

Biographical Sketch

Joel C. Gaydos, MD, MPH
Colonel (Retired), US Army

Dr. Gaydos is currently with the Henry M. Jackson Foundation for the Advancement of Military Medicine and serves as the Director of Public Health Practices for the Department of Defense Global Emerging Infections Surveillance and Response System, or DoD-GEIS. He is a retired Army physician, having spent most of his military career in Preventive Medicine or Occupational Medicine assignments. He holds Fellowship in the American College of Preventive Medicine and the American College of Occupational and Environmental Medicine. Dr. Gaydos is an Adjunct Professor at the Uniformed Services University and the George Washington University. He is the author or coauthor of over 45 peer reviewed publications, primarily in the fields of infectious diseases and occupational health.

May 6, 2004