Dear Family Caregiver:

It's especially important to keep your loved one healthy this time of year - and to stay healthy yourself. This issue highlights changes to oxygen coverage, important 2009 dates, and a great Alzheimer's resource. February is heart month, so we've also included tips about preventive services.

We especially appreciate your comments on our last edition. Your feedback helps us shape future articles and get you more of the Medicare information you need most. Thank you for all you do!

Kerry N. Weems, Acting Administrator

New Oxygen Rules

If you rent oxygen equipment, Medicare payments (and your coinsurance) for this equipment now stop after 36 months. But suppliers are required by Federal law to continue providing oxygen and oxygen equipment for up to 5 years as long as you medically need it, and to keep the equipment in good repair. The supplier can't charge you anything for these services.

Don't be misled. Get the facts on the new oxygen rules at www.medicare.gov.

Looking for a Nursing Home?

Medicare's Nursing Home Compare web tool can guide you through the process step-by-step. Just enter your ZIP code to compare facilities on things like bedsores, safety, and staffing, and use our new five-star quality rating to help make a good choice.

Before you choose a nursing home for your loved one, get the facts on nursing homes in your area! Visit www.medicare.gov/NHCompare to get started.

Don't Get Stuck on Hold

Medicare is here to help 24 hours a day, 7 days a week at 1-800-MEDICARE (1-800-633-4227). But before you call, check out Medicare's new tip sheet - it explains how to make the most of your call and get the right answers, fast.

If you're calling for a loved one, know that Medicare can't share their personal information unless your loved one gives permission, either in person or by having a completed authorization form on file. You can find both the form and the 1-800 tip sheet at www.medicare.gov.

CAREGIVER TIP

Without a completed "Authorization to Disclose Personal Health Information" form, Medicare can't share personal health information, even with family members. Get the form at www.medicare.gov.

Do it before you need it!

Part B Covers Heart Screenings

You can help lower your risk of a heart attack or stroke with Medicare-covered cardiovascular screenings. Medicare covers tests to screen for cholesterol, lipid, and triglyceride problems every 5 years. There's no cost for the tests (but you generally have to pay your share for the doctor's visit).

Take advantage of these screenings and other preventive services - get details at www.medicare.gov.

Could You Be At Risk for Glaucoma?

Glaucoma is one of the top four causes of blindness in the U.S. Medicare Part B covers glaucoma screenings once every 12 months for people at high risk, including people with diabetes or a family history of glaucoma.

Ask your doctor if you need glaucoma screening, then visit www.medicare.gov to learn more.
