

UNACCOMPANIED TOURS SUPPORT

Contact Information for Families of Employees on Unaccompanied Tours

Families on unaccompanied tours often confront a unique set of challenges in their daily lives. To help support you and your family (whomever you identify as “family”) lead as “normal” a life as possible during your year of separation, the Family Liaison Office is setting up a network to provide your family members with important and useful information on a regular basis. In addition, the network will enable them to share any concerns or questions they may have with FLO. To be able to communicate directly with your loved ones, we ask that you provide the following information:
