

Announcement

August 21, 2012

TTB.gov is Getting a New Look

TTB.gov is getting a “refreshed” look and new features. We are looking forward to launching a fresh Web site in the coming weeks. The new site will continue to give you access to a wealth of relevant information and data that you’ve come to expect. We will make the same timely and comprehensive information available in a streamlined, topic-focused format with easier access to top content and tasks, common questions, and industry-specific tabs.

Watch for updates and the go-live date or sign up for email updates.

Some features include –

- User-friendly navigation: Our new topic-based approach helps you find what you need more easily and quickly. The new look places these important links across the top navigation bar with drop-down menus so you can select content pages without leaving the homepage.
- Top Content: Organized conveniently in a tab structure in the center of the homepage, top content includes common questions and top tasks. Get easy access to the most requested information on TTB.gov.
- Most Requested: We've included links to the pages most requested by our visitors. When you're not sure where to start – start here!
- TTB Online: Here you'll find quick and easy access to our online applications, allowing you to conduct business with us in a convenient, secure environment.

As we roll out the new site, feel free to send your comments, suggestions, or questions to TTB\_Webmaster@ttb.gov. We look forward to hearing from you!