goals. Approximately 32 States and the District of Columbia also require that the case plan state a permanency goal for the child.¹⁵ In addition, 30 States and Puerto Rico require that, for a child who is in out-of-home care, the plan include a schedule of

When Case Plans Are Required

CPS Policy Manual §§ 2.9.1; 2.9.2

A care and safety plan is required for each case when a safety appraisal has determined that harm factors exist, and the child is safe with services. The plan will be completed immediately when it is determined, based on the safety appraisal, that protective interventions are needed in order for the child to remain safely in the home.

A case plan must be completed for the family in cases that are kept open for monitoring or services after the investigation has been completed, regardless of custody status. Once a decision is made to open the case for services, a case plan will be developed within 30 days.

For a child placed in out-of-home custody, the plan is to be developed with the family, Indian custodian, and Tribe as soon as possible after assumption of custody but no later than 60 days from the removal.

Who May Participate in the Case Planning Process

CPS Policy Manual §§ 2.9.1; 2.9.2

The plan is to be developed in face-to-face meetings with the parent(s), legal guardian(s) or Indian custodian and, if age appropriate, the child. If the child is Native American, the child's Tribe will be invited to participate.

Florida

When Case Plans Are Required

Ann. Stat. § 39.6011

The Department of Children and Family Services shall prepare a draft of the case plan for each child receiving services under this chapter. A parent of a child may not be threatened or coerced with the loss of custody or parental rights for failing to admit in the case plan of abusing, neglecting, or abandoning a child. Participating in the development of a case plan is not an admission to any allegation of abuse, abandonment, or neglect, and it is not a consent to a finding of dependency or termination of parental rights.

A case plan must be prepared, but need not be submitted to the court, for a child who will be in care no longer than 30 days unless that child is placed in out-of-home care a second time within a 12-month period.

In each case in which a child has been placed in out-of-home care, a case plan must be prepared within 60 days after the department removes the child from the home and shall be submitted to the court before the disposition hearing for the court to review and approve.

The case plan must be filed with the court and copies provided to all parties, including the child, if appropriate, not less than 3 business days before the disposition hearing.

Who May Participate in the Case Planning Process

Ann. Stat. § 39.6011

The case plan must be developed in a face-to-face conference with the parent of the child, any court-appointed guardian ad litem, and, if appropriate, the child, and the temporary custodian of the child.

The parent may receive assistance from any person or social service agency in preparing the case plan. The social service agency, the department, and the court, when applicable, shall inform the parent of the right to receive such assistance, including the right to assistance of counsel.

If a parent is unwilling or unable to participate in developing a case plan, the department shall document that unwillingness or inability to participate. The unwillingness or inability of the parent to participate in developing a case plan does not preclude the filing of a petition for dependency or for termination of parental rights.

The parent, if available, must be provided a copy of the case plan and be advised that he or she may, at any time before the filing of a petition for termination of parental rights, enter into a case plan and that he or she may request judicial review of any provision of the case plan with which he or she disagrees at any court hearing set for the child.

Contents of a Case Plan

Ann. Stat. § 39.6011

The case plan must be written simply and clearly in English and, if English is not the principal language of the child's parent, to the extent possible in the parent's principal language. Each case plan must contain:

- A description of the identified problem being addressed, including the parent's behavior or acts resulting in risk to the child and the reason for the intervention by the department
- The permanency goal, as defined in § 39.01(51)
- If concurrent planning is being used, a description of the permanency goal of reunification with the parent or legal custodian in addition to a description of an alternate permanency goal
- The date the compliance period expires
- A written notice to the parent that failure of the parent to substantially comply with the case plan may result in the termination of parental rights, and that a material breach of the case plan may result in the filing of a petition for termination of parental rights sooner than the compliance period set forth in the case plan

The case plan must be signed by all parties, except that the signature of a child may be waived if the child is not of an age or capacity to participate in the case planning process. Signing the case plan constitutes an acknowledgement that the case plan has been developed by the parties and that they are in agreement as to the terms and conditions contained in the case plan. The refusal of a parent to sign the case plan does not prevent the court from accepting the case plan if the case plan is otherwise acceptable to the court.

Contents of a Case Plan, continuedAnn. Stat. § 39.6011

The case plan must describe:

- The role of the foster parents or legal custodians when developing the services that are to be provided to the child, foster parents, or legal custodians
- The responsibility of the case manager to forward a relative's request to receive notification of all proceedings and hearings
- The minimum number of face-to-face meetings to be held each month between the parents and the department's family services counselors to review the progress of the plan, to eliminate barriers to progress, and to resolve conflicts or disagreements
- The parent's responsibility for financial support of the child, including, but not limited to, health insurance and child support

When the permanency goal for a child is adoption, the case plan must include documentation of the steps the agency is taking to find an adoptive family or other permanent living arrangement for the child.
