ENFORCEMENT PROCEEDINGS

COMMISSION OBTAINS TRO AND ASSET FREEZE AGAINST PROMOTERS OF OFFERING FRAUD

The Commission announced that on April 14 the U.S. District Court for the District of Massachusetts unsealed a previously entered emergency order temporarily restraining Edward J. Paradis, Jr., and Walter R. Snyder, Jr., from continuing a fraudulent investment scheme in violation of the federal securities laws. The order also freezes the assets of Paradis and Snyder.

The Commission's complaint alleges that Paradis and Snyder obtained $175,000 from an investor, promising him a return of over 300% in stock and cash within thirty days. They falsely told the investor that his money would be safely held in Snyder's attorney escrow account until completion of a "financing" transaction that would produce the 300% profit. Contrary to their promises to the investor, however, Paradis and Snyder began removing the investor's funds as soon as the funds arrived in Snyder's account, and have misappropriated at least $144,000 to date, using it for purposes such as paying Paradis's rent. The complaint alleges that even after the money was misappropriated, Paradis assured the investor that the completion of the transaction was imminent.

In addition to temporarily restraining and freezing the assets of Paradis and Snyder, the Court's order requires them to file sworn accountings, orders the repatriation of investor funds abroad and grants other emergency relief. The Commission filed its complaint on April 13 on an emergency ex parte basis.

Both Paradis and Snyder are charged with violating the antifraud provisions of the federal securities laws, Section 17(a) of the Securities Act of 1933 and Section 10(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and Rule 10b-5 thereunder. In its complaint the Commission also seeks a permanent injunction, disgorgement of Paradis' and Snyder's ill-gotten gains and civil monetary penalties. [SEC v. Edward J. Paradis Jr. and Walter R. Snyder, Jr., USDC, District of Massachusetts, Civ. Action No. 98-10638-NG] (LR-15706)
