Live Fire Calibration Test

On Sunday, between 8 a.m. and 1:30 p.m., the Pentagon Force Protection Agency will conduct a live fire calibration test in the Pentagon South Parking Lot. If severe weather is predicted, the test will be conducted on Saturday, March 17.

Pedestrians near the area during the testing may hear firearm discharges and see testing facilitators with yellow safety vests. All activities have been coordinated with the Pentagon building safety office, security personnel, and neighboring jurisdictions. Safety during the test is a priority, and the Pentagon Force Protection Agency will be restricting vehicle and pedestrian access to certain locations around the Pentagon South Parking Lot during this time.
