NRC ADVISORY COMMITTEE ON REACTOR SAFETY TO MEET JULY 7 - 9 IN ROCKVILLE, MARYLAND

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission's Advisory Committee on Reactor Safety will hold a public meeting on July 7 - 9, 2004, in Rockville, Md. The Committee will discuss, among other items, the NRC staff's final safety evaluation report on a new Westinghouse reactor design and a draft final generic letter to licensees regarding possible clogging of the reactor building sump at pressurized water reactors during design-basis accidents.

The meeting will be held in Room T-3B2 of the agency's Two White Flint North building, at 11545 Rockville Pike. It will begin at 8:30 a.m. each day, and all discussions will be open to the public.

A complete agenda will be available on the NRC's Web site at this address: <http://www.nrc.gov/reading-rm/doc-collections/acrs/agenda/2004/>. For additional information, please contact Sam Duraiswamy at 301-415-7364 between 7:30 a.m. and 4:15 p.m.
