Department of Defense Medical Care for Foreign Force Members

Health Care Agreement: The Department of Defense has agreements with several foreign countries to provide medical care to their active duty military personnel and family members at military treatment facilities while they are in the United States under official orders. The extent of coverage, access to care and any associated costs depend on the specific agreement with that country.

Categories of Nations:

- North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) with Status of Forces Agreement (SOFA)
- Partnership for Peace (PfP) with SOFA
- PfP (no SOFA)
- Reciprocal Health Care Agreement (RHCA)
- Countries with no agreement

Eligibility: Upon arrival to the United States, foreign force members and their dependents should register in DEERS and obtain a valid military ID card.

Medical Services:

- Routine Care. A military treatment facility—hospital or clinic—is typically the main source of routine health care services. Foreign force members and their family members may be assigned to a primary care manager, who will provide all routine and preventive care.

- Specialty Care. Foreign force members and their family members may be referred for specialty care within their local military treatment facility, or to a civilian provider, if necessary. If a civilian provider is seen for other than emergency care without a referral from their primary care manager, the foreign force member or family member may be responsible to pay for all medical services.
- Urgent and Emergency Care. The military treatment facility should be contacted before seeking urgent care from a civilian provider. For emergency care, call 911 or go to the nearest emergency room. The military treatment facility should be notified within 24 hours following an emergency room visit.
- Pharmacy. Foreign force members and their family members are entitled to the same pharmacy benefits as other TRICARE beneficiaries.
