To whom it may concern,

This is concerning your intentions to change "Made in the U.S.A." label.

Knowing where a product is made is very important to me. I will not buy anything that is not "made in the U.S.A." IF the product "made in the U.S.A." costs more than the same product made out of the U.S.A. I will still buy "made in U.S.A." I feel that if a product is assembled in U.S.A. of foreign material it should state so on the product as is now the case. I urge you not to change the "Made in the U.S.A." guidelines.

Thank You
