

Shell Keys

National Wildlife Refuge

Don Voros, Project Manager
SW LA National Wildlife Refuge Complex
Terry Delaine, Refuge Manager
Shell Keys NWR
c/o Sabine NWR
3000 Holly Beach Highway
Hackberry LA 70645
Phone: 337/558 5574
Email: FW4RWSabine@fws.gov
Web: <http://www.fws.gov/swlarefugecomplex>

Refuge Facts

- Established: 1907.
- Acres: five-seven.
- Located in Iberia Parish, LA.
- Location: The refuge is located in the offshore waters to the west of the Atchafalaya River Delta, south of Marsh Island Wildlife Management Area.

Financial Impact of Refuge

- Shell Keys, Sabine, Lacassine and Cameron Prairie NWR's are all administered under the Southwest Louisiana National Wildlife Refuge Complex.

Natural History

Refuge is composed of a few small shell spits or islands that are continually being built up and then eroded and moved by storm events. Concentrations of shorebirds and colonial sea birds.

Refuge Objectives

By executive order, the refuge was "... reserved and set apart ... as a reserve and breeding ground for native birds."

Questions and Answers

Where is the refuge and how can I access it?

The refuge is south of Marsh Island and is accessible only by boat.

What is available at the refuge?

The refuge is a bird sanctuary and is closed to all public use.