

IT'S A GAMBLE
"Dealer" Instructions

1. Tell your "players" what the category of your scenario is (it will be listed under your scenario number at the top of the page).
2. Based on the category, ask the "players" how much they want to wager as a team that they can figure out the scenario. At the "It's a Gamble" casino we require a minimum of $100 "pay-to-play" fee. 😊
3. Orient them to the particular handouts they have (handouts will be on colored paper).
 - a. If the scenario you have has two categories with two sets of handouts, show them which goes with what.
4. Present the handouts for your scenario to your players. There will be two (identical) sets of the handouts per table so that the large group can be accommodated.
5. The players are all working together as a team to figure out the answer.
6. Provide the players with 7 minutes to look through the sheets and determine as many answers as they can
7. The hosts will call time and then you'll have 8 minutes to go over the answers and based on the answer sheet either give the money they wagered back to them plus what they bet (i.e. if they wagered $100, you'll give them back $200), or keep the money if they got the answer incorrect.
