The Writing Program Coordinator, Joint Forces Staff College, is the security and policy review authority for all research articles and related materials concerning military matters available for release in the public domain. Originators must not release copies of the material outside official channels until the security review authority confirms clearance.

The Joint Forces Staff College must evaluate public access and releasability for your research product. To speed this process along, please circle "Y" or "N" in response to the following questions. A "Y" response to a question serves as a flag for other authorities who must review your product prior to public release. Though you may not be certain of all responses, please answer each to the best of your knowledge.

- Y 1. Does your product use classified material? If your answer is 'YES', the product is not releasable.
N
- Y 2. Does your product use caveated material? [e.g. For Official Use Only (FOUO), No Foreign dissemination
N (NOFORN), No Contractor dissemination (NOCONTRACT), or Limited Distribution (LIMDIS)] If your answer is 'YES', consult the JFSC security manager or the JFSC-PAO before proceeding further.
- Y 3. Does your product contain references to classified works? If your answer is 'YES', the paper may not be N releasable. (For clarification, consult the JFSC security manager or the JFSC-PAO)
- Y 4. Does your product list unclassified titles of classified documents? If your answer is 'YES', your paper
N may not be releasable. (For clarification, consult the JFSC security manager or the JFSC-PAO)
- Y 5. Does your research product violate any copyright laws? If you plan to reproduce your paper for access to N others in any media or forum (library, periodicals, internet, etc.) you must acquire necessary copyright release from the intellectual property holder for use of materials requiring copyright permission. These include lengthy quotes, photos, maps, charts, illustrations, video clips or other material extracted from copyrighted sources.
- Y 6. Does your paper include the results of a survey conducted while in residence at JFSC? If yes, survey
N procedures must comply with JFSC PD1, Chapter 3, Policies, Section 4, Academic Operations. (For clarification, consult the Chief, Institutional Research, and Assessment Division)
- Y 7. Does your product include material that contains contemptuous, invective, or derogatory comments on N Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, DOD, or US Government policy or personnel? (If so, consult your faculty advisor or the JFSC-PAO)
- Y 8. Does your research product contain any quotes from the Senior Fellows and/or Guest
N Speakers that you have heard while a student at JFSC, unless you have obtained their prior approval.
