RE: TTB Notice No. 4

Dear Sir/Madam:

Proposing new regulations that will cause further damage to the economy is preposterous. However, that is exactly what the TTB is doing. The proposed regulations that the TTB wants to pass on flavored malt drinks are a foolish decision.

For the last 30 years, the regulations that have been in place have worked out well. Why does the TTB want to destroy something that has worked out so well for this long?

Your participation in finding a compromise solution would also be deeply appreciated. Your support is greatly needed. Please don't condone the use of destructive regulatory power. Thank you.

Warm Regards,

Roy Chaudry
