Technology Challenges (previously titled "Interest Areas") represent technical challenges that DoD faces in maintaining military readiness and effective mission capabilities. Any user, whether a program manager or soldier overseas, with specific or immediate emerging technological interests or needs, can contribute by posting questions and capability gaps for the DoD Science and Technology (S&T) community.

To view information on DoD Science and Technology (S&T) challenges, click on the Technology Challenges link in the left navigation pane.

This list is a work in progress. Please enter the article content.
