Virtual Town Hall Set for September 27, 2010

Web Event Slated to Address Industry Questions on Corporate Rule, Legacy Assets

September 21, 2010, Alexandria, Va. – National Credit Union Administration Chairman Debbie Matz will host a Town Hall Webinar Monday, September 27 from 3 to 5 p.m. (EST) featuring detailed discussion of NCUA’s initiatives to strengthen the corporate credit union system.

“This new corporate rule is so important, we want to use every venue to reach a many stakeholders as possible,” Chairman Matz commented. “We want to explain the rule and answer questions so credit union leaders understand the new landscape and what it means for them.”

In addition to describing the new corporate credit union rule, the webinar will also provide stakeholders with an update on NCUA’s plan to resolve corporate legacy assets.

The free webinar is open to all, and NCUA encourages audience participation. Viewers can submit questions that will be addressed during the live session.

To register for the webinar, click the link below. You will receive an email confirmation. Registered participants should also use this link to log into the live session on September 27.
