On motion of Mr. EMERSON, by unanimous consent, the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure was discharged from further consideration of the following concurrent resolution (H. Con. Res. 39):

Whereas catastrophic natural disasters are occurring with greater frequency, a trend that is likely to continue for several decades according to prominent scientists;

Whereas the Federal Government has responded to disasters by appropriating relief funds, which provide only short-term assistance to victims but long-term burdens to tax-payers; and

Whereas the increasing reliance on Federal disaster relief has overshadowed the need to perform more comprehensive disaster planning and rely on private insurance for protection against disaster risks: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring), That it is the sense of the Congress that—

(1) persons who live in areas at high risk to natural disasters should assume more responsibility for their actions by insuring against such risks in order to minimize the rising cost of Federal disaster relief;

(2) sensible, cost-effective disaster mitigation programs should be encouraged and enhanced at the State and local level;

(3) insurers should create a privately funded pooling mechanism for the spreading of disaster risk in order to encourage the continued availability and affordability of private insurance in all parts of the Nation; and

(4) a fundamental overhaul of Federal disaster policies should be undertaken to reduce costs to tax-payers and encourage more effective partnerships between the private sector and government at all levels in anticipation of future catastrophes.
