<sup>3</sup> Total lost workday cases involve days away from work, days of restricted work activity, or both.

<sup>4</sup> Days-away-from-work cases include those which result in days away from work with or without restricted work activity.

and nonmetal mining and for employers in railroad transportation are provided to BLS by the Mine Safety and Health Administration, U.S. Department of Labor, and the Federal Railroad Administration, U.S. Department of Transportation. Independent mining contractors are excluded from the coal, metal, and nonmetal mining industries.

NOTE: BLS does not calculate relative standard errors for SICs 10, 12, 14, and 40, therefore, differences in these estimates were not tested for statistical significance. Because of rounding, components may not add to totals.
