

Parent-Teen Activity Series

Tip of the Month

When a parent is called away on a mission, it's comforting for both parent and teen to have a little reminder of each other. Make sure you have a box for both parent and teen and have each person add items to the other person's box. This box can be as small or large as you wish and it can contain as many or as few items as you feel necessary. The contents should be special and important and can be like a time capsule. Just remember, keep the contents secret until a deployment occurs!

Parent-Teen Activity Series

Tip of the Month

When a parent is called away on a mission, it's comforting for both parent and teen to have a little reminder of each other. Make sure you have a box for both parent and teen and have each person add items to the other person's box. This box can be as small or large as you wish and it can contain as many or as few items as you feel necessary. The contents should be special and important and can be like a time capsule. Just remember, keep the contents secret until a deployment occurs!

Parent-Teen Activity Series

Tip of the Month

When a parent is called away on a mission, it's comforting for both parent and teen to have a little reminder of each other. Make sure you have a box for both parent and teen and have each person add items to the other person's box. This box can be as small or large as you wish and it can contain as many or as few items as you feel necessary. The contents should be special and important and can be like a time capsule. Just remember, keep the contents secret until a deployment occurs!

Parent-Teen Activity Series

Tip of the Month

When a parent is called away on a mission, it's comforting for both parent and teen to have a little reminder of each other. Make sure you have a box for both parent and teen and have each person add items to the other person's box. This box can be as small or large as you wish and it can contain as many or as few items as you feel necessary. The contents should be special and important and can be like a time capsule. Just remember, keep the contents secret until a deployment occurs!