INFO MEMO

FOR: THE SECRETARY OF DEFENSE

FROM: Peter W. Rodman, Assistant Secretary Defense (ISA)

SUBJECT: General McCaffrey's Report on His Recent Trip to Iraq

- General Barry McCaffrey (USA, ret.) made an observation trip to Iraq (13-20 April). Attached is his report.
- The report bears reading in its entircty. I've noted some of the most interesting points. THO McCAFFLEY

Positive observations:

- o The Iraqi Army is real, growing and willing to fight.
- o The National Police Commando Battalions are very capable. Their HUMINT collection capability is better than ours.
- o The foreign jihadist fighters have been defeated as a strategic and operational threat to the creation of an Iraqi government.

Negative observations:

- o The Iraqi Army needs at least two to five more years of U.S. partnership.
- The Iraqi police will require ten years to overcome their current problems. 0
- o Interagency support for our strategy in Iraq is grossly inadequate.
- Policy recommendations:
  - The Army and Marine Corps need significant manpower augmentation.
  - o Our RoE may have become too restrictive: they will need constant monitoring to maintain an appropriate balance.
  - o We should continue economic and reconstruction support on the order of $5-10 billion per year.
- I would especially call to your attention the first two paragraphs of the narrative (on page 3). They are a magnificent tribute to our soldiers and Marines in Iraq and deserve as wide a distribution as we can give them.

(forms)

There was fellow named Colonel Mike Turner on CNN this morning at 7:23 a.m. saying that the United States is against having multinational forces in Iraq. Someone ought to get a hold of him and straighten him out. What a knucklehead.

Thanks.

Trank, The been trying to get hold of you. I just found out today that the anticipated time of the Boss's remarks before dinner is 8:00pm at the earliest. That was not my impression it all. We never spoke about specific times (your draft program had none on it), but my mpression of "pre-dinner" was not 2000. Your staff has told my advance folks that there is no flex in this, and in fact the earliest we could reasonably expect the Boss to be lone is 8:45pm. That is not acceptable Frank. I don't think that would fly with him inder the best of conditions, and right now that is not what we have here. He had surger ast week, and is still less than 100%.

Military Analyst Session on Wednesday, 20 Sept. 1430 - 1500 hrs Regional/Syndicated Radio on Wednesday, 20 Sept. 1515-1545 hr

These are de-conflicted with any proposed LA events per Robert Wilkie. CENTCOM PA is still working with the Commander to schedule some PA activities, but they are looking at some one-on-one interviews, a speech at NDU and a print reporters roundtable (Defense Writers Group). At this time none of those are scheduled.

I think he could be in considerably greater political jeopardy if people conclude that a stone has been left unturned on this IED business – and it is my conviction that is the case, until recently, through no fault of his. I fear, however, that further inaction (which is, to all outside appearances, what is happening at the moment) now that he has at least been given a heads-up about it, would be hard to defend.

Speaking of which, I have to go defend him on the tube.

Steve:

I just received this heart-rending note from the guys who have been seeking for years to get their apparent breakthrough on IEDs into the field:

"...All delays are painful and costly (to the US and to the troops in the field). This was demonstrated yesterday by the death of a number of US troops -- three of which were personally known to me and OFT (they were part of the source for the footage you received from us [which showed terrorists in Iraq using two, time-delayed IEDs to ambush Gis]). They really wanted to help all the guys in the field, and were very keen on trying any new technology that could shift the inertia to our side in this war.

"If this could find it's way to a successful conclusion, it is our sincerest wish to be very busy in lab counting down the days to field delivery of the prototype for validation and mass replication...."

I know that you and Don have a lot of things going on. I am under the impression, however, that a pretty high order priority attends countering the IED problem (to say nothing now of addressing the unconventional explosives on planes, etc.) Inaction in bringing to bear a technology that holds apparently high (the only?) promise for addressing these needs would seem to be contrary to that priority, if not an indefensible dereliction of duty.

I don't want my friends to be subjected to any more criticism than they are already getting. As you know, I am spending a lot of time defending Don against some of it – for example at 9:00 a.m. this morning on MSNBC against Barry McCaffrey. Under no circumstances should actual grounds be given for such attacks.

i entreat you to find out who has the action on the non-snowflake that was precipitated by my last message to SecDef and let me know. There are people on the Hill and in the press who are likely to steal a march on you guys – and beat the hell out of you in the process – if there isn't some evidence that the Department is doing everything possible to evaluate the advanced Raman option.

Many thanks. F

PS Any word on whether the idea of opening remarks at the Flame sults Don?

Steve: Thanks for your considerable help with this mission! We look forward to having Don with us and having him play whatever role suits him. Scene-setting on the nature and importance of the war of ideas and the necessity to wage it far more effectively would be terrific.

If he can stay for dinner, I would be grateful if he would join Gen. Pace in presenting the awards (which Don, of course, did for Jim Schlesinger a few years back as well as receiving it himself in 1999). Pete has said he would prefer to avoid the possible criticism of being political in an election year so he would like to just make the presentation to the troops. It would be a help if Don is willing to help cover us with the other honoree, HASC Chairman Hunter, at that point in the program.

Finally, I would be grateful if you might try to ascertain from Don who got the tasker on the Advanced Raman IED/unconventional explosive detection initiative that I raised with him recently. We would like to make sure this doesn't fall through the cracks yet again.

All the best, F

Could you please get this into DonIs weekend reading file? Many thanks. F

P.S. Any further word on a fly-by or more for Duncan Hunter and Those Who Serve at the Keeper of the Flame dinner on 20 September?

Don: I know you have been profoundly vexed by the IED problem and, like the rest of us, are doubtless seized with the new national imperative of doing a better job of detecting unconventional explosives in things like Gatoraid bottles, etc. The attached one-pager will. I hope, give you a basis to find out whether we could have a far more effective means of working such problems than either the IED Task Force or other agencies have come up with to date. There is a lot more background available if you or your subordinates are willing to review it. Suffice it to say, this Big Crow/LVARS initiative seems worthy of more attention and support than it has gotten to date and may provide the technology we need far faster than even DARPA can do.

On another matter, I hope we will have the pleasure of your company, at least briefly, on 20 September when we honor your friend Duncan Hunter and decorated combat veterans of the War for the Free World whose profiles in courage have been recently written up by our late friend, Cap Weinberger.

Don: As you may recall, we are going to do the Keeper of the Flame dinner this year on the evening of the 20th of September, the night of the concluding day of your Combatant Commanders' conference.

We will be honoring Duncan Hunter and those who serve. Our hope is to have enlisted representatives from each of the services who have pulled combat tours in this "War for the Free World" receive replicas of the Flame.

Pete Pace - who, as you know, received the award himself two years ago -- has graciously agreed to present the awards to the troops.

I was hoping I might ask your help on two fronts:

1) Would you be willing, in light of Duncan's tremendous help to the country and the cause and as a past recipient of the Flame award yourself, be willing to introduce him and join Pete in conferring this recognition? And,

2) If you can do it, any encouragement you might give to the Combatant Commanders and other Chiefs to attend would be greatly appreciated. They have all been invited and they should, I would think, want to be there, especially for their own troops. But, a word from you would be terrific.

Many thanks and best for the 4th! F

Don: It was great to see looking so well at the White House this morning. Thanks for agreeing in principle to a visit soon.

In the meantime, I wanted to make sure you were aware of several things before your meeting next week with Ehud Olmert.

- There has been no debate in Israel about the wisdom of turning still more territory over to al Qaeda, Hezbollah, Iranian Revolutionary Guard, Palestinian Islamic Jihad and Hamas as has been ... done in Gaza. Olmert will use any indication of a US buy-in on his "convergence plan" to ensure that there is no debate, let alone any course correction, in the future, either.
- 2) Israel is not the only one whose equities will be jeopardized by such a withdrawal. Jordan will be destabilized by the new safe-haven for terror that will emerge. Our supply lines from Israeli ports into Iraq will be at risk, as well. A Taliban-style terror state will be used to plot attacks on our homeland, too. Israel is not the only one who needs a debate and a say on this "convergence plan"; so do we.
- 3) Israeli surrender of the West Bank will be seen by our enemies and our fair-weather friends as a victory for Islamofascism and terror. That will embolden the former and encourage the latter to hedge their bets, at best, to align with our foes, at worst.
- 4) The US government seems not to have taken a hard look at these realities. I entreat you to review quickly at least the talking points attached and the ad we hope to start running this weekend. I hope they will prompt you to signal serious reservations about this initiative not just that it is being undertaken unilaterally by Israel, but that it is being undertaken at all given the serious problems for Israel and the Free World associated with the previous Israeli evacuations from south Lebanon and the Gaza Strip.

I hope you will ask the Chiefs and your Policy folks to evaluate the longer, excellent paper summarized by the talking points and prepared by my extraordinary colleague, Caroline Glick – ideally before your meeting with Olmert on Monday. You have a need-to-know.

Israeli Prime Minister Ehud Olmert's Planned Withdrawal from the West Bank: A Threat to U.S. Interests and Security

Background: Israel's new Prime Minister Ehud Olmert is scheduled to visit Washington, DC later this month in order to secure administration and congressional support for his plan to withdraw Israeli civilians and the Israeli military from between 90-95 percent of the West Bank and large sections of the city of Jerusalem. On the budgetary side, Olmert asserts that the implementation of his plan will cost $10 billion and he intends to seek U.S. financing to underwrite this cost.

Olmert's plan involves expelling between 50,000-100,000 Israeli civilians from their homes and the destruction of between 50-100 Israeli communities in the West Bank and the redeployment of Israeli military forces to garrisoned positions. He claims that this plan will enhance regional stability, improve Israeli security, increase the prospects of peace between Israel and the Palestinians, and boost Israeli and American standing in the international community. These claims are identical to those advanced by former prime minister Sharon when he advocated Israel's withdrawal from the Gaza Strip which took place last September.

- Israel's withdrawal from the Gaza Strip last year failed to do any of these things. Indeed the actual consequences of the withdrawal have been the exact opposite of what Sharon predicted. A reenactment of that operation on the West Bank – which is both 20 times larger than the Gaza Strip and vastly more significant on a strategic level – will exacerbate the failure of the Gaza withdrawal strategy to the detriment not only of Israel's national security, but the stability of the Jordanian regime and American national security interests.
- Israel's withdrawal from the Gaza Strip fomented the transformation of Gaza into a Taliban-like state. The Palestinians perceived Israel's decision to retreat to the 1949 armistice lines as a victory for Hamas and the jihadist ideology that negates Israel's right to exist. This perception contributed greatly to Hamas' stunning electoral victory in the Palestinian legislative elections in January. Under Hamas's leadership, Palestinian society is being swiftly transformed into an Islamic extremist society like Taliban-led Afghanistan.
- After Israel withdrew, Gaza was flooded with terrorists and terror armaments that passed through Gaza's international border with the Egyptian Sinai. Katyusha rockets, anti-aircraft missiles and advanced anti-tank missiles have all been brought into the area.
- Al Qaeda, Hezbollah and the Iranian Revolutionary Guards all set up forward operating bases in Gaza. Hamas itself has become a client of Iran.
- The destroyed Israeli settlements in Gaza are now used as terror-training camps and as missile-launching sites. Israeli artillery and air strikes against terrorist elements in Gaza since the withdrawal have been ineffective in preventing the escalation of missile, rocket and mortar attacks against all Israeli cities and villages bordering Gaza.
- An Israeli withdrawal from the West Bank will cause a similar situation to arise in the areas abandoned by Israel. But unlike the Gaza Strip, the West Bank provides the Palestinian and global terrorist elements that will operate freely in the area with the ability to launch missile and rocket attacks against all of Israel's major cities, highways and civilian air traffic taking off and landing at Ben Gurion airport. While Olmert claims that Israel will be protected because the completion of the security barrier between the West Bank and Israel will be completed by the time Israel carries out the retreat, that barrier will be unable to protect Israel from missile and rocket fire on its densely populated cities.

- Even if the IDF retains a presence in the areas after the expulsion of the civilian population is accomplished, its counter-terror capabilities will be compromised by domestic political considerations, international pressure and the increased military capabilities and basing prerogatives for local and global terrorist elements.
- The Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan will be destabilized by Israel's withdrawal from the West Bank. Jordan's citizenry is 80 percent Palestinian. Al Qaida, the Muslim Brotherhood and Hamas all have a strong presence in the country. A redeployment of Israeli military forces will degrade Israel's ability to prevent the convergence of these terror forces on the east bank of the Jordan River with those on its west bank for the purpose of toppling the Hashemite regime. Al Qaeda commander in Iraq Abu Musab Zarqawi, a Jordanian citizen, has already attacked the regime and called for its overthrow. Hamas has similarly committed itself to the overthrow of the regime.

The following are the likely impacts of an Israeli withdrawal from the West Bank on U.S. national security:

- 1. Establish a new terror refuge in the West Bank that will serve as a training ground for terrorists who will fight not only against Israel and Jordan, but also against U.S. forces in Iraq.
- 2. Weaken U.S. logistical capabilities in Iraq. The destabilization of Israel and Jordan through the establishment of a Taliban-like regime in the West Bank will endanger the overland supply route used by U.S. forces from Israeli ports through Jordan and into Iraq. This will increase U.S. dependence on Persian Gulf ports and thus motivate Iran to create crises in the Straits of Hormuz.
- 3. Enhance the prestige of declared enemies of the U.S. including Iran, Syria, al Qaeda, Hezbollah, Hamas, Wahhabist extremists in Saudi Arabia and Salafist extremists in Egypt at the expense of the U.S. The widespread Arab and Islamic perception of Israel as a U.S. client state will cause an Israeli retreat and the consequent destabilization of Israel and Jordan to be perceived as a strategic defeat for the United States. This will motivate thousands throughout the world to join the forces of global jihad against America.
- 4. Decrease motivation to cooperate with the U.S. in the war against Islamofascism throughout the Arab and Muslim world. The perceived victory for the global jihad will harm U.S. efforts to gain the support of regimes and individuals in the Arab and Islamic world such as leaders like Gen. Pervez Musharraf in Pakistan. He, like democracy activists in Iraq, and advocates of Islamic moderation in Europe, will be undermined by the perceived strategic victory of the jihadist forces in the aftermath of Israel's withdrawal from the West Bank.

In light of the above the U.S. should not lend its support to the Israeli premier's planned withdrawal from the West Bank. Instead, it should encourage him to pursue strategies that will deny victories for forces at war with both the United States and Israel.

Separate out members of congress from pundits.

You're missing a lot of members of congress. Get the list of people that helped out just before xmas from matt latimer. Domenici, sessions, cornyn, kyl, etc.

I don't know who babbib is. Probably jed babbin.

Take off scooter libbey, colin powell, and george tenet.

The list I cobbled together based on recent snowflake traffic includes:

Saunders Blankley Fowler Greener Laird Podhoretz Gingrich Novak Fuelner Gaffney Kyi Edward Rozek Ryskind Victor Davis Hanson Clarke MacKinnion Schneider Chris Williams Members of the: DPB DSB DBB Babbib Colin Powell Tenet Scooter Libby

I have only sent articles that the SecDef wanted out, as communicated in snowflakes. You've seen all of them, news articles, very supportive. Copies here at my desk. Have been sending regularly to Laird as directed, but he gets a little more...talking points and such.

I don't know how to slice and dice it, but there has been a group of stalwarts that should be getting more than a fax across their transom everyday.

Even if we put together a package now and then and accompanied it by a letter from me or Dan Stanley to give it a little higher profile.

Let me see that list again, and try to give me a sense of what we have sent them recently.

Thanks.

...on the SDs "list of supportive folks." We have taken a bunch - maybe a dozen - snowflakes recently instructing us to add this person or that person and to send things to "the group." I have sent you a list that describes who I think those folks are - about 19. Your sense of it was that the list was about right. In response to other, more recent snowflakes, I have added a few others since. Now as more snowflakes come down, I hear that LA is using a list to send these specific items to a much more extensive list of members of Congress thinking they are being responsive to the desires of the SD. Recall, the list I described above included MOCs, reporters, members of DSB,DBB, DPB, formers, etc. I want to make sure we clearly communicate what list things should go to and make sure that you understand what "list" thing are going to. I don't think every positive article we come across or feel the need to promulgate a little, needs to go to all the Republican members of Congress, or all the SASC members, etc. I think we need a discreet and exclusive list in which to send discreet and exclusive correspondence. What say you?

	d that, following September 11, 2001, the United States and the West face a new kind of terror threat. I said that winning the war in Iraq is an integral part of fighting this war on terror. I made clear that after spending 14 months in Iraq I was even more convinced that removing the regime of Saddam Hussein was the right thing to do and was central to winning the war on terrorism.

"I also stated that I agree with the President's strategy for training Iraqi security forces and his overall strategy in Iraq. This is one of the many reasons, as I explained in my addresses as well, that I strongly support his re-election.

"I believe that we currently have sufficient troop levels in Iraq. The reference to troop levels that I made referred explicitly to the situation as I found it on the ground, when I arrived in Baghdad in May 2003, and when I believed we needed either more Coalition troops or Iraqi security forces to address the looting. We developed a plan to address this problem, which has been continued by Iraq's Interim Government."

Our first international Convention drew 350 participants. That's a major achievement. This convention really was international with people coming from the camps, from Jordan, Syria, Kuwait, South Africa, and even the island of Mauritus (east of Madagascar). The political achievements were mixed, however.

Nationalist rhetoric kept getting mixed into our anti-apartheid movement Driving into Toronto was interesting. No American flagsl :) There were some Canadian flags on a few public bulldings, but no national glorification. There were some signs about SARS in a poorer area with a Chinese and Vietnamese shops, but no one was wearing a mask and the matter was quickly forgotten. We met at the University of Toronto Education Center, which is built right over a subway. You could hear the trains roar all over the building. The facilities were first class, however.

It was great putting faces next to the names I've been viewing in cyberspace.

>From this list I met Url Strauss, Bahija Reghaei, Abraham Weizfeld, Henry Lowi, Steve Questor from Jews Against the Occupation (NYC), and Mughir a) Hindi. I've written to this list about the libel suit being pursued by Susan Howard-Azzeh from St. Catherines. She was there with her daughter and it was excellent meeting them.

Hands down, the highlight of the convention was the speech by Salman abu-Sitta. He dresses formally, but with style. At the dinner he wore a handsome blue suit with a bright red handkerchief. Born in the 1930's in Beersheba, he became a refugee and now lives in Kuwait and London. He illustrated his speech with a Power Point presentation in which he explained in great detail how 5,000,000 Patestinians could return to their homes without any major disruption to the Jewish population. He had it all nailed down. The first returnees will come to sites of the 500 demolished villages and build the houses for the next wave of refugees. He sees the whole process as taking 6 to 8 years. He talked about water, jobs, the whole gamut. Brilliant. As Edward Said said in 2000, Abu-Sitta is a national treasure.

Abu-Sitteh received the Faris Odeh award, named after the Palestinian youth photographed against the huge Israeli tank. I presented the Rachel Corrie award to representatives of the International Solidarity Movement from Toronto, Vancouver and Montreal. They shared with us several wrenching accounts of what they saw in the territories.

It is becoming clearer to me that the refugee issue is at the heart of the conflict even more important than borders. Merely ending the occupation, getting the IDF out of the West Bank and Gaza, will not do the trick. The Palestinians are an exiled people with an enormous desire to return to their homes. This means Israel proper. The US and the Israelis are going to have to deal with this. If they don't all the paper agreements they get from the Abu-Mazen's

Arafats aren't worth a hill of beans.

Though our mission is to help the refugees, a lot of what went on at the convention addressed larger political issues and this wasn't always to the good.

Members of the IAC were on two panels and gave the first address. No other political group had such visibility which gives a false impression that al-Awda is an IAC project. The IAC's Richard Becker's analysis of the Palestinian question and US anti-war work was very well done, but Elias Rishmawi's speech had problems. He thundered on about betrayals by PLO leadership, striking a very militant position, but ended before giving a positive program. He ignored criticisms from the audience about the costs of violence not only to innocent Israelis, but to Palestinians. I also disagreed with Ibrahlm Makawi of the pan-Arabist Abnaa' Al-Balaad group who kept talking about Palestine being part of the Arab nation and using the term "1948 occupied Palestine" instead of Israel. Face the facts. There are four million Israeli Jews. There isn't a chance for a settlement if the Israelis think the Palestinians goal is to dominate Jews and treat them as miserably as the Zionists have been treating the Palestinians. The dissolution of apartheid is the model to follow, with the states or states that arise from its abolition becoming the property of the citizenry, not of a national, ethnic or religious group.

One of the best speakers was a man who knew South African apartheid very well, Na'eem Jeenah, a Muslim scholar and head of the Palestine Solidarity Committee of South Africa. He explained the similarities and differences between South African and Israeli apartheid with the Zionist variety being the more vicious! He pointed out that the South Africans government never tried mass expulsion of blacks and that it never included in the government parties dedicated to that kind of "solution". As for repression he pointed out the lack of collective punishement in South Africa. He explained that his own brother was killed by the authorities, but his family never feared that they would lose their home or be expelled. He said that what activists are calling the "apartheid wall" had no precedent in South Africa. Nor did South Africans ever invade townships with tanks and jet planes. While explaining that the ANC did at times kill civilians (what at the time were called "soft targets") he said that he completely opposed it and that the main factors that ended apartheid were internal popular resistance and international solidarity actions.

Another impressive speaker was Dr. Gadha Talhami who spoke on the panel "Palestinian Women in the Struggle for Liberation and Return". She challenged people to look ahead several years and look at the big picture. She warned about "alternative" plans for refugees like Shlomo Gazit's idea that the Palestine Authority should have a "law of return" modeled after the Israeli law. Then all

4/5/2008

ېږدې د د د د د the refugees in Jordan, Syria, etc. would get Palestinian citizenship and they would stay there forever. She also warned about the "Iraq file", Israeli claims against Iraq for property of Iraqi Jews who left for Israel. The Iraqi health care system is in tatters and polluted water is killing people all over, but Israel will demand that Iraq first deal with claims of Israeli from Iraq who are living very adequately in Israel. Talhami also warned the "Iraq file" would be used as a weapon against Patestinian claims for compensation against the Israeli government. She advised us to remember that Palestinians had nothing to do with forcing Jews out of Iraq and told us about a Palestinian leader who in the early '50's pointedly told the Iraqi Prime Minister that his actions encouraging emigration were doing no good.

In the hallways a number of "Unity" folks talked and I got a sense that we could really make something of our list. We've got to accept two ways of acting.

Jews should join in solidarity groups as individuals and making the fight that way. They should also be comfortable in forming Jewish groups against occupation and apartheid. This helps Palestinians combat false charges of anti-Semitism and organizes those who prefer to embrace their Jewish identity in their political work.

There was one glaring problem with the convention, a total absence of Israeli Jewish speakers and participants. At our demonstrations in Washington and New York they were included, but not in Toronto. That's a real mistake. An Israeli-Jewish presence demolishes the propaganda which insists that the Right to Return is "national suicide" for Israelis.

At the close of the Convention there was a strategy session with time for recommendations about future work. Because of delays in moming sessions the section started several hours late and several key al-Awda leaders had to leave to make travel connections. I missed the session for the same reason. The strategy session was problematic. In many organizations the Convention is the ruling body of the organization. Not so for al-Awda. The al-Awda by-laws don't even mention the word convention. I think it's clear that the measures adopted at the session could only be advice to the Co-ordinating Committee (Al-Awda's highest body), but some on the CC argue that what was adopted in the Stragegy

Session are now official Al-Awda positions.

Upon reading the minutes I wasn't impressed with the four "resolutions" adopted. [See full text at end of post] One I completely oppose. It reads: "AI-Awda convention, demands the immediate stop of using Israel/Palestine in all of its document, as it implies the existence of a Palestinian State." I can't understand it at all. My first impression is that there must be a typo and that the resolution was complaining about an "Israeli state". This is the thinking of those who talk about the "Zionist entity" and can't stomach the word Israel.

can understand the fury of suffering people caused by Israelis, but this kind of rhetoric plays right into the hands of those who say the real goal of the Palestinians is to drive the Israelis "into the sea". Nationalism is a bad idea for Jews. It's a bad idea for anybody.

I think the formulation "Israel/Palestine" is an excellent term. It recognizes Palestinians and Israeli Jews as basic ethnic groups of the land. It references all the land between the Mediterranean and the Jordan without implying borders. Its use certainly shouldn't be banned within al-Awda.

Two other resolutions emphasized rejection of compromise of Palestinian rights and support for struggle "spearhead by the intifada". Activists understand the term to mean uprising, popular struggle, but the way the resolution reads makes it easier for opponents to advance the slander that we support "suicide bombings".

I wish some concrete suggestions had been made, like support for the Rachel Corrie Resolution, and for committees opposing deportation of Amer Jubran and scores of Canadian Palestinans. There was no resolution about refugee rights in Lebanon, Jordan, etc. and that's a real mistake.

There's also the question of who is a member of al-Awda and who is not. The by-laws are incredibly broad allowing membership to anyone who believes in our mission and "who donate time and resources for the right to return". At the Convention the CC voted to study the idea of formal membership where people would formally sign up.

There were plenty of logistic problems at the convention, mostly stemming from over ambitiousness, every spare minute being set aside for panel or a talk, sessions ignoring time limits, 15 minute lunches, CC sessions going on until the early morning hours, lack of a large Al-Awda banner, etc. . It was a tramendous effort with mixed results.

Finally, Al-Awda and other groups are organizing a project called "Wheels of Justice". A bus will be driven all over the US and Canada with Al-Awda slogans, literature, exhibits, foudspeakers, etc. Cool!

Minutes of the Strategy Session

Resolution #1

On the definition of the Right of Return

"The Palestinian right of return is a historical, national and collective right rooted in the individual and collective inviolable right of an individual and a people to their original homes, property, and homeland, and to restitution regardless of agreements, developments in international law, and political framework. It is a right that transcends generations, political entitles, and is not subject to any form of negation or compromise. It is an inextricable right to the fundamental right of unconditional self-determination for the totality of the Palestinian people regardless of their place of residence."

Resolution#2

On the Road Map

"Al-Awda convention opposes the US approved Road Map which aims at suppressing the Palestinian people human and national rights. Al-Awda Convention expresses support for the Palestinian people struggle, spearheaded by the Intifada, to achieve national resistance goals including, but not limited to, ending the Zionist colonization, implementing the right of return and achieving self-determination. Al-Awda convention does not recognize the self-proclaimed right of the Palestinian leadership, elected or self appointed, in compromising any Palestinian national right, especially the right of return."

Resolution#3

On the use of Israel/Palestine in Al-Awda Documents

"Al-Awda convention, demands the immediate stop of using Israel/Palestine in all of its document, as it implies the existence of a Palestinian State."

Resolution#4

On Political Prisoners in Israeli & Palestinian Authority jails "Al-Awda Convention demands the immediate release of all political prisoners from all Israeli and Palestinian Authority jails."
