Carter Museum Free to Active Duty Military Blue Star Museum Program Runs Through Labor Day (September 3)

Atlanta, GA. – There are only a few days left for active duty military and their immediate family to see the Jimmy Carter Presidential Museum at no charge. The Blue Star Museum program, which offers free admission to active-duty military and their family members (military ID holder and up to five family members), runs through September 3, 2012 (Labor Day). Active duty military include Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines, Coast Guard, and active duty National Guard and active duty Reserve members.

“We hope our active duty military families will take this opportunity to see the Carter Presidential Museum,” Carter Library Director Jay Hakes said. “As a former Commander in Chief and Navy officer, President Carter is a strong supporter of the military, as is Mrs. Carter.”

The Jimmy Carter Presidential Museum is one of more than 1,500 museums across America to offer free admission to military personnel and their families this summer in collaboration with the National Endowment of the Arts, Blue Star Families, and the Department of Defense.
