

Letter from 110 Organizations in Support of Rep. Baldwin's
"Paying a Fair Share Act of 2012" (H.R. 3903)

April 16, 2012

Dear Representative:

We write to ask you to support Representative Tammy Baldwin's "Paying a Fair Share Act of 2012," H.R. 3903, legislation that would address an array of tax loopholes that allows some millionaires and billionaires to pay a lower effective tax rate than working families.

H.R. 3903 implements the so-called "Buffett Rule," proposed by billionaire investor Warren Buffett, who pays a lower effective tax rate than his secretary. The legislation would require that all households with incomes above $1 million a year pay at least a 30 percent minimum federal effective tax rate on income, a critical first step in creating a more equitable tax code.

This should not be controversial legislation. We believe that a basic premise of the promise of America – no matter what your political party – is that everyone should contribute their fair share. The richest Americans have benefitted from enormous increases in wealth in recent decades, while everyone else has struggled to make ends meet. H.R. 3903 represents a modest but important step for addressing rising inequality.

There is no reason that Washington, DC should subsidize millionaires and billionaires. Continuing the array of tax loopholes that the Buffett Rule seeks to address adds to the deficit and requires middle-class Americans to make up the difference – either through higher taxes or through reductions in funding for Medicare and Medicaid, public education, researching new medical cures, or rebuilding our crumbling infrastructure.

H.R. 3903 is a first step to creating a fairer tax system, which provides a clear choice: Do you want a nation where millionaires pay lower taxes than middle-class Americans, or an America where everyone contributes their fair share? Two out of three Americans support the latter. We urge you to join with them by supporting H.R. 3903 and by allowing the measure to get an up-or-down vote.

Sincerely,
