Biographical Information

Terry Mohn is a founder and Chief Innovation Officer of Balance Energy located in San Diego California. Balance Energy engineers and builds clean and renewable electric generation that reliably meet the demands of utilities, municipalities and communities. This includes executive responsibility for company's technology portfolio and capabilities towards emerging integrated microgrids and sustainable community solutions. Terry was previously chief technology strategist for the Sempra Energy utilities, with emphasis on smart grid. He specializes in the clean energy and the improvement of the electric grid by using modern technology.

He has 30 years' experience in large-scale system architecture, business strategy, and technology investment strategy. Terry specializes in the business integration of technologies, primarily supporting smart grid, home automation systems, communication systems, distribution automation, smart metering, demand response, and sense and control. He also is very involved in technology research, funding and commercialization and works closely with major California universities. Terry presently serves as Vice Chairman of the GridWise Alliance, a consortium of public and private stakeholders who share a vision and stewardship that the nation's electric system must modernize for the country to remain competitive on the world market. Prior to his energy roles, Terry was chief technology officer for an international broadband media company and founder of two Internet companies.
