

Parent-Teen Activity Series

Tip of the Month

Spending time talking together and visiting a parent's place of work may help reduce worries for some teens. Make sure that you get permission, have the necessary keys, etc. prior to the visit. Consider some special activities that include hands-on experience for the teen with some of the equipment and materials the parent uses at work. Communicate honestly about potential dangers of the job since nothing good comes from hiding things.

Parent-Teen Activity Series

Tip of the Month

Spending time talking together and visiting a parent's place of work may help reduce worries for some teens. Make sure that you get permission, have the necessary keys, etc. prior to the visit. Consider some special activities that include hands-on experience for the teen with some of the equipment and materials the parent uses at work. Communicate honestly about potential dangers of the job since nothing good comes from hiding things.

Parent-Teen Activity Series

Tip of the Month

Spending time talking together and visiting a parent's place of work may help reduce worries for some teens. Make sure that you get permission, have the necessary keys, etc. prior to the visit. Consider some special activities that include hands-on experience for the teen with some of the equipment and materials the parent uses at work. Communicate honestly about potential dangers of the job since nothing good comes from hiding things.

Parent-Teen Activity Series

Tip of the Month

Spending time talking together and visiting a parent's place of work may help reduce worries for some teens. Make sure that you get permission, have the necessary keys, etc. prior to the visit. Consider some special activities that include hands-on experience for the teen with some of the equipment and materials the parent uses at work. Communicate honestly about potential dangers of the job since nothing good comes from hiding things.