

U.S. Fire Administration

Internship Program

Program Description

Students accepted into the intern program receive the opportunity to work in several different disciplines at the U.S. Fire Administration in Emmitsburg, Maryland.

Students accepted may be provided:

- campus housing in a private room. The housing arrangement promotes social interactions with both fire and emergency management professionals from around the United States and provides a wonderful opportunity to forge long-lasting friendships and potential career contacts.
- opportunity to attend up to two (2) National Fire Academy (NFA) courses that may provide up to six (6) transferable credits to their school.

Students are expected to work full-time, participate in meetings, and assist with emergent projects as needed. The United States Fire Administration is part of the Department of Homeland Security, Federal Emergency Management Agency. The campus is located in rural Maryland, about 10 miles south of historic Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, and about 60 miles from Baltimore and Washington, D.C.

Eligibility

Applicants must:

- be enrolled not less than half time in a high school, trade school, technical or vocational institute, junior college, university, or other accredited educational institution
- be a U.S. citizen
- receive approval from the educational institution prior to participating in the program
