

Patterns of Production and Employment by U.S. Multinational Companies

Obie G. Whichard

U.S. Bureau of Economic Analysis

National Association for Business Economics
2004 Washington Economic Policy Conference

March 26, 2004

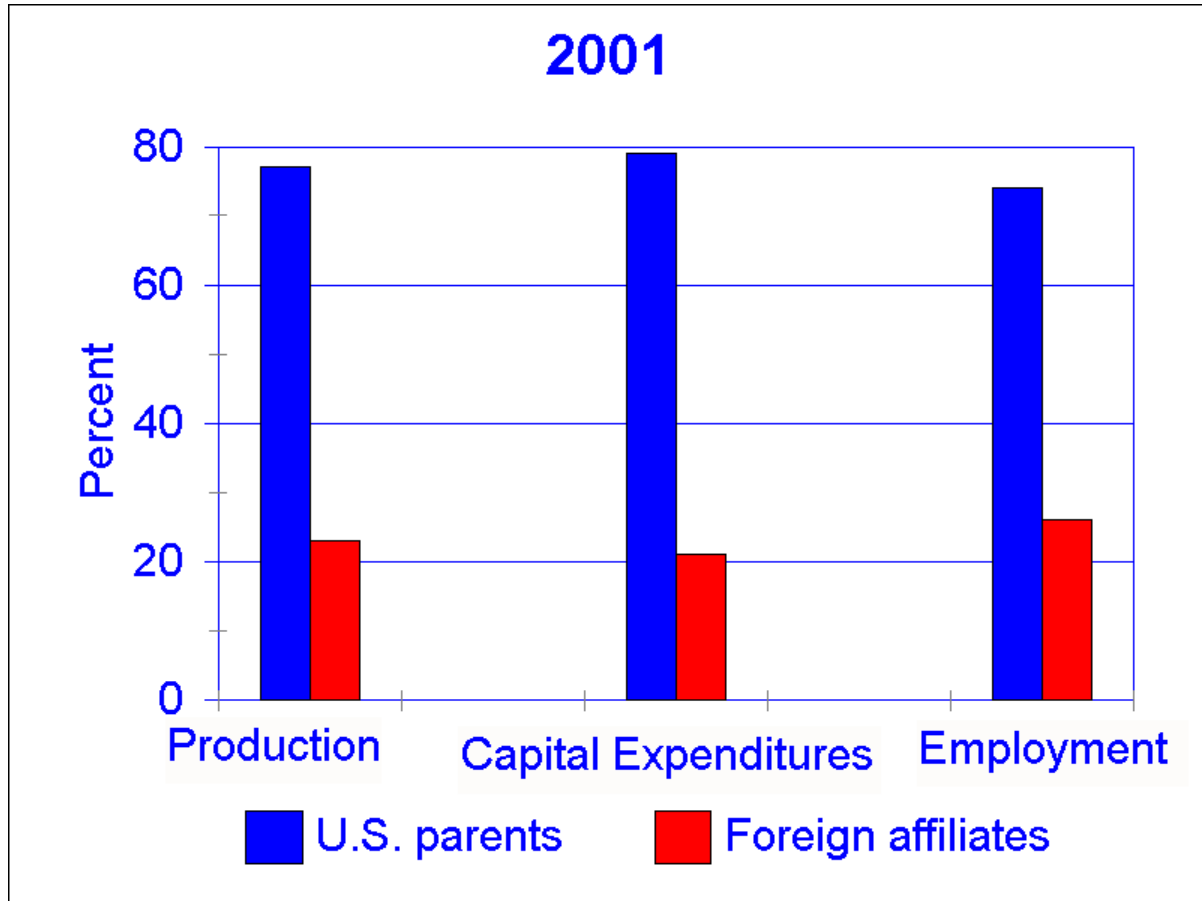

U.S. MNCs (Nonbank) Account for a large share of the U.S. economy

In 2001:

- $2.5 trillion in gross product (value added) - almost a quarter of private-sector GDP
- 23.4 million employees - over a fifth of nonbank employment
- $425 billion in exports of goods - 58 percent of U.S. total
- $433 billion in imports of goods 38 percent of total imports of goods

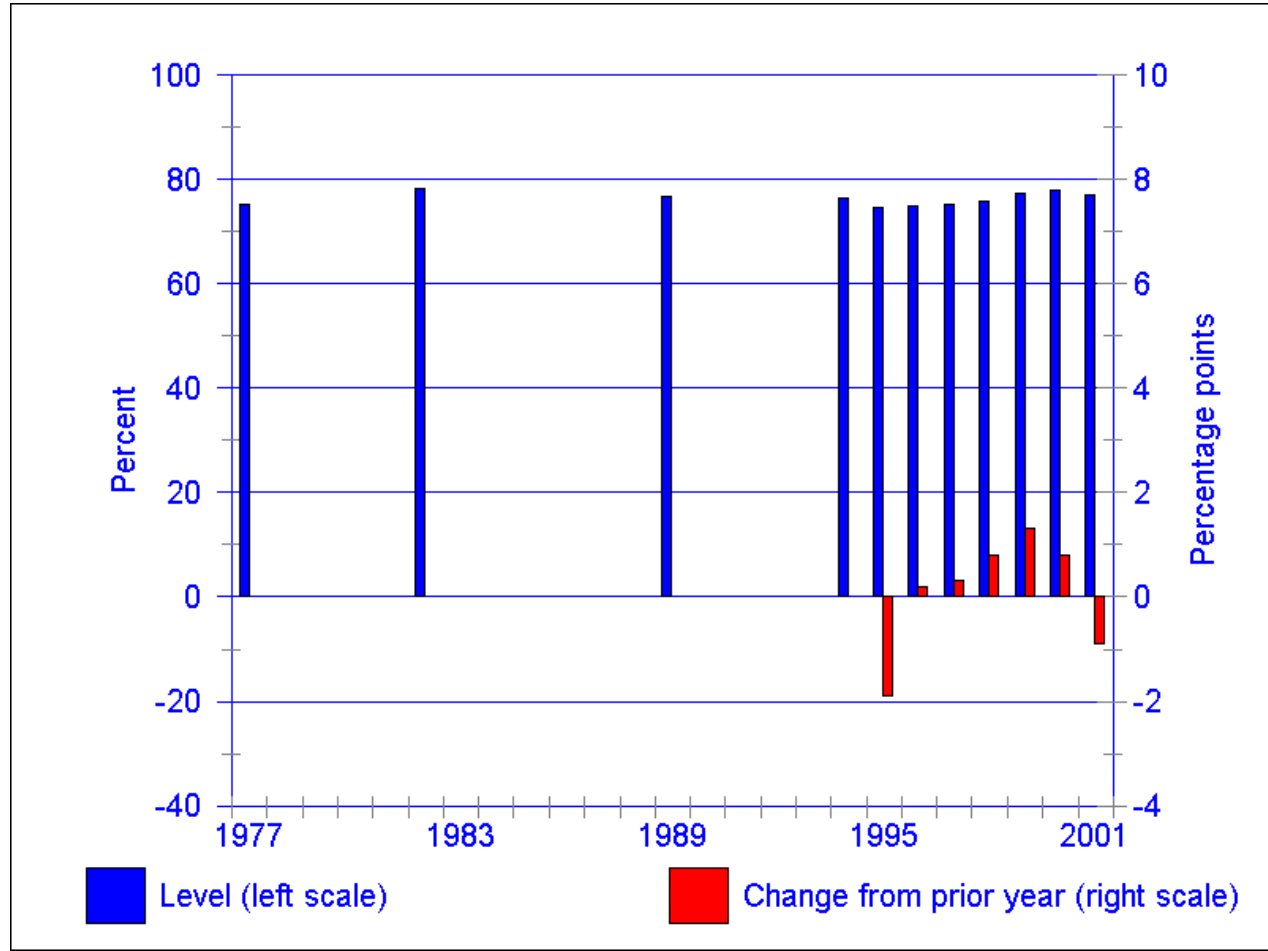

Worldwide operations of U.S. MNCs are concentrated in the United States

U.S.-Parent Share of MNC Production

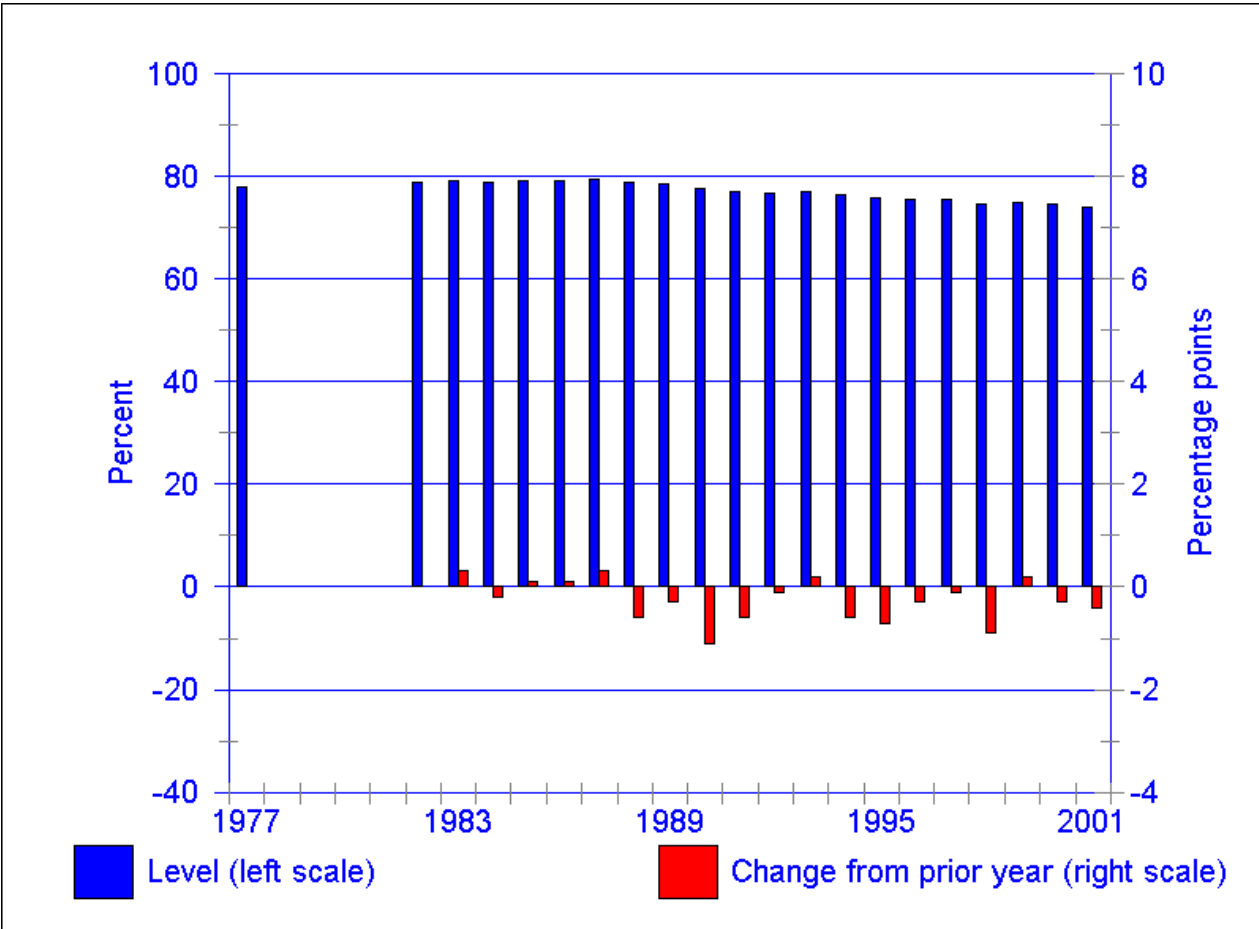

U.S.-Parent Share of MNC Capital Expenditures

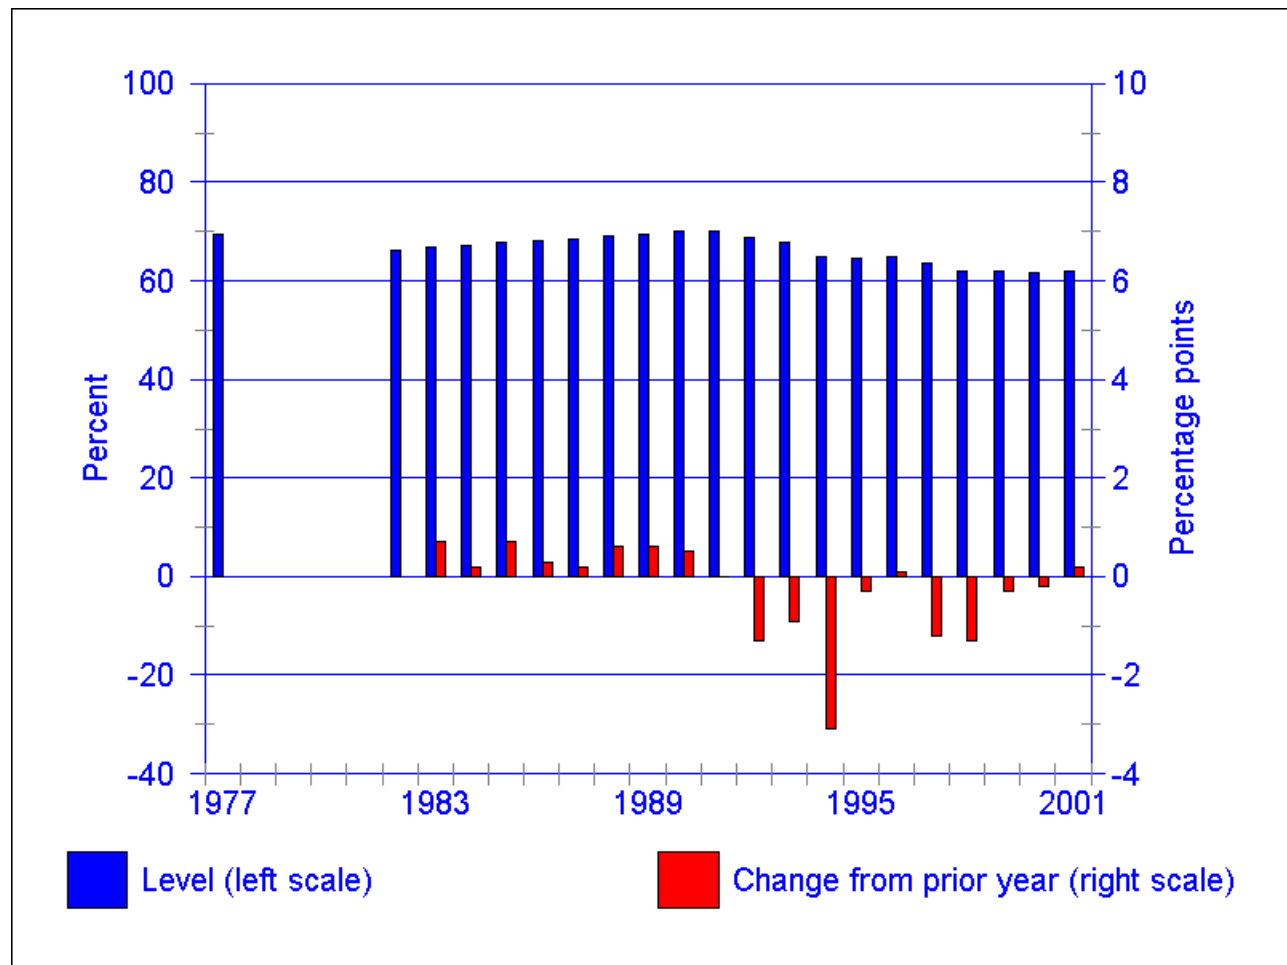

U.S.-Parent Share of MNC Employment

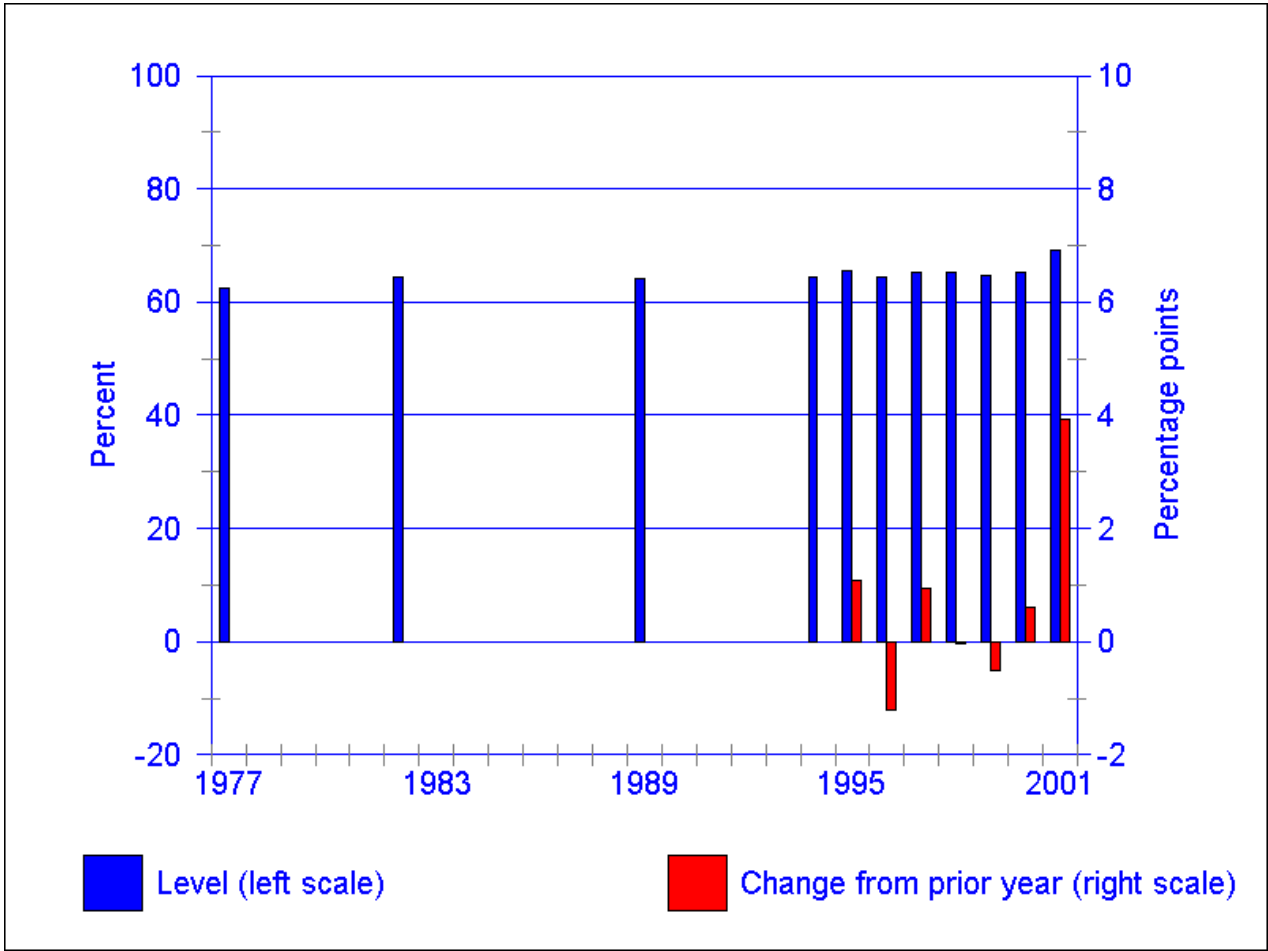

High-Wage-Country Share of Affiliate Employment

Ratio of Purchased Goods and Services to Sales for U.S. Parents

U.S. Imports of Goods and Services as a Share of U.S. Gross Domestic Purchases

Some Possible Causes of a Change in the Domestic Share of U.S.-MNC Employment

Data Limitations

- No information on the types of jobs MNCs offer in the United States and abroad
- The most recent data cover 2001
- Release of summary estimates for 2002 is being accelerated
 - News release on April 16
 - Total employment, sales, and capital expenditures (no country or industry detail)
 - Separate estimates for U.S. parents, foreign affiliates, and U.S. affiliates of foreign companies