2012 National Blue Ribbon Schools Program Introduction

A National Recognition Program for American Schools

Since 1982, the U.S. Department of Education's National Blue Ribbon Schools Program has honored America's most successful public and non-public elementary, middle, and high schools. A Blue Ribbon Schools flag waving overhead has become a trademark of excellence, a symbol of quality recognized by everyone from parents to policy-makers in thousands of communities.

The Blue Ribbon Schools Program recognizes schools whose students achieve at very high levels or schools that make significant progress in closing the achievement gap. The Blue Ribbon Schools Program sets a standard of excellence for all schools striving for the highest level of achievement.

Please see the next sections for details regarding the eligibility criteria and school nomination and application processes.

Schools are eligible for Blue Ribbon recognition if they meet either one of two criteria:

- Exemplary High Performing Schools: Schools that are ranked among the state's highest performing schools as measured by state assessments in both reading (English language arts) and mathematics or that score at the highest performance level on tests referenced by national norms in at least the most recent year tested.
- Exemplary Improving Schools: Schools with at least 40 percent of their students from disadvantaged backgrounds that have reduced the achievement gap by improving student performance to high levels in reading (English language arts) and mathematics on state assessments or tests referenced by national norms in at least the most recent year tested.

At least one-third of the schools nominated by each state must be schools with at least 40 percent of their students from disadvantaged backgrounds. Public schools must make Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP) in the year of their nomination. Blue Ribbon Schools are honored each year at a recognition ceremony in Washington, DC. The applications from the award-winning schools are posted on the Department's web site. Summaries from a small group of Blue Ribbon Schools visited each year identify educational practices that have been successful in closing the achievement gap.

Nomination Process for Public Schools

For public schools, the Secretary invites each Chief State School Officer (CSSO), including the Department of Defense Education Activity (DoDEA) and the Bureau of Indian Education (BIE), to nominate those schools that meet either criterion for recognition.

In submitting the list of nominated schools, the CSSO of each state must certify that the nominated schools meet the minimum requirements established by the Department and describe any other criteria used by the state to nominate the schools. States must rely on their state assessment systems to identify schools for submission to the Secretary. The nomination criteria, including assessments, must pertain equally to all schools nominated from the individual state.

Based on state data, the CSSO will certify that the nominated schools meet one of two eligibility criteria:

- 1) Exemplary High Performing Schools. "High performing" is defined by the CSSO of each state, but at a minimum means:

- (a) that the achievement of the school's students in the most recent year tested places the school among the highest performing schools in the state on state assessments of reading (or English language arts) and mathematics, and
 - (b) disaggregated results for student subgroups, including students from disadvantaged backgrounds, must be similar to the results for all students tested.
- 2) Exemplary Improving Schools: If at least 40 percent of the school's students are from disadvantaged backgrounds, a school may qualify if it places among schools that have made the most progress in improving student achievement. "Made the most progress" is defined by the CSSO of each state but, at a minimum, means:
- (a) the school is among the top 10 percent of schools that have shown the greatest improvement in student achievement in the state over the previous five years on state assessments of reading (or English language arts) and mathematics, and
 - (b) disaggregated results for student subgroups, including students from disadvantaged backgrounds, must show improvement similar to that of all students

A student from a "disadvantaged background" is defined by the CSSO of each state. The definition must include students who are eligible for free and reduced-price school meals and may include students with disabilities and students who are limited English proficient, migrant, or receiving services under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, as amended by the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001.

At least one-third of the schools nominated by each state must have at least 40 percent of their students from disadvantaged backgrounds in the current school year, whether these schools are high performing or show improvement to high levels. For example, if a state nominates seven, eight, or nine schools, at least three must have at least 40 percent of their students from disadvantaged backgrounds. States may not nominate schools that have failed to make Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP) for the last two years. Schools must also make AYP in the school year of their nomination. Test results for all grades three and higher tested during the most recent five years must be reported even if the state has revised or changed its assessments during that period. In the rare cases where five years of test results are not available, an explanation should be provided in the application.

Once the Secretary receives the nominations from the CSSO, nominated schools are invited to submit applications for possible recognition as Blue Ribbon Schools.

The Secretary is eager to recognize schools that have shown success in improving their performance and/or in closing the achievement gap.

The Secretary wishes to identify those schools that significantly improved test scores, e.g. improving whole school test scores or student subgroup test scores by 10 or more percentage points from the earliest to the most recent year tested. The Secretary is also very interested in recognizing high performing schools with a high percentage of students from disadvantaged backgrounds.

The sample data table below demonstrates the type of schools the Secretary wishes the CSSO to identify. In Table 1, the reading scores of the Blue Ribbon School (a hypothetical school) show significant improvement in student achievement scores for all students in the school on the state criterion-referenced tests over five years.

Nomination Process for Non-Public Schools

For non-public schools, the Secretary invites the Council for American Private Education (CAPE) to nominate schools that meet the criteria for recognition. Non-public schools interested in being nominated should contact CAPE directly <www.capenet.org/brs.html>. CAPE must ensure and certify that the schools meet the criteria before submitting nominations.

Non-public schools are eligible for Blue Ribbon recognition if they meet either one of two criteria:

- 1) Exemplary High Performing Schools: "High performing" means
 - (a) that the achievement of the school's students in the most recent year tested places the school among the highest performing schools in the nation in reading (or English language arts) and mathematics as measured by a nationally normed test or among the highest in its state as measured by a state test. If a non-public school administers both state test and nationally normed tests, the school must be among the highest in both.
 - (b) Disaggregated results for student groups, including students from disadvantaged backgrounds, must be similar to the results for all students tested.

- 2) Exemplary Improving Schools: If at least 40 percent of the school's students are from disadvantaged backgrounds, a school may qualify if it places among schools that have made the most progress in improving student achievement. "Made the most progress" means:
 - (a) the school is among the top 10 percent of schools that have shown the greatest improvement in student achievement nationally over the previous five years on norm-referenced assessments of reading (or English language arts) and mathematics, and

- (b) disaggregated results for student subgroups, including students from disadvantaged backgrounds, must show improvement similar to that of all students

Please note: Schools that rely on norm-referenced tests to qualify as an Exemplary Improving School, i.e., have not administered state tests, will not be able to apply for the 2012 award due to a change in Program requirements. For 2012, Exemplary Improving Schools need to demonstrate that they are in the top 10 percent in gains in student achievement relative to national norms. The National Blue Ribbon Schools Program is carefully studying how best to measure such gains based on national norms for the different norm-referenced tests that are available.

A student from a “disadvantaged background” must include a student who is eligible for free and reduced-price school meals. The definition may include students with disabilities and students who are limited English proficient, migrant, or receiving services under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, as amended by the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001.

Test results for grades three and higher tested during the most recent five years must be reported even if the assessment was revised or changed during that period. In the rare cases where five years of test results are not available, an explanation should be provided in the application. For information on the nomination process and timeline for CAPE, non-public schools representatives should consult the CAPE Web site at <www.capenet.org/brs.html>.

Public and Non-Public School Eligibility Quotas

Public and non-public schools, including schools in the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Bureau of Indian Education (BIE), and the Department of Defense Education Activity (DoDEA), with grades between Kindergarten and grade 12 that meet the eligibility requirements described in this application, are eligible to participate in the program each year. Each state is assigned a number of possible applicants based on the number of K-12 students and the number of schools in the state. The number of possible state applicants ranges from a minimum of 3 schools to a maximum of 35. BIE and DoDEA may nominate three schools each. CAPE may nominate 50 non-public schools. The potential total for all nominations is 413 schools each year. Please see the Department’s Web site for state quotas at <www.ed.gov/programs/nclbbrs/applicant.html>.

Eligible schools, then, are those nominated by the CSSO, BIE, DoDEA, or CAPE that meet the eligibility requirements in Part I - Eligibility Certification, meet the assessment criteria in Part VI – Assessment Results, and have completed the entire application.

Application Process for Nominated Schools

Once the Department receives the nominations from the CSSOs, BIE, DoDEA, and CAPE, the Secretary extends an invitation to the nominated schools to apply. Using standards of excellence evidenced by student achievement measures and the characteristics known from research to exemplify school quality, the application focuses on achievement results and identification of evidence-based instructional programs and practices.

It is very important that the CSSO, CAPE, BIE, and DoDEA adequately screen nominees to ensure they represent the state or CAPE well and will be excellent models of best practices for the Blue Ribbon Schools Program. The Secretary reserves the right to initiate site visits to schools to document educational practices as well as to verify the accuracy of data.

PART VI - ASSESSMENT RESULTS

REPORTING REQUIREMENTS FOR STATE CRITERION-REFERENCED TESTS

Applying schools must report state test results in reading (or English language arts) and mathematics for the past five years for each grade tested. Please see the test data table below. Tables for entering this information will be in the online application for each applying school. Five years of test data must be provided, even if state assessments have changed during this period. If not, explain in the Notes section why five years of data are not available. If state assessments have changed, explain in the Notes section when the change(s) took place. Provide an explanation in the Notes section if 10 or more students were alternatively assessed.

See the sample table for reading/English language arts on page 4 of this application.

Once you submit and print your application, the online form will provide you with two summary tables (for reading/English Language Arts and mathematics) that provide your school's achievement data averaged across all grades.
