It is the sense of the Congress that, in order to protect against the diversion of defense funding to domestic discretionary accounts, so-called "budget firewalls" between defense and domestic discretionary spending should be established for each of fiscal years 1996, 1997, and 1998.

Section 204. Readiness Certification.

Of the total amount of funds appropriated or otherwise made available for the Department of Defense for fiscal year 1996, the amount obligated for national missile defense programs may not exceed the amount made available for national missile defense programs for fiscal year 1995 until the Secretary of Defense certifies to the Congress that the armed forces are properly sized, equipped, housed, and structured and are ready to carry out the assigned missions as required by the national military strategy.

After debate,
