DATA HIGHLIGHTS

Detailed tabulations are now available which provide statistics on the marital status and living arrangements of people in the United States, based on the March 1998 Current Population Survey. These tables provide information such as:

- In 1998, 110.6 million adults (56.0 percent of the adult population) were married and living with their spouse.
- Among people age 25 to 34 years old, 13.6 million had never been married, representing 34.7 percent of all people in the age group. For Blacks in this age group, 53.4 percent had never been married.
- In 1998, 19.4 million adults were currently divorced, representing 9.8 percent of this population.
- Nearly half (45.2 percent) of women 65 years old and over were widowed. Of the elderly widows, 70.1 percent lived alone.
- About 19.8 million children under 18 lived with one parent (27.7 percent of all children under 18).
- The majority of children who lived with a single parent in 1998 lived with their mother (84.1 percent). About 40.3 percent of these children lived with mothers who had never been married. Children who lived with their father only were more likely to be living with a divorced father (44.4 percent) than with a never-married father (33.3 percent).
- No other adults were present in the household for 55.7 percent of children living with single parents.
- About 4 million children lived in the household of their grandparents, representing 5.6 percent of all children under 18. Of the children living with their grandparents, 1.4 million had neither parent present.
- The proportion of married-couples who identified the woman as the householder has tripled since 1990, from 7.4 percent in 1990 to 22.9 percent in 1998.

The data in the detailed tables are from the March 1998 Current Population Survey. All survey data are subject to sampling variability as well as survey design flaws, respondent classification errors, and data processing mistakes. The Census Bureau has taken steps to minimize errors. However, because of methodological differences, use caution when comparing these data with data from other sources. For information on the source of the data, the accuracy of the estimates, the use of standard errors, and the computation of standard errors for estimates, see the section on "Source and Accuracy" at <http://www.bls.census.gov/cps/ads/1998/ssrcacc.htm> on the Internet.
