

Clinton Administration History Project

The records of the Clinton Administration History Project consist of the histories of the Central Intelligence Agency, the Council of Economic Advisors, the Department of Commerce, the Department of the Interior, the Department of Defense, the Corporation for National Service, the Council on Environmental Quality, the Department of Justice, the Domestic Policy Council, the Department of Education, the Department of Energy, the Environmental Protection Agency, the Federal Emergency Management Agency, the General Services Administration, the Department of Health & Human Services, the Department of Housing & Urban Development, the Department of Labor, the National Economic Council, the Office of Management & Budget, the Office of National Drug Control Policy, the Office of Personnel Management, the Office of Science and Technology Policy, the Office of the Vice President, the Small Business Administration, the Social Security Administration, the Department of State, the Department of Transportation, the Department of the Treasury, the Agency for International Development, the Department of Agriculture, the United States Trade Representative, and the Department of Veterans' Affairs. Altogether this collection contains the histories of 32 agencies or departments.

These papers describe in detail the accomplishments of President Clinton and his advisors for the period 1993-2001. Generally speaking, each organization associated with the enterprise submitted a narrative history along with supporting documents. These narrative accounts primarily are overviews of the various missions, special projects, and accomplishments of the agencies. The supplementary records include substantive memos, press releases, briefing papers, and publications illustrated with photos and charts. For example, the supplementary records of the Department of the Treasury include a considerable amount of substantive correspondence between Secretary Lloyd Bentsen and his subordinates dealing with the issue of health care reform. On the other hand, the supplementary papers of the histories of the Departments of Commerce and Interior consist almost entirely of publications.

The narrative accounts associated with the Clinton Administration History Project were written as a result of a directive from White House Chief of Staff, John Podesta. Following an example set by the Johnson Administration, Podesta and Clinton thought all major federal agencies and departments should submit a formal history detailing their respective achievements. They believed that these administrative histories would serve as a valuable research tool for the fundamental operations of the Clinton Presidency.
