

Exterior Portrait Medallions and The Great Hall Metopes

INFORMATION SHEET

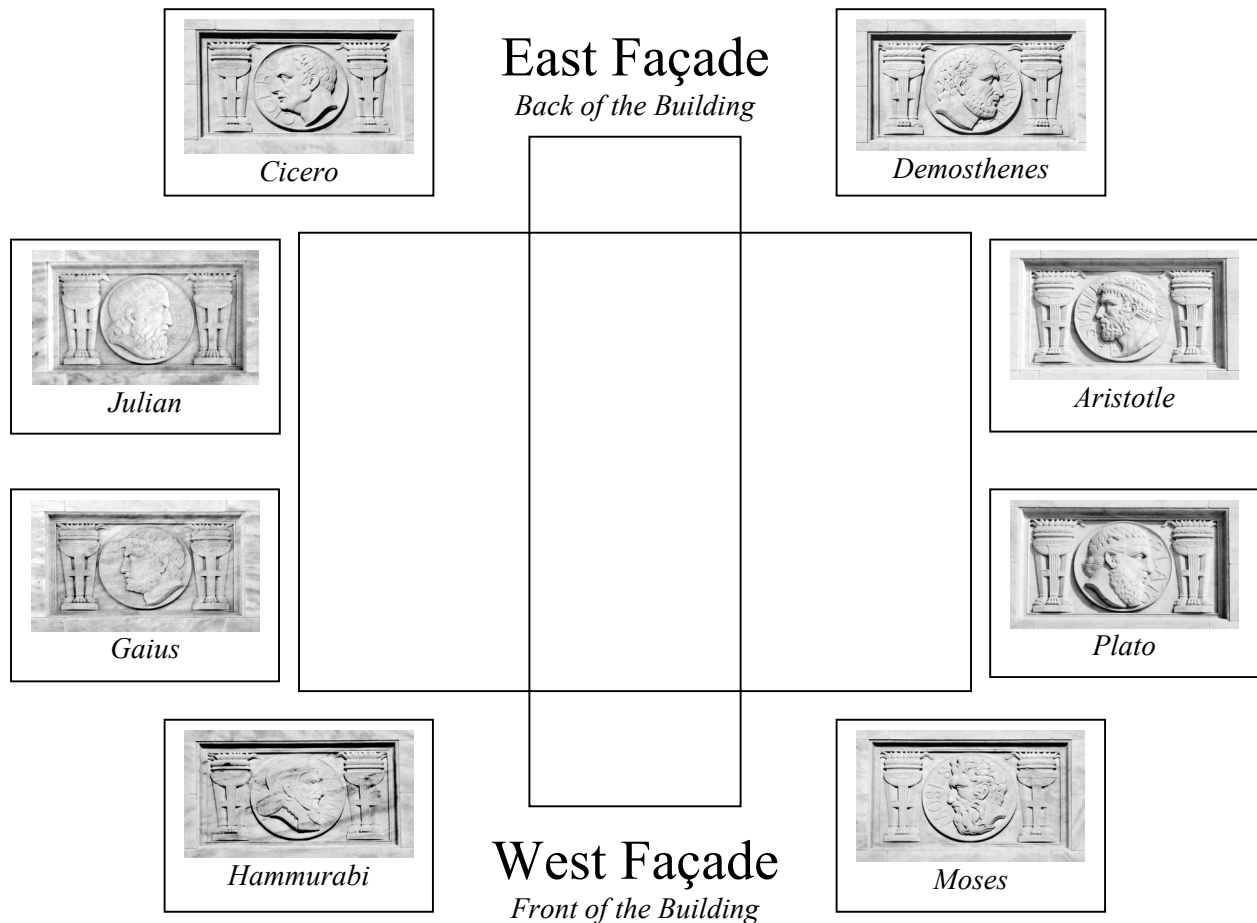

Eight portrait medallions are found on the corners of the Supreme Court Building. Chosen by the architect, each depicts an ancient jurist, advocate, philosopher, or lawgiver.

North Façade: Julian and Gaius (jurists)

East Façade: Cicero and Demosthenes (advocates)

South Façade: Aristotle and Plato (Greek philosophers)

West Façade: Hammurabi and Moses (lawgivers)

Ornamental Metopes Located on the Frieze in the Great Hall of the Supreme Court Building

Metopes are listed in sequence and as described by architect Cass Gilbert's office. The architect's description of their symbolism is in italics below; each appears eight times in the Great Hall except for the thunderbolts, which appear twelve times.

1. Thunderbolts
Power

2. Minerva
Goddess of Wisdom

3. Armor Suit
Trophy of Victory

4. Lions' Head & Swords
Guardianship

5. Shield, Sword & Helmet
Trophies of Victory

6. Scales and Lamp
Justice and Wisdom

7. Book & Torches
Education and Knowledge

8. Moses
Lawgiver and Seer

9. Juno
Genius of Womanhood and Guardian of Female Sex

10. Zeus
Father of Gods and Men; God of Heavens and Fertility

11. Mercury
Herald and Messenger of the Gods

12. Solon
Athenian Lawgiver and One of Seven Sages of Greece

13. Solomon
Wisdom and Magnificence

14. Eagle
Bird of Freedom; Superiority and Swiftness

15. Owl
Wisdom and Meditation