 ne Federal Trade
 Commission has its way.
 It's a sad story of corporate greed, the exporting of jobs, and a federal agency gone very, very wrong.

The Federal Trade Commission is the agency which has responsibility for overseeing business in the USA. It sets standards in interstate trade, oversees regulations, and makes policy. One of the things which it has always been responsible for is making sure that the Made in the USA label only appears on items that were assembled in the USA of American parts.

Of course, the truth isn't always something that the American consumer can expect from the government or big business. How many times have we been fed half truths by some corporate spokesman or a bureaucrat more interested in his or her job than in our best interests? That is what is
