

From: [REDACTED]
To: FN-OMB-IntellectualProperty; info@copyrightalliance.org
Subject: Copyrighting
Date: Tuesday, March 23, 2010 1:31:51 PM

The Copyright Alliance has informed me of this welcome invitation from the Obama Administration to share my thoughts on my rights as a creator.

My journey as a creator began a little over a year ago when, due to the failing economy, I was laid off from my job. I had always wanted to be a writer, but working long hours, as well as, being a single mom to a fiesty young man, I just never found the time to pursue my own creative endeavors. My "early retirement" gave me the opportunity to do just that. I self-published my first novel and found moderate success. I quickly completed another two novels and started another two.

I still have not been able to find a "real" job, but have found happiness doing something that most only dream about.

Someone stealing my words would equate to stealing another person's car. It is my way of getting where I need to go.

Thank you for taking the time to hear my thoughts.

Jennifer McClory
Bentonville, AR
Author

Hotmail is redefining busy with tools for the New Busy. Get more from your inbox. Sign up now.