Description

This map displays the three regions included in the FY2012 Integrated Resource Restoration (IRR) pilot program. IRR an authority that allows the Forest Service flexibility to address emerging ecological issues, and facilitates integrated work that sustains, maintains, and restores landscapes.

It is a budget tool that expedites the application of funding to address integrated landscape work. In the era of flat and declining budgets, IRR helps the Forest Service achieve measureable, on-the-ground improvements at a watershed scale.
