FAA/Industry Training Standards Instructor Seminars

The FAA/Industry Training Standards (FITS) Technical Team is presenting a series of seminars aimed at instructors. The seminars should cover the basics of the following:

1. The reason for the development of the FITS program
2. How to instruct using the FITS tenets
3. How to develop FITS syllabi

Along with the Technical Team presentations, industry partners will be presenting lessons learned and their experiences using the FITS training methods.

The seminars are scheduled for the following dates:

- April 14, 2007 in Kalamazoo, MI. Sponsored by Western Michigan University (fly into KAZO).
- May 5, 2007 Seattle, WA at Boeing Field. Sponsored by Galvin Flying Service in (fly into KSEA)
- May 19, 2007 in Nashville,TN. Sponsored by Middle Tennessee State University.

For specific information on these seminars go to www.faasafety.gov. Click on the SPANS link and conduct a Keyword search for FITS. All FITS instructor seminars are WINGS approved. Although these seminars are oriented towards flight instructors, all interested parties are invited to attend. Please note, this information may not be on the website until 4 weeks prior to the seminar. Also, some Safety Program Managers may be conducting other FITS seminars.

See you there,

Tom Glista
FITS Program Manager
FAA, Washington DC.